TREATY WITH SINN FEIN IS GIVEN TO PARLIAMENT.

Lord Carson, Capt. Craig Bitterly Attack Government and Warn of Ulster's Wrath.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Dec. 14.—In a scene which is likely to prove a landmark in English history the Irish treaty was presented in the Imperial Parliament for ratification, while the Dail Eireann in Dublin indulged in heated debate, turning on Eamonn de Valera's charge that the Irish plenipotentiaries exceeded their powers in signing the pact without further reference to Dublin.

Either the Commons nor the Sinn Fein, however, has yet come to grips on the actual decision respecting ratification, which is purposed until tomorrow.

Feature of the debates in Parliament here was a bitter attack on the government by Lord Carson in the House of Lords, and Captain Craig, Irish Unionist, in the House of Commons.

CARSON IS FIERY.

Lord Carson showed not the slightest diminution in his old-time denunciation of any accommodation with Nationalist Ireland. Turning to the government he declared: "Because you have broken faith against the Ulster loyalists, I have decided to oppose the ratification of the treaty by every constitutional means in my power. You have signed it. You have made my position impossible. I have warned you that the Sinn Fein delegates were going to do. Why has the Sinn Fein been given an army if not to invade Ulster? Was it to invade England, America or the Channel Islands?"

"FRIENDLY OBSEQUIES."

Captain Craig described the debate as "the friendly obsequies of the misguided Unionist party and funeral orations to close up defeat and the disaster suffered in Ireland." He declared there had never been a greater outrage attempted on constitutional liberty than now being managed by the coalition government.

The government's stage management had been perfect, he continued, but they would not dare put the country what it thought of the so-called settlement terms if they were accepted by the government with a revolver presented at their heads and because the Sinn Fein with its army had beaten them. It was said that the reason the government was unable to suppress crime in Ireland was because they had neither the money nor the men. That was an awful admission to make, he said.

From beginning to end there was nothing in the agreement except that "England, beaten to her knees by the guns of assassins, said she was willing to scuttle Ireland."

The tone of his speech was one of unrelenting hostility to a settlement.

PREMIER'S DEFENSE.

Premier Lloyd George's speech in the Commons was less of an oratorical display in defense of the treaty than a careful exposition of the agreement and its implications, with a view to putting the House in possession of the complete mind of the government.

He forestalled attacks by the argument that the treaty had received unstinted praise from the King and the British dominions, and could not be regarded as inimical to the country's interests.

Ulster's official reply has been delayed until tomorrow, but it is known it rejects the invitation to enter the Irish free state.

OATH WORTHLESS.

Capt. Craig described the oath in the treaty as "not worth the paper it is written on."

It was, he said, a most senseless conglomeration of words and nothing more, under certain circumstances, than the legislation of treason.

He predicted Ireland would in a few years declare herself a republic, and he believed that England would not send a single pinnace with a revolver presented

DE VALERA SEEMS BEATEN.

Historic Session of Peasant Legislators Forming Dail Eireann Proves Lively; Split Seen.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 14.—The historic meeting of Dail Eireann, which, in ratifying or rejecting the peace treaty, will decide the fate of Ireland for generations to come, began today in the lecture room of the National University. The preliminary sparring which occurred at the opening session indicated that the general sentiment of Dail Eireann was against Eamonn de Valera and the extremists.

The President of the Irish republic was aware of this, and he fought like a man who knew that his cause is lost. Instead of fighting for essentials he used the time on technicalities in connection with the meaning of words and lost the preliminary battle for secrecy.

DEBATE TO BE PUBLIC.

Although the Dail sitting this morning was secret when it received the reports of the military and financial situation and of the manner by which the agreement was reached, it was decided by an overwhelming majority that the debate on the ratification of the treaty should be public.

Despite suspicions this meeting of the assembly to decide the fate of a nation excited little pity. It was hopelessly unable to conduct the legislative business in a businesslike manner. The president, John MacNeill, an ideal old-time college professor, lost control over the Assembly. He failed to play the chairman on two occasions when he should have put down and quashed disorder. His attitude was disappointing.

Order was made either by the leaders or the subject before the house and in the motion for adjournment. Members wandered in and out at the doors on which sentries with revolvers were posted.

SPLIT OFF SPLIT.

It was remarkable that for the first time there were visible signs of a split in Sinn Fein. Arthur Griffith and Robert Barton sat together on the speaker's right. On the left were De Valera, Cathal Brugha and Austin Stack, while W. Cosgrove, who is understood to be supporting Mr. Griffith, sat among the body of delegates.

The session was over a half-hour late in starting. All the leaders were cheered by the small crowd which had gathered outside the university, the heartiest cheer being for Mr. Collins. The proceedings were opened by a roll call in Irish and then there was a prayer.

Mr. De Valera then began to speak in Irish, but there was evidence of dissatisfaction. He then declared that as some of the members did not know Irish, the proceedings would be in English. He made a statement which left him a way out in case of defeat, and gave color to a rumor that eventually ratification might be unanimous.

He declared that the question of the treaty must be considered on

THREE COUNTIES HUNTING VENTURA SCHOOL IN MATES

Seven girls, ranging in age from 15 to 20 years, who escaped from the Ventura School for Girls, are being sought today by the authorities of three counties. The girls, all of whom had been committed to the home on various charges of delinquency, include several who are looked upon as incorrigibles. Five got away by climbing through windows at night time and two walked out during recreation hours, it is stated.

The authorities at the home, while admitting that the girls had broken out, refused to give their names. From other sources it was learned that the two who disappeared during playtime are Irene Briggs and Josephine Cole, while three of those who slipped out of windows are Evelyn Whipple, Marjorie Lee and Irene Streeter. This trio escaped Monday night while the other two named got away last Saturday. The unnamed pair ran away a week ago Monday.

The authorities at the home have been secretive on the subject but the help of the Sheriffs of Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties has been obtained and deputies were instructed to keep a lookout for the seven.

CLOUDS IN FAR EAST.

Chinese Present New Request.

Want Abrogation of Famous "Twenty-one Demands" Treaty With Japan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Arms conference delegates have reached an agreement on all major issues of the naval ratio but are encountering new difficulties in Far East discussions.

The American 5-5-3 ratio forms the basis of the naval settlement, but there are to be readjustments in the original American plan to permit Japan to retain her new battleship Mutsu. The United States and Great Britain will be given a compensative quota of additional ships not determined in detail.

In the Far Eastern negotiations the latest element of controversy is a request by China for abrogation of the treaties resulting from Japan's famous "twenty-one demands." When the request was mittee of the whole today, the Japmittee of the Whole today, the Japanese objected and the committee adjourned.

BECLOUDED PROSPECTS.

Coming when the Shantung negotiations are at a critical stage, the Chinese abrogation proposal has somewhat beclouded prospects of a Far Eastern agreement, but most delegates remain confident of an ultimate solution.

Another meeting of the "big three" late today advanced the naval question nearer to a final and detailed settlement but left some minor points still undetermined. In all quarters announce-

TROOPS OUT IN KANSAS.

Soldiers Ordered to Pittsburg Following Appeals for Protection.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURG (Kan.) Dec. 14.—National Guard troops have been ordered into the coal fields of Kansas as a result of demonstrations conducted by women strike sympathizers.

State officials took this action today when authorities of this county reported they were unable to cope with the situation. The women for three days have been storming mines and mistreating nonstriking miners.

The situation in the mining camps was reported quiet tonight after a day of hub-bub, created by the women, who paraded from mine to mine threatening workers and carrying on demonstrations designed to prevent the men from entering the shafts.

DRAMATIC APPEALS.

The request for troops followed dramatic appeals to Sheriff Milt Gould of Crawford county, and Judge J. H. Crawford of the Industrial Court by delegations of nonstriking miners, that they be given protection, and be permitted to work.

The nonstriking miners, several thousand in number, originally went out on the volunteer strike called in the Kansas district, when Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, former president and vice-president of the Kansas district, were sent to jail for violating the State Industrial Court law.

Later the Howat administration was deposed by the International union officials, who ordered the AGREE ON NAVAL RATIOS.

Working Out of Few Minor Details All That Postpones Official Announcement.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Great Britain, the United States and Japan were in full accord as to principles tonight on a plan of naval limitation. All major questions have been whipped into shape. Technical details as to one phase held back an official announcement.

The plan worked out by Secretary Hughes, A. J. Balfour and Admiral Baron Kato in joint conference, follows the original American proposal except in one respect. That difference is the agreement that Japan may retain the battleship Mutsu instead of the Settsu; that the United States retain the Colorado and Washington in place of the Delaware and North Dakota and that Great Britain build the approximate equivalent in capital ships.

ARRANGING DETAILS.

Promulgation of the agreement has been delayed by arranging details as to the British equivalent for the Mutsu. The "big three" are in agreement as to policy.

It appears that the British angle might be settled by providing that she retain two super-Hoods and scrap three or more old ships in their places. That element of the plan was still to be finally decided, however, when the "big three" meeting today adjourned. Further meetings are expected.

It is emphasized the three conferees are eager to reach full accord and that no minor technical objection would be allowed to stand in the way. In view of this

"MERRY WIDOW" IN HARD LINES.

Lina Abarbanell.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To satisfy a judgment of $4000 the furnishings of the home of Lina Abarbanell, the original "Merry Widow," will be sold at public auction December 23. The light-opera star and her husband, Edward Goldbeck, live in Evanston. The furnishings include rare Persian rugs, an original Rembrandt, copper and silver plate and much rare furniture gathered during the times of affluence when Miss Abarbanell was able to demand a large weekly salary. According to Richard T. Davis, a real estate dealer, who made the loan on a chattel mortgage, no payment on it has been made for one year.

Young Burglar Confesses to Several Jobs.

A 17-year-old youth confessed early this morning to a series of burglaries, according to the police, after Detectives Davis and Gruey answered a call from the residence of I. Schneider, 301 North Beaudry avenue, where they placed the boy under arrest.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Schneider was awakened by the noise of a prowler and, upon investigating, caught the boy, Lee Kusick, whom he held until the police arrived. After being taken into the station young Kusick broke down and confessed to Davis and Gruey that he was responsible for, four burglaries this month. A search of the boy's room at 709 East Kensington Road revealed a notebook in which he had kept a record of his crimes.

According to his memorandum he had on December 9 robbed the residence of T. P. Carrow, 1001 Sunset Boulevard, of a ladies' wrist watch and a purse containing $14. On the next night he entered the apartment of Miss A. M. Williams at 155 South Beaudry avenue and made away with a purse containing $10, a flashlight and a kodak. On December 12 he burglarized the apartment of Miss Derwicks, 1258 Bellevue avenue, escaping with a diamond ring, cameo ring and a Swiss watch. His next burglary was committed on the 14th inst. in the apartments of Clyde Jones and Ray Murrel at 130 South Flower street, where his loot consisted of a gold topaz stickpin, several valuable old coins and 30 cents in cash.

Kusick, who was booked for burglary, had on his person when arrested three watches, a box of incense, folding purse, two rings and a stickpin.

Truckload of Home-Brewed Brings Arrests

After Lieut. Graham and Officer Trainer of the Boyle Heights Police Station had discovered a truck with two barrels of home-brew wine aboard cruising about the shadowed streets of Boyle Heights late last night, two men, G. Fourie, driver of the truck, and J. P. Domcq of 130 South Savannah street, were arrested and placed in the Boyle Heights jail on suspicion of violating the Volstead Act.

SELF-ASSERTED SLAYER HERE LOST SPOUSE IN SOUTHERN AX DEATH

Mrs. Esther Albano, held in the County Jail on a charge of murdering F. G. Leone here, was the wife of one of the victims of the ax murders that stirred New Orleans two years ago, according to a dispatch this morning from that Louisiana city. This intelligence further complicated the outbreak here of what appeared at first to be an Italian blackmail plot, but in the light of developments takes on more the complexion of a bitter vendetta.

Mrs. Albano on the 5th inst. fired eleven shots into the body of M. G. Leone, also known as Frank Mumphrey, according to the charges. The shooting occurred at the home here of Angelo Albano, Mrs. Albano's husband. She told the police her husband had disappeared on October 28 and that on the day of the shooting Leone had come to her home, demanded her money and jewelry on threat of slaying her "as he had killed her husband." She says she shot in self-defense. Leone was armed but had not fired. Leone and Albano had been business partners, but latterly had had no business relations.

The dispatch from New Orleans said that on Oct. 27, 1919, Mrs. Albano's then husband, Michael Pepitone, was murdered as he slept by the side of his wife. Angelo Albano and Leone had been arrested in New Orleans in 1916, the record showed. Mrs. Pepitone married Albano a few months age and they came here.

A few days after the killing of Leone here the police in response to an anonymous tip from an Italian went to the Albano home in East Thirty-sixth street and sought the body of Albano in the yard. They found a subcellar boarded over with a dummy floor and a pile of lime. Albano is still missing. His property is said to be valued at $25,000.

Arrest of Lawyer on Extortion Charge Reveals Alienation of Affections Suit.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Through the arrest tonight of John C. Oldmixon, a lawyer, on a charge of extortion, it became known that Mrs. Amy Crocker Gouraud, formerly Princess Missinoff, was defendant in a $100,000 alienation suit brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Schill, wife of Bruno Schill, former purchasing agent for the Esthonian republic.

Mrs. Gouraud is the daughter of the late Edwin Bryant Crocker, California millionaire, and has been four times married. She inherited a fortune and is prominent socially.

Oldmixon, who is Mrs. Gouraud's attorney, was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Schill. He was released on $2000 bail for arraignment tomorrow.

In an affidavit Mrs. Schill declared her husband became Mrs. Gouraud's secretary and later her masseur, that he accompanied her to Europe and returned with her. Schill then disappeared, both sides alleging that he is a fugitive from justice. So far as known, no charge is pending against him.

Mrs. Schill told the police that she went to Oldmixon's office, accompanied by a private detective in the lawyer's employ, who induced her to do so on pretext that it concerned her missing husband. In her affidavit she alleges that the lawyer told her if her alienation suit were not withdrawn charges of blackmail would be brought against her. Under this threat, the affidavit stated, she signed an affidavit discontinuing the suit against Mrs. Gouraud.

HECTIC CAREER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Aimee Crocker-Ashe-Gillig-Gouraud-Miskinoff, or Mrs. Amy Gouraud, as she preferred to be called in newspapers where her name has appeared in bizarre connections for many years, began her matrimonial ventures in San Francisco after her mother had brought her home to California from a school in Vienna.

Two rivals, Porter Ashe and Harry Gillig, between whom she could not choose, played cards for her, it is said, at her suggestion, and four aces married her to Ashe. A divorce was issued a year later and she married Gillig., With Gladys Ashe, a daughter of the first marriage she later left on the most extensive of her world travelings. Gillig obtained a divorce a few years after the marriage.

COPIED EXOTIC IDEAS.

Throughout the South Seas and the Orient, Mrs. Gillig carried her ideas, the execution of which many times caused her to don native attire and invent dances which later she brought back to the United States after trying them out in Europe.

In Europe, some years later, she and her daughter met two notable brothers, Jackson and Powers Gouraud. Jackson was a song writer who sang his way into the graces and affection of the wandering couple. She married him. The brother eloped with Gladys. Thereafter Mrs. Gouraud entertained in Europe on the grand style, utilizing French courts and German castles for backgrounds. When Jackson Gouraud died, his widow, it was said, induced Powers Gouraud to divorce Gladys, who wished to marry a stage manager, Lewis Hopper, and the two women returned to England and later to the United States.

In June, 1914, London was surprised when the formal announcement was made of the marriage of Mrs. Gouraud to Alexandre Miskinoff, known as a prince, who had accompanied her on much of her later world journeyings.

WAS ATTACKED BY NEGRO, SAYS WOMAN

Mrs. Balindi Myers of 1407 East Ninth street, found yesterday afternoon by her young son lying in a pool of blood with her skull shattered by a hammer, gained consciousness for a short period early this morning at the Receiving Hospital. She told her husband, who was at her bedside, that a negro had assaulted her and that she had lost consciousness fighting off his attack. Mrs. Myers soon lapsed into unconsciousness and, according to Receiving Hospital attaches, is not expected to live.

SENATE TO GET PACTS

Administration Confident.

Secretary Hughes Expects to Have Third Treaty Ending China Tangle.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The four-power treaty and the agreement on the reduction and limitation of navies will be submitted to the Senate by President Harding as the embodiment of a far-reaching design to avert war in the Pacific and protect American interests in that region while at the same time decreasing taxes by armament.

Secretary of State Hughes has hopes to be able to supplement the treaties with a third settling some of the principal questions pertaining to China and thereby minimizing the possibilities of conflict in the Asiatic mainland.

OPPOSITION GROPING.

The whole program, terminating the Anglo-Japanese alliance and guaranteeing the Philippines from attack, is so favorable to the United States that even factional opposition is groping for a practicable point of assault.

Woodrow Wilson, it became known today, has communicated his views concerning the four-power Pacific pact to his old followers among Democratic Senators, urging them to desist from further action or discussion of the treaty until it can be considered in full relationship to other agreements expected to result from the Armament Conference.

In the main, Democratic Senators are respecting his suggestion. It is assumed that when the time is ripe, Wilson will issue a carefully prepared statement of his views, after which the Democratic opposition will either collapse or gain considerable vigor.

TO FIGHT UNDERWOOD.

Meantime, efforts are afoot among the Democrats to organize a revolt against Senator Underwood's leadership. If a concerted Democratic fight is to be made against the treaty, it is pointed out

MORE TOWNS ARE FLOODED

Belated Overflow Waters Sweep Villages and Cover Thousands of Acres in Washington.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Dec. 14.—Belated overflow waters from mountain streams, which swept down into the Skagit and Stilliguamish Rivers, tonight covered thousands of acres in Northwestern Washington and were reported to be materially increasing flood damage. South of Seattle the Duwamish River had risen and water was running through the streets of villages near Renton and Black River junction between Seattle and Tacoma. Fourteen are known to be dead as a result of the floods.

With these exceptions, marked improvement in conditions was noted in reports from flooded areas of Western Washington and that portion of Eastern Washington affected by streams from the Cascades. Transcontinental traffic was resumed on the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads, and Great Northern officials announced service would be resumed Saturday.

Coastal rail traffic in the Puget Sound district north of Everett was completely halted and communication with Mt. Vernon, Stanwood, Bellingham and other towns was kept open by steamboats and launches. Hundreds of persons were marooned in railway stations and schools and the streets of Burlington, Laconner, Conway, Milltown, Edison and other towns were under water. Several persons were missing but no loss of life was reported.

TWENTY-MILE FLOOD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) Dec. 14. Hundreds of persons on the lowlands of the Skagit River, most of whom had no sleep last night, gazed at daybreak this morning over an expanse of water which extended a distance of twenty miles from Laconner to Chuckanut Mountain. The Skagit River, which had risen to the highest point in recent years, broke through the dikes in many places, cutting off communication between the lower river towns except by boat, and filling the streets of Burlington, Laconner, Conway, Milltown and Edison.

BRITISH DETERMINED TO SCRAP SUBMARINES.

Question to Come Before Plenary Session; Small Chance Any Nation Will Agree.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The British delegation will ring up its demand for the complete abolition of the submarine in a plenary session of the conference. This was announced tonight by a high British authority, who made it clear at the same time, however, that British acceptance of the 5-5-3 ratio was not in any way contingent on the abolition of submarines. The only condition affecting British acceptance of this ratio, it was said, is the establishment of a generally satisfactory proportionate limitation of the smaller navies—that is, the French and Italian.

The submarine question, it had been supposed, might be one of the details covered by the discussions of the new committee of fifteen on naval questions which it is understood will deal with the matters of light cruisers, aircraft carriers, details of replacement and similar naval topics to be settled after the general acceptance of the agreed naval ratio. In the opinion of the British, however, the submarine question is a matter of principle and hence should be settled by the full conference.

OTHERS WON'T AGREE.

What is back of this apparently is the prospect that nobody else will agree with the British argument about submarines. When a British spokesman said that this issue would have to be "debated" in the full conference it is not to be supposed that he looked forward to an actual fight on the issue, but rather to an opportunity for the British to present their point of view to world opinion.

"I am optimistic enough to hope that we shall not have to defer the final settlement of this question to a future conference," he said, "but that we shall get action now."

There seems, however, little outside support for the opinion that the British will succeed in having submarines abolished and naturally, if Britain is the only power in favor of this proposal. Britain will hardly do away with her own submarines if nobody else does so.

Failing of success in their contention, the British will be glad of any limitation that may be placed either on total submarine tonnage of the various powers or on the size of individual submarines. A heavy submarine suitable for overseas cruising still seems more dangerous to the British than a small vessel useful only for coast work.

In the discussion of the larger types of submarines, questions were asked about the British M class, each of which mounted a 12-inch gun. But it was remarked by the British authority that these vessels, of which three had been built, were designed only for a limited and special purpose—the bombardment of certain positions on the Belgian coast occupied by the Germans. In effect, it was said, they were submersible monitors, a type of "freak ships," and no more of them had been constructed after the immediate conditions which called them forth had passed.

CITE GERMAN U-BOATS.

The argument that the submarine is the defense of the weaker naval powers against the stronger does not appeal very much to the British delegates. They cite against that contention the record of German submarines in the late war.

"They never had much success against our warships," said the British spokesman. "The sinking of capital ships by submarines in the Dardanelles was a special case, as the battleships were in virtually closed waters and almost at anchor. In the major naval operations of the war the fact remains that submarines were unable to prevent our fleet from maneuvering in the North Sea and driving the German fleet to shelter. This would indicate that submarines are not of such very great value as a defense of the coast line against a more powerful hostile fleet.

"The one great success of the submarine was against merchant shipping. And in that connection it should be observed that the use to which a submarine may be put does not depend on the size or construction of the vessel, but on the heart of the man in it. He may attack a battleship or he may sink a Lusitania. That is why we think the only solution of the submarine is complete abolition."

Chicago Cops, Refuse to be Made Fun of.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—With crime rampant in Chicago, William Prager found today that these were perilous times for practical jokes with the officers of the law as the victims. It was with a merry tone that Prager, calling "Police 1313" was connected with the Hudson-avenue station.

"Twelve have just been killed with a rifle," was the message Prager gave the police.

But it was not until the breathless posse reached Prager's house that they realized that they were being joshed. Prager stood on his back porch, with a rifle, surrounded by twelve dead rats.

Prager was arrested. "You will be given a chance to see if you can make the judge laugh," said Sergt. John Klaske as he bundled Prager into the patrol wagon.

STATE SEEKING OIL ROYALTIES.

Legal Adviser Works to Get Share From Treasury.

Several Thousand Dollars Due Under Leasing Law.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—George B. Bush, legislative adviser of the State of California, is here to assist California in securing from the treasury its share of the money due under the oil leasing law. Under the law 10 per cent of the sum derived from leases goes to the State in which the leases are located, 50 per cent goes to the treasury and 40 per cent into the reclamation fund.

At this time the royalties from leases run up into the millions. Part of the sum due to California is from funds or oil which was impounded by the courts until the status of the oil lands in the naval reserves was fully determined.

The Navy Department now takes a position on this impounded money which may deprive the State of $600,000 to $700,000. Whether the Federal government will persist in this attitude is unknown. The Navy Department has made a strong defense of its position and the whole controversy has been referred to Auditor-General McCarl. He in turn has asked the Attorney-General for an opinion as to the contention of the Navy and in the meantime the California delegation in Congress is attempting to assist in getting the funds for the State along the lines presented by Mr. Bush.

Representatives of John D. Spreckels are also engaged in a long-delayed effort to secure a settlement on the North Island purchase. This property was taken over by the government during the war for aviation purposes. The property was divided in use between the Army and the Navy. A disagreement arose as to the proper valuation and the matter was taken to the courts. The matter has been referred back to the executive branch of the government, but months have passed and still there is no settlement in sight.

ARE READY TO HELP GERMANY.

French Willing to Temporarily Forego Cash Reparations Payments.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Dec. 14.—France is willing temporarily to forego cash reparations payments from Germany, a high official in the French Foreign Office told the Associated Press today.

There is general agreement in some quarters that some radical revision of the reparations plan is necessary, with the possibility of a loan to furnish a limited amount of cash.

The French government's position, as explained by a Foreign Office official, is that whatever relief Germany needs to stabilize her exchange should be sought in internal financial reforms through payments in kind, as provided for in the Loucheur-Rathenau agreement; that the schedule of payments as fixed by the reparations commission should stand, and also that no reductions in the total reparations due would be agreed to by France.

He said France would have no objection if Great Britain saw fit to reduce her share of what was due from Germany, but French public opinion would not admit any reduction in the amounts allotted France by the Spa agreement.

CLOUDS APPEAR IN FAR EAST.

ment of a complete accord was regarded as only a question of hours.

As an offset to Japanese retention of the Mutsu, the United States is to retain the superdreadnaughts Washington and Colorado and an equivalent increase in British capital ship tonnage is to be provided. Details of this British increase constitute the only point to be decided.

STATUS QUO AGREEMENT.

Coupled with the naval agreement in the proposed treaty will be a "status quo" understanding on Pacific fortifications and naval bases, exclusive of Hawaii and the islands off Japanese, Australian and New Zealand coasts. The plans abandon the American island of Guam as a potential naval base.

Temporarily, the naval question is receiving major attention from the delegates, but there were indications today that the increasing seriousness of the Far Eastern differences might soon require the principal figures of the conference to turn their efforts to that direction.

China's request for abrogation of the "twenty-one demands" treaties was coupled with a suggestion that the powers also take some definite step toward abolition of existing "spheres of influence" in the Far East. There was no discussion in the committee, but it was evident tonight that the Japanese would not stand alone in opposition to the abrogation proposal.

SHANTUNG ROAD.

In the Shantung conversations, the point of controversy is the compensation that China is to give for Japanese improvements on the Kiao Chow Railroad. The Japanese have asked for instruction from Tokio, but subject to a favorable response, offered today to withdraw from the railroad in the event of a satisfactory compensation arrangement.

AGREEMENT ON NAVAL RATIOS.

spirit an announcement of success was viewed as to be expected at any moment.

EVIDENCE OF FRIENDSHP.

Should a proposal that Great Britain retain two super-Hoods of the four she should order be advanced and found acceptable, it would be taken in naval circles as evidence of the good relationships established during the conference. The plan is open, it is said, to technical objections since the ships would be of a type not included in the Japanese or American navies. They would combine batteries of battleships with the speed of batle cruisers, but sacrifice something in armor as compared to battleships.

The super-Hoods also would be beyond the replacement limit of 35,000 tons displacement proposed in the American plan. That figure dealt with replacement building, however, and not with ships under construction, each of the three powers having a number of 40,000-tonners in prospect.

Since Great Britain has already spent money on the plans and specifications of the ships, it seemed improbable that a proposal for their retention would meet objections in American circles, at least. The attitude of Japanese delegates was not known.

AGREE ON FORTIFICATIONS.

Included in the treaty into which the naval limitation agreement is to be worked will be the establishment of a status quo, understanding as to naval bases and fortifications on the Pacific. This feature already has been approved by the "big three."

It means the United States abandons any thought of creating a naval base at Guam, but excludes from the restrictions to be imposed by treaty, Hawaii, islands off the coast of Japan or those in waters immediately adjacent to Australia or New Zealand.

In effect, the naval trio are in agreement that none but purely defensive outposts shall hereafter be erected in the Pacific.

AMERICA CLEARS WAY.

It was this understanding and the willingness of the United States to bind itself not to add to present fortifications or base facilities at Gaum, which is believed to have cleared the way, to a large extent, for Japanese acceptance of the 5-5-3 ratio.

Retention by Japan of the Mutsu, it is said, will add about 14,000 tons to the fleet of capital ships she will retain. Substitution of the Colorado and Washington for the North Dakota and Delaware would mean a net gain of 25,200 tons for the American fleet. In addition of two super-Hoods for the British would mean more than 80,000 tons in new ships.

ARMS PARLEY IN NUTSHELL.

"Times" is Issuing Special Edition Weekly on Historical Conference.

Every Friday during the Disarmament Conference now in progress in Washington The Times will reprint from its daily issues a special illustrated four-page edition giving all the important developments of the history-making parley of nations for the week preceding. The first was issued Friday, November 18.

The Times has arranged for exhaustive reports on the proceedings of the conference to be written by experts of international reputation. These reports, which are those appearing daily in The Times, will be conveniently arranged and edited and will all appear in this weekly summary of the conference without the interpolation of other extraneous news matter. For the many persons who desire to preserve a complete record of the peace parley of the world powers, incomparably the most important one in history, these special editions will be of immense value.

The four-page sheets will not be included in the regular editions of The Times, but are on sale at the Los Angeles main and branch offices of The Times at the nominal price of 5 cents, or will be mailed to any address on receipt of that sum in stamps. They will be furnished free to any schoolteacher on application.

Dry Officials Take Drinkers at Own Risk.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—Prohibition enforcement officials who base arrests on the mere drinking of liquor which has been illegally sold or transported lay themselves open to civil prosecution for such arrests, Robert H. McCormack, Assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of prohibition prosecutions in California, today notified Federal officials here and in Los Angeles.

"The Volstead prohibition act does not contemplate the arrest of anyone for the mere drinking of liquor," McCormack said. "Furthermore, persons found drinking liquor in public places may refuse to answer any and all questions regarding the origin of the liquor. No officer can compel such persons to incriminate themselves.

"The arrest of such persons is strictly contrary to law."

PASS DEFICIENCY BILL.

Senate Adopts Measure and Sends It to President; Jobless Relief Elimination Brings Charges.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Adoption by the Senate late today of the conference report on the first deficiency bill sent the measure to the President, the House having adopted the report earlier in the day.

Senate amendments providing $1,000,000 for additional hospital facilities for war veterans afflicted with tuberculosis and nervous disorders, and $1,500,000 for replacing portions of the Washington-Alaska military cable, were eliminated from the measure by conferees.

GOVERNMENT STUPID.

Elimination by the conferees of an appropriation of $100,000 fund for the relief of unemployment brought a charge by Senator France that the "stupidity of our government policy" was aggravating rather than relieving the employment situation.

Senator Dial took issue with Senator France as to the duties of the government to find jobs for workers, saying that "what is the matter with the country now is that most people are living beyond their means."

Senator Ashurst described Senator Dial's speeches "reactionary and standpat to the last degree." He criticised the failure to appropriate for the relief of unemployment and attacked the action by which money was refused for the building of a soldier hospital in Arizona, while funds were allowed for the establishment of a government exhibit at an international exposition at Rio de Janeiro.

APPROVE AMENDMENT.

The House agreed to a Senate amendment appropriating $800,000 for the payment of indemnities for tubercular cattle slaughtered by direction of the Federal government.

The House cut from $250,000 to $175,000 the Senate provision for transcontinental air mail service.

The bill, as agreed to by the conferees and House, carried approximately $103,000,000, of which $66,000,000 is for the Veterans' Bureau and $23,000,000 for the Treasury Department's refund of taxes illegally collected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FRANCE TO ASK NAVAL ADDITIONS.

Allotment of 315,000 Tons to be Requested by Conference Delegates.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—France will ask for an allotment of 315,000 tons of capital ships and a proportionate percentage in smaller classes when the question of the French and Italian navies is taken up, possibly tomorrow or Friday by the conference naval committee of fifteen. This was disclosed authoritatively tonight by a spokesman for the French delegation.

The French thesis takes the program adopted by the French Parliament in 1912 which had it been completed would have given a fleet of 450,000 tons. The war caused the program to be abandoned. Present requirements of France, it will be represented, are both in the remote Pacific, and continental, the defense in Europe covering two naval fronts, the Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

Communications with Algeria, it also is held by the French, would be of vital importance in war because of the necessity of transporting troops and supplies freely.

The French delegates have assumed, their spokesman said, that they will not encounter a spirit of dictation respecting what are considered to be European requirements in a conference called to deal with Pacific naval proportions.

There have been no preliminary studies by this conference, it was pointed out, of European problems discussions having been confined to the Far East.

Some suggestion has been made in French quarters that France's naval ratio was a subject for direct negotiation between France and Great Britain, and it is considered possible Premiers Briand and Lloyd George may discuss it at their meeting in London.

Senator Schanzer, in talking of Italy's naval needs to newspaper men, said the Italians will go into the committee with two principles.

CALL TROOPS IN MINE ROW.

striking miners back to work. The women demonstrators are wives and relatives of those miners, who so far, have refused to obey the international's edict, and who are supporting the Howat organization.

CONTENTION CHALLENGED.

Officials of the international union here have contended the activities of the women demonstrators were sponsored by members of the Howat administration. That contention, however, was challenged today in a statement reported to have been made by Howat deploring the demonstrations and asserting they should never have been permitted to begin.

Veteran labor leaders here tonight declared the field faced the most unique situation—the coming of National Guardsmen brought in at the instance of union men to protect them.

NO MARTIAL LAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOPEKA (Kan.) Dec. 14.—The Kansas National Guard was ordered into the Pittsburg coal field tonight. A machine gun company, four troops of cavalry, a sanitary detachment, a headquarters detachment, and a supply detachment are included.

Martial law will not be declared, officials said.

HOWAT DISPLEASED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (Kan.) Dec. 14.—Alexander Howat, deposed president of the Kansas Miners' Union, expressed disapproval of the operations of the marching women today, according to R. K. Crain, publisher of a labor paper.

"Howat said that men who want to work under the international and cannot be stopped by argument, should not be stopped by force," Crain said.

TREATIES WILL GO TO SENATE.

Senator Underwood, having already attached his signature to the document, will not be in a position to lead the opposition.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, took an hour off from his duties as a member of the American delegation and made a hurried survey of the situation in the Senate. He expressed complete confidence that the treaty would be ratified by a wide margin.

LODGE DELIGHTED.

He was delighted with the reception the country has accorded the pact and pointed out that newspapers of all shades of opinion, almost without exception, have indorsed the treaty. He told his colleagues that the treaty would be submitted to the Senate formally after the signing of the naval agreement.

It is the opinion of some Senators supporting the treaty that the President should lose no time in sending the treaty to the Senate. They believe that sentiment today strongly favors prompt ratification but that delay may enable the opposition to develop strength in unexpected quarters.

RAIL WORKERS CALL FOR STRIKE ORDERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Action of the Railroad Labor Board yesterday in setting up a schedule of ten hours a day at the regular hourly wage for common laborers in new rules replacing the national agreement made under government control, today brought to union officials appeals for strike orders from representatives of 30,000 workers in the New York district.

FARMERS' AID RECOMMENDED.

Congress Receives Report of Joint Commission.

Legalizing of Co-operative Marketing is Urged.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Recommendations for the legalizing of co-operative marketing, a modification of present rural credit facilities to meet the needs of the farmer, a better warehousing system, and an immediate reduction in freight rates on farm products are made in a report made to Congress today by a joint commission of agricultural inquiry.

PARTIAL RECOMMENDATION.

The report is part one of the final recommendations of the commission.

Thirteen specific recommendations are made as follows:

(1.) That the Federal government affirmatively legalize the co-operative combination of farmers for the purpose of marketing, grading, sorting, processing or distributing their products.

(2.) That the farmer's requirements for credit corresponding to the turnover and having maturity of from six months to three years be met by the present banking system of the country.

(3.) A warehousing system under uniform State and Federal laws regulating the liability of warehouse men and the services rendered by them.

(4.) Prompt reduction of freight rates on farm products.

(5.) Extension of the statistical divisions of the Department of Agriculture.

(6.) Agricultural attaches in the principal foreign countries producing and consuming agricultural products.

(7.) More accurate, uniform and practical grades of agricultural products and standards of containers.

REDUCED HAZARDS.

(9.) Scientific reduction of hazards of climate, plant and animal diseases and insect pests.

(10.) Adequate wholesale terminal facilities.

(12.) Improvement of community life.

(13.) The renewal of conditions of confidence and industrial as well as agricultural prosperity is dependent upon a readjustment of prices for commodities to the end that prices received for commodities will represent a fair division of the economic rewards of industry, risk, management and investment of capital.

The report declares that measured in terms of purchasing power the farmer's dollar in 1920 was worth 89 cents and that in May, 1921, it was worth 77 cents. During the past twelve months, it is stated, it has been more nearly worthless than in any preceding twelve months in thirty years.

FILIPINOS SEE OPPORTUNITY.

Think Removal of Japanese Bugaboo Should Result in Independence.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. Consummation of the four-power Pacific treaty will remove the "Japanese bugaboo as a factor against Philippine independence," said a statement issued today by the Philippine Press Bureau.

"Even the Forbes-Wood report took cognisance of this bugaboo," the statement added. "With a single stroke the administration has killed what up to this time has been a powerful factor, if not the most powerful factor in public opinion in the United States, against the independence of the islands."

VIVIANI AND FOCH SAIL FOR FRANCE

Noted Warrior and Statesman Say Farewells to American People.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Ferdinand Foch and Rene Viviani, warrior and statesman, sailed back to France today with America's cheers following the liner Paris down the harbor. There were cheers for the energetic little man in horizon blue, whose skill on the field of battle humbled the proud eagle of Germany, and cheers for the former Premier of France, who had played so conspicuous a role at the Washington conference for the limitation of armament. Tears sprung to the eyes of the grizzled veterans as Rodman Wanamaker, chairman of the Mayor's committee, enfolded him in a silken flag and said:

"We are sad that you are leaving us. We have no decoration that we can give you, but the Stars and Stripes."

From City Hall, the marshal motored to the dock and boarded the Paris at 11 o'clock, walking through a lane of soldiers of the Twenty-second Infantry from the pier to his flower-filled stateroom. There, surrounded by Gen. Pershing, Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, and other dignitaries, he issued his farewell message to America, in which he said he was leaving a bit of his heart as his Christmas present to the nation.

"It would be superfluous for me to comment further on my most enjoyable visit," he said. "In leaving, I want to emphasize one point—that although I return to France to spend Christmas with my own family, I am leaving much of my heart in the United States. There is nothing more that I can say, except that I shall never forget the receptions given me during the time I toured the United States as guest of the American Legion.

"I wish every American a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, and for each of them every divine blessing that can be bestowed."

He clasped his hands and exclaimed fervently in conclusion: "God bless the American people."

INDEPENDENT STAGES IGNORED WARNINGS.

REFUSED TO QUIT OPERATION FROM HERE TO BAY CITY, IS TESTIMONY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—Independent automobile operators included in the Rent Car Drivers' Association, and the San Francisco and Los Angeles Rapid Transit Company, abandoned their efforts to heed the Railroad Commission's warning against operating without permits when they saw other independents ignore the commission's words entirely, according to testimony today before the commission.

C. Christie of Los Angeles, president of the two organizations, said trips between that city and San Francisco were stopped September 10 on receipt of a letter from the commission, stating that they were violating the law, and also prejudicing their application for permits.

"No one else paid any attention to this letter apparently," Christie testified. "So we went back into the game ourselves October 1, although our attorney advised us not to."

The regular stage lines, railroad companies and a steamship company are opposing the granting of the application.

DEMAND SHIP OWNERS NOT HIRE RADICALS.

SEAMAN'S UNION EXECUTIVE SAYS I.W.W. ARE CARRIED ON STEAMERS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—A demand that shipowners refuse to employ "radicals and agitators," is made by Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seaman's Union of America, in letters addressed to the Pacific American Shipowners' Association and to the Shipowners' Association of the Pacific Coast.

In his letter Furuseth reminds shipowners that some months ago they objected to members of the sailors' union on the grounds that many of the members were "radicals." Furuseth expresses surprise that after the union had expelled the so-called radicals and had so advised the shipowners, they, the shipowners, continue in their employ men who have been expelled from the sailors' union.

The charge is made by Furuseth that in the opinion of many union men, "the Wobblies are carried on vessels by the shipowners for their own purposes, that the shipowners protect the Wobblies not only on the vessels, but in the courts as well."

UNITED STATES NOT IN PLAN OF BRITISH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Although London dispatches tell of a favorable attitude toward an international financial conference, and some members of foreign arms delegations regard their information as indicating Premier Lloyd George was planning to take the first steps, spokesmen of the British delegation today disclaimed that Great Britain wished to arrange a conference in which the United States would participate.

One spokesman said the British delegates knew nothing of any such conference.

BLANTON SCORES GOMPERS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Congressman Blanton of Texas, in an address last night, charged that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, through legislative domination, is throttling the government. He cited the union labor leader's war record, which he asserted supported his charge, and referred particularly to President Gompers's activities in disputes involving the Big Four railway brotherhoods and the government.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION HEARS BOTH SIDES ON ORDERED RATE REDUCTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Request for a six months' suspension in the reductions ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission on grain, grain products and hay in the trans-Mississippi territory was made by the railroads and opposed by fifteen Western State railroad commissions, agricultural organizations and shippers in hearings today before the Federal Trade Commission.

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, in proposing the suspension, asked that the commission allow the carriers in the meantime to make effective a cut of 10 per cent in rates in all products of farm, range and orchard in all movements in the United States outside of New England.

Clifford Thorne, appearing for western agricultural associations, said that prices of all commodities except railroad transportation had dropped materially in the last year, while this had increased.

J. M. Benton, attorney for the State commissions, asserted that the commissions had found the grain reduction reasonable and that accordingly it would not be legal to maintain higher rates.

Railroad traffic officials declared they were ready to make the 10 per cent reduction effective the 31st inst.

The commission's orders, unless changed by the rehearing today, will require rates of bread grains and their products and hay to be reduced by 12, 17½ and 16 2-3 per cent of the charges in effect during government control, according to territory and require a 10 per cent lower rate to be fixed on corn and other coarse grains than is charged on wheat. Present charges in coarse grains equal wheat rates.

REDDING AT LAST SETTLES POWER ROW.

CITY RECEIVING SERVICE FROM OWN PLANT; COMPROMISE IS EFFECTD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

REDDING, Dec. 14. — The city of Redding, which yesterday was in the anomalous position of having its light and power dispensed by two concerns attempting to operate the same plant, tonight was receiving its light and power from the city government.

Under arrangements perfected today, according to City Manager Rolison, who returned from San Francisco, where he attended a Railroad Commission hearing relative to an adjustment of claims involving depreciation and appreciation in values on the plant purchased by the city from the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the city will continue to operate the plant and receive its revenues.

According to Rolison, there is no question concerning the legal authority of the city to proceed under its purchase contract to operate the plant, and at today's meeting in San Francisco, it was agreed that there would be no further opposition by company officials to the city's conducting the system.

An understanding was reached, however, that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company would surrender none of the points for which it contends there is need for legal adjudication. The chief point is that the city's purchase price of $62,708 voted for the plant in 1918, is $13,000 less than the present value of the plant, due to appreciation the company holds the property has experienced in the last two years.

UPHOLDS ANTI-ALIEN DAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Dec. 14.—Judge E. E. Cushman today handed down a decision upholding the State Anti-Alien land law for a second time and throwing out of Federal Court a suit of Frank Terrace of Seattle, to enjoin operation of the law. The hearing was held in Seattle yesterday.

Notice of appeal to the United States Supreme Court has been filed.

GUARD UNITS GROW RAPIDLY.

Brig-Gen. Carter, Chief of Bureau, Issues Report.

Expects 160,000 Men by End of Fiscal Year.

Sees Trouble Ahead Unless More Money Available.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Rapid progress in the rebuilding of the nation's second line of defense—the National Guard—was made during the last fiscal year, says the annual report today of the chief of the militia bureau, under signature of Brig.-Gen. Jesse McI. Carter, retired. On last June 30, the report says, the guard numbered 113,630 with 331 organizations allotted, but not yet organized.

MORE MONEY NEEDED.

On the basis of expansion during last year, Gen. Carter estimated that before the end of the current fiscal year the guard would number 160,000 men, or some 10,000 more than in the regular Army. Pointing out that available funds for this year provide for only 122,000 men, the report says that unless increased appropriations are allowed "there will be trouble ahead" for the militia bureau.

As existing law prescribes the pay of the guardsmen, Gen. Carter says, there appears to be no way to avoid creation of a deficiency except by refusing to recognize additional units duly organized under provisions of the law.

"Such action," he adds, "will surely cause bitter feelings and charges of bad faith; it will crush the present rising tide in the organization of our second line of defense."

PROGRESS IN ORGANIZING.

Appended to the report are statements from Army corps area officers as to progress in organizing guard units in the various corps.

Col. F. O. Johnson of the Eighth Corps headquarters at Fort Sam Houston reports favorable progress in guard development in Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

In the Ninth Corps Area Col. Robert S. Noble reports from the Presidio that it is "confidently expected that all units allotted by the militia bureau for fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, will be promptly organized." His report covered organization work in California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The four-power treaty and agreement on naval limitation will be submitted to the Senate by President Harding as the embodiment of a far-reaching design to avert war in the Pacific, protect American interests and reduce taxation.

The United States, Great Britain and Japan have agreed on the capital-ship ratio of 5-5-3 proposed by Secretary Hughes.

The Japanese delegates objected today to abrogating the treaties signed by China in 1915 and the Far Eastern committee adjourned without considering the matter further, pending completion of the naval ratio agreement and the conversations in regard to Shantung.

The general 10 per cent reduction on agricultural products proposed recently by the railroads will be made effective December 31.

The railroads' case before the Interstate Commerce Commission will be based on the theory that they have gone as far as they can in rate and adjustments without jeopardizing their ability to continue operation.

Manufacturers of woolen goods protested to the Senate Finance Committee today against duties in the Fordney tariff bill which they described as too low to protect the industry adequately.

Recommendations for the legalizing of co-operative marketing, a modification of present rural credit facilities, a better warehousing system and an immediate reduction in freight rates on farm products are contained in a report made to Congress today by the joint commission of agricultural inquiry.

Hearings on the court decree prohibiting the Big Five meat packers from engaging in unrelated lines of business probably will end tomorrow.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California absented himself from the Senate chamber all day.

The improvement, the committee was told, would facilitate the shipment from the surrounding territory of 30,000,000,000 feet of lumber and large deposits of coal.

HARDING TARIFF PLAN OPPOSED.

Giving Executive Authority Undesirable, Says Wood.

Would Keep Industries Upset He Tells Senators.

Smoot and Watson of Indiana Would Grant Leeway.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. — President Harding's proposal to Congress that he be given authority to adjust tariff rates as changing conditions might warrant, is "altogether impracticable and undesirable," J. P. Wood of Philadelphia, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, declared today before the Senate Finance Committee at hearings on the wool schedule in the tariff bill.

Such a plan, he said, would keep industries "in a state of unrest" and would result in constant pressure for changes being brought to bear on the President and on the tariff commission.

SENATORS FOR PLAN.

Senators Smoot of Utah and Watson of Indiana, Republican members of the committee, differed from Wood, arguing that the plan proposed would result in less uncertainty for business than would otherwise follow the liquidation in Europe and the changing values of currencies abroad.

Senator Smoot declared that under present conditions Congress would have to delegate authority as to tariff rates in some such manner as suggested by the President.

While agreeing that business here would have to suffer some measure of demoralization because of conditions overseas, Wood said he did not believe present conditions would last as long as some students thought. In a statement Wood suggested in effect that the entire wool schedule in the Fordney Bill be rewritten on the old grease basis instead of on the basis of the clean scoured content and that higher compensatory rates be granted on manufactures of wool. He did not suggest any specific basis rate on raw wool. He approved of the American valuation plan as "the only reasible method suggested to offset the depreciating foreign currency."

PROTESTS WOOL RATE.

Protesting against the basic rate of 25 cents a pound on clear raw wool, proposed by the Fordney bill, William Goldman, a clothing manufacturer of New York, said it would mean a tax of $25,000,000 on the annual clothing bill of the people to protect the wool growing industry with an annual output valued at $65,000,000.

Senator Smoot took exception to Goldman's figures and asserted that whatever profiteering was done was not done by the growers. He thought retailers were responsible for much of it, but Goldman denied that they were profiteering.

DONNER PARTY SURVIVOR DIES.

Leader's Daughter Made Tragic Trip as Child.

Forty-two Perish Out of Total of 88.

Bodies of Those Starved Consumed as Food.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—The recent death at Byron of Mrs. Frances E. Wilder, a daughter of Capt. George Donner, has recalled the tragic story of the Donner party, forty-two or whom perished in deserts and mountains in the winter of 1846-47, while en route to California. Only a half-dozen survivors remain today to tell the tale of that most disastrous of all migrations of the Argonauts, in which they participated as children.

Among these half-dozen are three sisers of Mrs. Wilder, children of the captain from whom the party took its name. They are Mrs. Eliza P. Houghton of Los Angeles, 78; Mrs. Leana App of Jamestown, 86; and Mrs. Elitha C. Wilder of Bruceville, 89.

A daughter of James Reed, a member of the party, who forced his way over the snow-capped Sierra mountains and then returned with relief for his dying companions is living at Capitola, Cal. Her name is Mrs. Mattie Lewis and she is a bright-eyed lady, 77 years younz.

BECAME CANNIBALS.

Of all the companies that made their way by ox-wagons on the overland trail, across desert and mountain to California before the railroad linked the East with West, the experiences of the Donner party were the worst. Theirs was the greatest loss of life, and it was attended by a slow starvation during the six months they were held in the high Sierras that finally drove the stronger members of the party to that last expedient om man—feeding upon his own kind.

Of the eighty-eight men, women and children that started with or joined the Donner party, forty-two perished. Six died in the deserts of Utah and Nevada, and thirty-six succumbed to the horrors of the mountain camps.

PRIMARY MISTAKE.

All the suffering and loss of life may be ascribed to the primary mistake in taking a southerly course around the Great Salt Lake from Fort Bridger, Wyo., instead of the usual course around the northern end. The rocky passes in the Wasatch mountains of Utah delayed them one month; the sands of the Great American desert and the Humboldt Sink stalled their wagons and starved their cattle

The party was in starving condition when it reached Truckee Meadows, site of the present city of Reno, Nev., Oct. 19, 1846. The emigrants were met there by Charles T. Stanton, who had preceded them to California, and returned with two Indians, Luis and Salvador, bringing five mule loads of provisions. After some delay the party pushed on, but October 23 found themselves stalled in snow at the foot of precipices at an elevation of 6000 feet from which the trail rose in one mile and a half 1200 feet to the summit, where two to five feet of snow lay. They were in a pocket of the mountains. A snowfall began that in a week placed ten feet of snow about them.

WOMEN SHOW PLUCK.

Some were at Prosser Creek, some at Alder Creek and some at Donner Lake. They erected tents and brushwood huts, about which they wrapped rubber coats and quilts. There were at this time eighty-one persons in the camps, twenty-four men, fifteen women and forty-three children. In the subsequent happenings the women showed the greater courage and endurance. Of the fifteen only five died, and four of these gave their lives to aid or comfort their children or companions.

On December 16 the "forlorn hope" started over the snow on foot. It consisted of nine men, five women and a boy. Six days later Stanton, the rescuer, gave out and was abandoned. A storm that began Christmas Day halted them a week. Three men died and were eaten. January 4 another man succumbed and was eaten. William Foster pursued and shot the Indians, Luis and Salvador, who were eaten. The party came out of the snow January 11, were aided by Indians who gave them acorn bread and helped them to Johnson's rancho. They had been thirty-two days coming from Donner's Lake, and eight had died. Two men survived and all the five women.

STRUGGLES WITH DEATH.

The experiences of the four relief parties, from the first that left Sutter's Fort, February 5, to the last, April 13, were similar to those of the "forlorn hope" party. Going in on snowshoes, the rescuers cached provisions to be used on their return trips. In several instances these caches were destroyed by wild animals, so that the return trips with the emaciated, weakened Donner people became struggles with death, in which many died and were eaten by their starving companions.

The fourth and last relief party started from Johnson's rancho, April 13. They had been promised by the alcalde half of the fortune of several thousand dollars in money and goods which George Donner was supposed to possess.

The seven men of the party under William O. Fallon reached Donner Lake in four days. Lewis Keseberg was the only one alive of the many who had not been able to accompany the relief parties who had preceded them. Of Keseberg, the relief men demanded money, accusing him of having robbed, killed and eaten George Donner and his wife, Tamsen. Keseberg finally gave them $500 which he said Mrs. Donner had requested him to give to her children should he reach California.

OBJECT OF AVERSION.

The fourth relief started back next day, Keseberg following them as well as he could with an injured leg. Each night he managed to make camp, and finally reached civilization. To the end of his life he was an object of accusation and aversion, although most survivors and historians agree that he was innocent.

The brightest part of the story was the heroism of the women. Of the five who died, Mrs. George Donner gave her life to be with her husband at his death; Mrs. Jacob Donner remained with her four children; Mrs. Graves stayed for the sake of four little ones, and Mrs. Murphy cared for her son and three grandchildren until too ill to accompany the rescuers.

WOMAN'S HEROIC DEEDS.

To the zeal of Mrs. Patrick Breen was mainly due the rescue of her husband and eleven children who had been left in the snow while the relief party went forward for help when they discovered a cache had been destroyed. Mrs. Breen kept fires burning, nursed children with a little sugar and water and kept them alive until rescue came. She would not feed upon the bodies of some who had died, nor did the children with her knowledge.

The efforts of James F. Reed undoubtedly saved many lives. Banished to the desert in Nevada for having fatally stabbed James Snyder when Snyder struck Mrs. Reed with a whip while the two men were fighting, Reed made his way by horseback over the mountains to California ahead of the Donner party. Although he did not fully realize the seriousness of their condition, he caused the first relief party to be dispatched, and himself led the second expedition.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Dec. 14. — George Dougherty, who was a deputy under Police Commissioner Waldo in New York a few years ago, has solved a robbery mystery that has been puzzling police authorities of Central and Western Europe for several months. At the request of the Berlin Chief of Police, Richter, Dougherty trapped and caused the arrest of a group of international crooks, who last summer stole a valuable collection of gold and silver medals at Rogue, Police of Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and other cities have been trying in vain to apprehend the criminals.

When Dougherty arrived in Berlin several days ago he made a call on Chief Richter. The Chief told him about the robbery, said that he had information that the medals were in Berlin and asked Dougherty for advice.

On Dougherty's suggestion the police circulated a report that a wealthy American residing at the Hotel Esplanada, a collector of curios, desired to purchase medals. Two days later two men appeared at Dougherty's room and offered to sell him a "rare collection" for only 750,000 marks. Dougherty beat down the price to 500,000 marks and paid a deposit, but he asked to see the collection before handing over the rest of the money. The crooks agreed and followed by a police car, they took Dougherty to a small house in the suburbs and showed him the collection which he immediately recognized as that described to him by Richter.

He signalled the news of this discovery to the police outside by walking to a window and lighting a cigarette, a prearranged tip. The police rushed in and arrested six men, who Richter says, are among the most desperate crooks on the continent.

Dougherty was formally thanked by the Berlin police department.

COMMISSION HEARS SUGAR REFINERS.

EASTERNERS WANT CARRIERS TO QUIT LOWERING RATE WEST OF CHICAGO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—A slightly lower price paid by Pacific Coast refineries for raw sugar gives them no advantage over eastern competitors in the Chicago market as the eastern refineries own plantations through subsidiary companies, H. K. Howard, sales manager of the Western Sugar Refinery of San Francisco testified yesterday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing here.

The hearing is to give western sugar interests an opportunity to present their views on a charge by eastern railroads that the present freight rates on sugar from the Pacific Coast to Chicago unduly handicap the shipments of Louisiana, Cuban and Porto Rican sugar into the Chicago market.

The eastern roads ask that the carriers west of Chicago discontinue granting a lower rate from the Coast to Chicago, than to Des Moines or Omaha, a preference Chicago has enjoyed since 1914, and which was increased last spring in a reduction of the Chicago rate.

Howard said that although the Pacific Coast refineries enjoyed a market price of 25 cents a hundred pounds lower than the New York price, they had to make contracts with Hawaiian and Philippine growers, while the eastern refiners benefited by owning plantations.

PRICE OF CHICAGO'S FRESH EGGS DROP.

INJUNCTION TO PREVENT SPECULATION FLOODS THE MARKET.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—The price of fresh eggs dropped from 53 cents a dozen wholesale to 49 cents today following the issuance of a restraining order by Judge Rush, which prohibits speculative trading in that commodity.

The injunction was against the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and was obtained by Barney Kaufman, a wholesale produce dealer. Kaufman charged that three men controlled the egg market and were maneuvering to keep fresh eggs out of the Chicago market. Dealers declared the drop was caused by the dumping on the market of thousands of cases of eggs which had been held for speculative purposes.

STATE OF WAR ON IN SOUTH.

Peru and Chile Quarrel Over Boundary.

Soldiers Once More Glare at Each Other.

Brazil Sends Gunboat to Protect Radio.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 14.—The recent skirmish between Chilean and Peruvian patrols across the frontier, Peru's order against the landing of Chileans and the repeated declarations of the Chilean Foreign Office, of its intention to conduct a plebiscite in Tacna-Arica with or without Peru's participation, shows that the relations between the two countries are extremely critical.

STATE OF WAR.

Technically, a state of war exists since President Leguia's constitutional assembly declared the treaty of Ancon void and decreed the reincorporation of Tacna-Arica and Tarapaca in Peruvian territory, despite the definite nature with which Tarapaca was ceded to Chile in payment of a war indemnity.

Presidents Allesandri and Leguia are following diametrically opposed policies. Senor Allessandri carried the presidency of Chile under the banner of "Shelve the Iacna-Arica problem which is threatening the peace of South America." Senor Leguia was elected for the second term by promising to recover Tacna-Arica and Tarapaca. He gathered his support largely as a result of his anti-Chilean policy in his first term during which he purchased munitions and rejected Chile's proffered wreath at the unveiling of a tomb for Peruvian veterans of the nitrate war. Senor Leguia's policy has been strongly anti-Chilean for the past two years and it has even been hostile toward Peru's old ally, Bolivia.

Prominent Peruvians have been stating recently that Peru will not accept the plebescite on any condition since there are no longer enough Peruvians in Tacna-Arica to make any impression on the balloting.

INDEFINITELY DEFER CHURCH UNIFICATION.

UNION OF PRESBYTERIAN AND REFORMED BODIES FAILS IN NON-AGREEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Proposals for union of all Presbyterian and Reformed churches in the United States have been deferred indefinitely, owing to the inability of representatives of the various denominations to agree on a unification program, said a report of the special conference investigating the matter, made public tonight.

The report said the various denominations would continue to co-operate as before, through the Council of Reformed Churches holding the Presbyterian system, but without modifying their independent organizations.

The point of disagreement, the report said, was as to whether there should be a complete union, with one general assembly and a number of general synods or a Federal Union in which the various denominations would preserve their autonomy.

Denominations represented were the Presbyterian church in the United States (South,) Presbyterian Church in the United States of America (North,) Reformed Church in the United States and United Presbyterian Church.

PHYSICIANS TESTIFY IN SUIT AGAINST MAN WHO HAS FORTUNE IN POCKETS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Dec. 14.—Three physicians today testified that W. F. Wendt, millionaire manufacturer of Buffalo and Los Angeles, is capable of handling his own affairs. His eccentricities, they declared, do not indicate insanity. Mr. Wendt's wife and daughter are asking the court to declare him incompetent.

Dr. E. A. Bowerman, an alienist, testified that he recently spent five days with Mr. Wendt in Los Angeles. Mr. Wendt explained that he lived in a small hotel because he thought hold-up men would be less likely to attack him there. Mr. Wendt always carried in his pockets bonds and cash amounting to several hundred thousand dollars.

In answer to a question by the petitioners' lawyers, Dr. Bowerman said Mr. Wendt drank an average of three pints of whisky a day and one quart at night. Dr. Bowerman said Wendt is sane.

The case will go to the jury tomorrow.

TO BE GAY THOUGH DRY.

Chicago Prepares for Prohibition New Year's Eve; Hilarious Entertainment the Only Kick.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Chicago is busy preparing for its gayest and dryest New Year's Eve celebration. Entertainment will have to supply the kick this year, managers of hotels, cafes and clubs declare. The usual elaborate dinners and programs have been made even more zestful this season to add to the evening the punch removed by prohibition.

Almost 25,000 revelers will frolic in places of entertainment in the Loop and outlying districts. In an entirely different mood, approximately 100,000 church members are expected to be holding "watch night" services in the different churches.

No such clear-cut path of conduct is laid out for the frolickers who will fill the cafes. Dispatches from New York indicate that water will be the only liquid refreshment served in the cafes there on New Year's Eve and that vigilant prohibition officers will be on the lookout for toters of hip liquor who hope to add a little private cheer to the nonalcoholic entertainment supplied by restaurant owners on "the great white way."

In Chicago this statement as to the conduct of his forces has been issued by Federal Prohibition Director Gregory:

"It is not our present intention publicly and openly to interfere with the holiday festivities. We do, however, expect to perform our official duties. The agents will be at work collecting evidence against those who may transgress the law. This evidence will be used against them by our legal adviser, in instituting injunction proceedings that will close those places so tightly that to the owner the pleasant memories of the past will be only a nightmare for the days succeeding."

STEPHENS WANTS CONGRESS IMPRESSED WITH CALIFORNIA PROBLEM.

VISALIA, Dec. 14.—Gov. Stephens advocated a State-wide campaign to bring the attention of Congress to California's problem with the Japanese in an address today at the San Joaquin Valley Citrus Fair.

The Governor said he is satisfied President Harding is anxious to aid the West in the solution of this problem, but that the help of Congress is needed. Five hundred members, he declared, are not familiar with California's Japanese difficulties and in need of education which we alone can give.

The Governor said he had no quarrel with the Japanese people, but felt that steps should be taken to protect the State's industries from becoming gradually monopolized.

Peace May Soon Come to Big Oil Companies; New Government Savings Plan; Credit Men Meet.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

W. F. Howard, vice-president of the Southwestern Shipbuilding Company, and one of the heaviest California holders of stock in the Union Oil Company of Delaware has returned from New York, where he went to attend a meeting of that corporation in his own interests and that of other Pacific Coast investors.

Mr. Howard was extremely conservative in his discussion of the affairs of the Delaware company, which have recently attracted a good deal of attention by reason of its affiliation with the Royal Dutch Shell Company and persistent rumors of a possible attack upon the Union Oil Company of California by outside interests.

He said, however, that he found the utmost willingness on the part of the Delaware company executives to place their cards upon the table and to answer fully and comprehensively the questions propounded. He found no evidence of anything worse than the exercise of indifferent judgment at times in the conduct of the affairs of the company, which, he intimated, would be eventually harmonized.

"You may say," said Mr. Howard, "that the wild stories which have been circulated in Los Angeles and elsewhere concerning internal differences have been grossly exaggerated or manufactured out of whole cloth. The Royal Shell deal was a life buoy to Union of Delaware. Beyond this I do not care to go. Matters discussed at the meeting were of concern only to the stockholders, and I do not believe in washing any dirty linen in public. In my opinion, publicity at this time is ill advised."

Mr. Howard said that he knew nothing of the affairs of Union of California, but he took no stock in the rumor that any outside interests are contemplating a stock raid.

The fact that the Union of Delaware controls 27 per cent of the stock of the Union of California has provided a foundation for the uneasiness which has affected the stock of that corporation since the consummation of the deal whereby foreign interests came into the control of the former company, and which has been further augmented of late by an appreciation of eighteen points in the stock market transactions.

This has been the result of the invisible but powerful pressure exercised by a buying pool which some thought might have extended its long arm across the continent, but which seems more likely to be of Pacific Coast origin, and to have for its purpose the accumulation of a worthwhile block in the event of possible future activity on the part of transcontinental or international investors. This movement is not as speculative as it sounds for the stock was believed to be selling below its actual value.

As a further measure of safety and for the purpose of retaining the control in California and presenting a solid, or at least a fighting front, to any invaders who might present themselves, the Union Oil Holding Company is now in process of formation.

Isaac Milbank is militant in this phase concerning which he said yesterday: "The establishment of the holding company is based upon constructive lines, and it is, at the same time, defensive; designed for the mutual benefit of all of its stockholders, so that by continuing the control in the hands of its staunch friends it will serve as a great boon to the Union Oil Company. I have no personal interest in the current quotations, excepting as they indicate from time to time the sentiment of the stockholders and the public demand for the shares. I am looking forward to the completion of the holding company early in January."

In this connection it is only fair to say that not all of the Union of California stockholders are in sympathy with the holding company idea, and some of the larger investors are remaining outside of its defense.

It is apparent, however, that there is a growing spirit of conciliation, and that the differences are by no means irreconcilable. Those in a position to know declare that no plans are being laid anywhere for a raid upon the California company, and that the control of that concern is not seriously threatened, but that it will remain securely fixed in Los Angeles where it has been built up to its present commanding position in the world of oil and finance.

Certain suggestions may be made relative to managerial policies, at the proper time, and while no present committments are made by executives, there is some reason to anticipate the development of a get-together policy which should result in the smoothing away of any disturbing internal differences.

The two Unions as well as the Royal Shell have a well-defined niche to fill in the working out of the heavy programs of development and expansion to which each is committed, and in the happy solution of their problems the public at large will be interested beneficiaries.

THRIFT STAMPS PASS.

Under an order received yesterday by Postmaster O'Brien, the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps will be discontinued by the government after December 31.

In their stead will be offered for sale to the public what are to be known as Treasury Savings Certificates. They will go on sale today, and may be purchased at the general postoffice and at all branches.

These evidences of indebtedness are to run five years, and will be due and payable on Jan. 1, 1927. They are to be issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1000. The discount is as follows: $25 certificates for $20; $100 certificates for $80 and $1000 certificates for $800.

Notwithstanding they are payable at the end of five years, they may be redeemed at any time, and the holder gets interest for his investment at the rate of 3 per cent.

Under the law providing for these certificates, the limit of sale is fixed at $5000 for each individual for each annual series. To illustrate: One may buy $5000 worth of the series of 1922, and $5000 for any additional year running during the life of the certificates. It is also provided that any member of a family may purchase to the limit indicated.

The experience of the local postoffice officials in dealing with the War Savings and Thrift Stamps, indicates that about all of these certificates have been redeemed so far as local sales are concerned. For the past three years the redemptions have outnumbered the sales more than 100 to 1. The idea seemed to be current that with the close of the war, the government was no longer in need of funds, and under the regulations under which they were issued the government was compelled to redeem them, paying interest for the use of the money during the time the stamps were in possession of the purchasers.

CALIFORNIA BANK.

BUSINESS NEWS.

Pima vs. Short Staple Cotton; Insurance News; P. G. & E. Stock Dividend; Victories Cross Par.

On account of the low prices paid this year, the old Pima versus short-staple cotton controversy has reopened among Arizona growers. The high premium that was paid formerly for Pima long staples over ordinary Belt cotton has been gradually declining, due to various causes, and the higher production costs of this variety have failed to adjust themselves in proportion. These factors have started the thoughts of some growers towards the introduction of the more profitable, lower grade cotton, much to the discomfiture of the adherents of the policy of devoting certain regions exclusively to the growing of Pima.

The elements of the controversy from the standpoint of the grower who wants to switch from the fancy Pima to the ordinary grades turn chiefly upon the fact that the latter are by far the cheapest to produce. It costs approximately $25 a bale to gin Pima cotton and $60 a bale to pick it, a total of $85 a bale. Ordinary short staples cost $10 to gin and $25 to pick, or $35 in all.

Formerly this difference in production costs was made up for by the high premium paid for Pima. For a long time tire manufacturers thought that the fancy long staple was indispensable in turning out the best grade of casing. Recently, however, they have discovered that there was no need of spending extra money to turn out a fabric that would outlast the life of the rubber that protected it. Considering the fallibility of rubber, ordinary cotton was proved to serve the purpose just as well.

Another reason for the drop in the premium price was the falling off in the demand for fine goods with the general depression. While the silk-shirt craze was on, Pima prices were up, for the fine quality and texture of this variety of cotton made it available for 66 per cent of the material of most of the silk shirts, hosiery, etc., sold in this country. This angle of the demand is picking up now, however, and some local cotton dealers report inquiries from Japanese silk manufacturers, although the consumption of fine cotton products in America is still very slack.

The other side of the question is presented very well by James Kendall, an English cotton expert, now resident in Southern California. He points out that the introduction of short-staple cotton in the Salt River Valley and other regions that are now entirely given over to Pima growing would mean the strangulation of the latter industry in its infancy. If one acre of short cotton was planted adjacent to an acre of Pima, it would only be a short time before bees, insects and winds had effectually "mixed the breeds" of the cotton. Pima must either be grown exclusively, or not at all, he says.

He suggests that a demand be created for Pima long staple through the means of commercial propaganda. Egypt is the only other spot in the world where cotton approaching the fineness, the length of staple, and the silkiness of texture of Pima can be grown. The Egyptian crop is now in the process of deterioration and last year was reduced approximately 500,000 bales from former average production. Mr. Kendall sees a remarkable opportunity for the Arizona growers if they hold on to the start they have already made in growing Pima and advertise the excellence of their product so as to stimulate a demand for the better grades of cotton goods made from it.

However, that is a matter for the future. About all the grower realizes at present is that he can get 17½ cents a pound, or more, for ordinary cotton and 30 cents a pound for Pima, which, however, costs him twice as much to produce. Despite this difference in cash yield, there is no great possibility that Pima growing will be discontinued in the near future. The Salt River Valley is peculiarly suited to the growing of Pima and Arizona growers are likely to think twice before endangering the superior grade of cotton for which they have become famous.

NORWEGIAN BONDS.

Stephens & Co. offered yesterday a block of Norwegian government 8½ per cent tricurrency external railroad bonds. The bonds are being sold at 48, to yield 7.33 per cent. They are due in 1964, and will be retired by that time either through the sinking fund or by purchase in the open market.

Norway has always enjoyed a high credit rating and prior to the war was always able to float its governmental loans on a 3½ per cent basis. No Norwegian loan has ever been defaulted. The purpose of this issue was to provide funds for further construction of government-owned railroads. The bonds are payable at the option of the holder in either pounds sterling, Norwegian kronen, or French francs. Stephens & Co. point out that Norwegian external loan 8s are now selling on a 7.15 per cent basis.

P. G. & E. STOCK DIVIDEND.

A stock dividend of 2 per cent in addition to the regular dividend at the rate of 5 per cent per annum was declared yesterday by the directors of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, at their meeting in San Francisco. This announcement of the directors' action cleared up many of the rumors current in the local board rooms, which predicted extra cash dividends of 1 and 2 per cent. The stock was very active yesterday on

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Assessed valuation, 1920-21 ..... $919,498,395.50
Total bonded debt, including this issue 4,115,375.00
Population, estimated, one million

The Los Angeles Flood Control District includes an area of 2692 square miles, embracing two-thirds of the entire county of Los Angeles, and containing a population of three-quarters of a million. Within a short space of 37 years the population of this district has increased over 25 times and the assessed valuation of property over 50 times.

Los Angeles County is exceptionally well provided with transportation facilities. Nearly a dozen lines of steam railroads and the greatest interurban electric system in the world center in Los Angeles City, tapping almost every section of the county. More than $5,000,000 have been spent for the construction of a complete system of macadamized highways.

That Los Angeles City itself will always be the commercial metropolis of Southern California admits of no doubt and, great as has been the growth and advance of the county industrially and financially, conservative estimates are that its real growth and prosperity have scarcely begun.

These bonds have been approved as to legality by Messrs. O'Melveny, Milliken & Tuller, Attorneys, Los Angeles.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Stocks were mainly higher at the outset of today's diversified session. They became hesitant on profit-taking at midday and steadied on short covering at the close.

Standard or representative issues continued to be overshadowed by the prominence of various specialties and miscellaneous issues, some of which registered highest prices of the year.

Oils, coppers, motors and numerous related specialties supplied a preponderant proportion of the day's operations. Motors were helped by the declaration of the regular dividend on Chandler and signs of active revival in the tire industry.

Trading in rails was negligible and several favorite steels and equipments reacted moderately in anticipation of poor returns for the final qarter of the year. Sales, $35,000 shares.

Withdrawal tomorrow of $20,000,000 of government deposits by the local Federal Reserve Bank caused no disturbance in the money market. Call loans eased from 5 to 4½ per cent at midday and more thirty and sixty-day money was available at 5 per cent.

Foreign exchanges were dull and narrow in contrast with recent spectacular movements.

Leading currencies were mixed. Sterling made a slight recovery from yesterday's general reaction and the Paris rate also improved. Italian and several Northern European remittances were lower.

United States war flotations were active features of the bond market. Liberty third 4 1-4s at 98.80 and Victory 3 3-4s at 100.04 making new high records for the year. Elsewhere trading in bonds was less active and slightly reactionary. Total sales, par value, $17,250,000.

Central Union Trust Company of New York, Trustee

Mr. George W. Gair, President of the Company, summarizes as follows his letter, a copy of which will be sent upon request:

Business
THE Robert Gair Company, Incorporated in New York in 1903, is the successor to the firm of the same name founded by Robert Gair in 1864. The Company is the largest manufacturer in the world of paper containers, such as folding boxes, corrugated cartons, fiber shipping cases and display containers. It also manufactures paper, boxboard and other package materials and lithographs and prints many forms of advertising material.

Properties
THE Company operates six large plants at strategic points for the manufacture and distribution of its products. Locations are at Haverhill, Massachusetts; Piermont, New York; Chicago, Illinois; Quincy, Illinois; New London, Connecticut, and Brooklyn, New York. Four of these plants are owned by it, two of which are located on leased lands. The Company also owns other valuable property and real estate.

THE lands, buildings and equipment on which these bonds are to be a First Mortgage have been appraised as of November 1, 1921, by the Standard Appraisal Company at a sound value of $11,126,000, or over $2780 for each $1000 bond. The net tangible assets, exclusive of good will, were on October 31, 1921, in excess of $3760 for each $1000 bond of this issue, after giving effect to present financing.

The stability of this business is demonstrated by almost sixty years of successful operation and by the diversity of the products which are distributed to leading consumers throughout the world.

Earnings
COMBINED net earnings of the six plants after depreciation and interest charges and before Federal taxes, for the five years ended December 31, 1920, have averaged $2,275,000 per annum, or more than 8 times the interest charges of $280,000 on these bonds. In each of these years, net earnings have been in excess of $1,500,000. While operations for the year 1921 will result in a loss, current operations are again on a profitable basis.

Sinking Fund
THE Mortgage Indenture will provide for a Sinking Fund commencing May 1, 1923, or an amount equal to 15% of the annual net earnings of the preceding calendar year, but not less than $150,000 annually. Additional bonds can only be issued to the extent of 50% of the cost of new property and subject to other rigid restrictions.

The legal proceedings in connection with this issue are being passed upon by Messrs. Chadbourne, Babbitt and Wallace for the Bankers and Messrs. Larkin, Rathbone

INVITES OFFERS ON

54 Uncompleted Wooden Steamships Hulls, 24 Uncompleted Wooden Converted Barges and 18 Uncompleted Wooden Tugs

The UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD, through the UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD EMERGENCY FLEET CORPORATION, invites offers for the purchase of the following described uncompleted wooden steamship hulls, uncompleted wooden converted barges and uncompleted wooden tugs, which have been duly appraised and are to be sold at private competitive sale. All offers received before January 5, 1922, will be considered; and no award will be made before that date. Negotiations may be continued thereafter, and all offers received prior to final award will be considered.

These steamship hulls and barges are of Ferris (3500 DWT) and HOUGH (4060 DWT) design, and are of wooden construction. Similar hulls have been successfully converted into five masted barkentines, schooners and tow barges and have given excellent service in the transportation of bulk cargo, such as lumber, petroleum, minerals and general cargo in coastwise and trans-oceanic trade.

The hulls were contracted to be built to the requirements of American Bureau of Shipping and the British Lloyd.

GUERILLA WAR THREAT MADE.

Packing-House Strikers' Note to Davis Defiant.

Name Conditions Under Which They Will Settle.

Armour Official Says Plants Practically Normal.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Declaring that striking packing-house workers are standing firm against what they term an arbitrary reduction of wages and densing statements by the big five packers that operations in Chicago are nearly normal, strike leaders in a statement tonight asserted that if the strike is to be a contest of endurance, it will run for months and guerilla warfare, if that term can be used, can be expected in every packing-house center throughout the country.

CONDITIONS NAMED.

The statement was given to Secretary of Labor Davis over the signature of C. J. Hayes, president, and Dennis Lane, secretary of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America. The Secretary asked the strike leaders for a statement.

Two conditions on which they said the strike can be settled were named by the union:

(1) That the packers rescind the wage reduction put into effect November 28.

(2) That the packers agree to submit the question of wage reductions to arbitration and restore the former wage pending the arbitration proceedings.

The statement declared that at no time have the representatives of the "industrial relation plan," by which the packers claim to have negotiated the reduction with the plant assemblies, conferred with their fellow workers.

"The packers' so-caled 'industrial relation plan' has never called a meeting of the workers in any department of the packing plants," the statement continues.

PLANTS CLOSED.

"Despite the packers' statements to the contrary, the plants of Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy have been practically closed since December 5. Up to date the plants in Chicago have not killed more than 25 per cent of their normal killing. The packers have made strenuous efforts to procure strikebreakers. Despite the large army of unemployed they have not been very successful.

"Our union has exerted every effort to prevent disturbances. Facts are, however, that the men and women workers, together with their dependents, are so incensed and aroused at the action of the packers' arbitrarily reducing wages prior to the holidays that it is difficult for any agency to maintain peace.

MEN RETURNING.

"Our operations have been proceeding almost normal and are rapidly improving," an Armour official said. "Men are coming back in droves. We are dealing directly with our men, having dealt with them in the past. Since the formation of the plant representation plan we have dealt through it in an open and frank basis and will continue to do all our dealings with them directly.

"In Chicago you could not tell there is a strike. At St. Paul, where we were hit the hardest, the strike is practically broken and the plants are operating almost 100 per cent.

"So far as the tripartite agreement between the government, the packers and the union is concerned, it expired automaticay and with the consent of the three parties."

WORKER MAROONED ON TOP OF SMOKESTACK.

MAN NEARLY FREEZES AS FIRE DEPARTMENT TRIES TO GET ROPE TO HIM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Marooned on top of a 150-foot smokestack for five hours this afternoon, Roy Sutton, an employee of the American Bridge Works, was almost frozen when rescued by firemen. Sutton had been hoisted to the top of the stack by means of a windlass.

After Sutton had reached the top the windlass was used to haul up bricks and mortar to repair the stack. While a load of bricks was being raised the rope broke. Sutton's fellow-workmen who had remained below rushed for help. An attempt was made to splice a number of ten-foot poles together, to the top of which had been attached a heavy cord.

The improvised pole was brushed aside by the wind. The fire department was called, but their highest ladder was only seventy-five feet long. A life gun was then brought to the scene. Line after line was shot toward Sutton, but all missed their mark. In the meantime, efforts were continued with the 150-foot pole. Finally the rescuers managed to get the pole within Sutton's reach. He grasped the cord attached and hauled up the heavier rope attached to it. With a new rope in place in the windlass, Sutton was hauled to safety, numb from the cold.

OREGON UNITES TO PRESERVE HIGHWAYS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 14.—The county judges and commissioners of Oregon are behind the new program to conserve the paved highways of the State, according to pledges made at their convention here today. In an address, John B. Yeon of the State Highway Commission declared in favor of abolishment of the heavy truck and overloading, which are blamed for the crushing of the paved highways.

The connecting links of the Pacific highway, both on the west and east sides, will be paved during 1922, the Columbia River highway will be completed and the old Oregon trail macadamized throughout, R. A. Booth, chairman of the State Highway Commission announced. The Dallas-California highway will be opened, but not completed, it was announced.

DRY AGENTS TIPPED OFF.

Ten Who Came to Redding on Raid Fail to Find Liquor in Twenty Places.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

REDDING, Dec. 14.—Ten Federal agents, who came from San Francisco, failed to find a drop of liquor in twenty soft-drink establishments which they raided here today. Seventeen proprietors were arrested on old charges.

Belief was expressed by the agents that their intention to raid the establishments had been conveyed to the proprietors.

SECRET OF HOT DOG IS EXPOSED.

Innocent-Looking Sandwich Found to Contain Moonshine.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The secret of what makes the hot dog wild is out. New York's frankfurter taste always has been strong, but recently police on duty at Madison Square Garden during the six-day bicycle race were unable to understand why certain venders had no trouble in disposing of their entire kennels at 30 cent a dog, without even serving the conventional mustard.

The authorities were considering some means of stamping out this profiteering when one bluecoat purchased a pound and punctured it. Pure moonshine.

Now the coppers are casting a mean eye at every hot dog in town.

WARSHIP TO HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY.

MISSISSIPPI TO STAGE BALL IN JANUARY; EXPECT TWO THOUSAND GUESTS.

American battleships, have birthdays just like human beings and they have birthday parties, too.

That is why the dreadnaught Mississippi will stage a ball aboard ship early in January. It will mark the occasion of the ship's fourth anniversary as one of Uncle Sam's big fighting units.

Provisions have been made for inviting 2000 guests from other ships of the fleet to the annual ball. Special trains will be run to the harbor by the Pacific Electric and special boats will be assigned to carry the guests to the ship. A program of unusual excellence, filled with surprises, is promised.

The Mississippi started out as a creator of records and she has been at the job ever since. Her captains have all gone up the ladder of promotion and her men have won enviable reputations in gunnery achievements, to say nothing of their accomplishments in fleet athletics.

SAILORS LIKE JOBS.

Few Seek Discharges Offered by Navy Department.

Although orders from the Navy Department, just received at Pacific Fleet headquarters at the harbor, provide for the discharge of nearly 2000 enlisted men of the fleet, as a part of the Navy's program to reduce the enlisted personnel by 10,000 men by January 1, fleet officers doubt if that number of men will apply for discharge. Applications have not been numerous, they state. The dreadnaught Mississippi has a complement of 1200 enlisted men and only thirty-five have applied for discharge. Applications aboard other ships are not expected to exceed fifty to each vessel.

Under the department's ruling providing for the discharge of chief petty officers who apply, only three are reported to have applied.

SUBMARINE DRYDOCKS.

Diver Raised After Sinking To Be Overhauled.

The Pacific Fleet submarine R-6, which sank some weeks ago in the outer harbor and which was raised with considerable difficulty sixteen days later, has been placed on the dry dock of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company for hull examination. Upon two of the pontoons of the big floating dry dock astern of those upon which the R-6 is resting, blocks are being set to take the F-2, one of the training submarines from the Submarine Base, for hull cleaning and painting.

SHIP FIRM TO CENTER TRADE HERE

Five Large Freighters Are Expected to Make Harbor Pacific Coast Terminal.

That Los Angeles Harbor will soon become the main terminal on the Pacific Coast for the Struthers & Barry steamship interests and that all five of the 11,000-ton Shipping Board freighters built by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding & Drydock Company, will be chartered by this company for their oriental trade, was indicated at the harbor yesterday, following the visit there of Harry Struthers of New York, head of the firm.

Two of these ships, the West Prospect and the West Chopaka, are already under charter in the Struthers & Barry service, the latter having left the local port several days ago for the Orient with more than 11,000 tons of merchandise, most of it loaded at the harbor.

The other three, soon to be secured from the Shipping Board, are the West Faralon, West Lewark and West Greylock, all now in service under other charters.

Mr. Struthers's visit was in connection with securing additional docking facilities at Los Angeles Harbor to handle the great volume of business the corporation has booked and in sight. The matter of alloting additional wharfage space to the company is to be taken up with the Board of Harbor Commissioners and it is strongly hinted that eventually new terminal facilities will have to be built at the harbor for this line.

BIDS DEFIANCE TO RIVAL ORGANIZATION.

PRESIDENT TOMLINSON SAYS ILLINOIS SOCIETY WILL FIGHT DETRACTORS.

"We have observed the admonition of the Divine Master to 'turn the other cheek,' but we have been slapped so often there is no other cheek left to turn. It is now a fight to the finish with any man or organization questioning the loyalty of members of the Illinois State Society of Southern California.

In the above words James A. Tomlinson, who was unanimously re-elected president of that society for the ensuing year at its annual meeting last night, expressed his sentiments concerning propaganda which it is asserted has been spread by officers and members of a rival Illinois organization.

President Tomlinson's remarks were greeted with applause from an audience which packed the assembly room of the Friday Morning clubhouse, where the meeting was held, and overflowed into the main entrance corridor.

"I feel that every member of the Illinois State Society backs me up in the stand which I have taken," President Tomlinson said, further, "and I pledge you I shall make it my personal duty to oppose any further misrepresentations and insinuations having a bearing on this issue. If they will leave us alone we will have peace, but if they continue to question the integrity and patriotism of this organization we will have war. I charge each one of you to bring to your president personally any advertisement or other evidence of misrepresentation. I will do the rest."

President Tomlinson's remarks came at the close of the meeting, following the re-election of all officers of the society and the rendition of an interesting program of vocal and instrumental music.

AUTO HITS WOMAN.

Driver Held For Investigation By Lincoln Heights Police.

Miss Catherine Jones, aged 40 years, of 2814 North Broadway, suffered a possible skull fracture and abrasions, when she was struck down by an automobile driven by Arthur Perez of 213 South Eastlake avenue, at North Broadway and Griffin avenue, late last night.

The injured woman was given emergency treatment in the office of Dr. O. F. Yost, at 2831 North Broadway, and then sent to the Pacific Hospital. Perez was held by the Lincoln Heights police pending further investigation of the accident. According to the police, he said Miss Jones ran against the rear fender of his automobile.

For Christmas
The Gift of Gifts

SIXTY-SEVEN years ago, America produced a new watch made upon a new plan. A watch that created a sensation all over the world. It quickly became the proud possession of great men and the still prouder possession of thousands of American citizens. It told the time upon battlefields written on the glorious page of our history. It ticked immortal moments in the pockets of those who heard Lincoln's voice at Gettysburg. It has passed through recent warfare in air, and on land and sea. It has followed the starry flag to the outmost ends of the earth. It has been given by father to son, and mother to daughter with joyful pride. It has added many great inventions to the science of horology. It is honored all over the world—and through it civilization pays tribute to American genius for doing things, not the better way, but, the best way.

This Christmas, Give "The Gift of Gifts", a Waltham Watch.

Ask your Jeweler. He knows Waltham Watches.

NOTED HEAD OF CANYON HOTEL DIES.

Charles Brandt, for Years Manager of El Tovar, is Summoned Beyond.

Charles Brandt, for sixteen years manager of El Tovar Hotel of the Fred Harvey system of the Santa Fe at Grand Canyon, died there Tuesday afternoon in his seventy-first year. Mr. Brandt was said to have been the best authority on the Grand Canyon.

George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, yesterday wired an order for a floral piece of roses for this man, whom he had referred to in his magazine as "Baron Brandt, the pioneer of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado."

Wickham Steed of the London Times referred to him in an editorial as "the high priest of the Grand Canyon." Mr. Brandt came to this country at the age of 13. He became manager of the Union League Club of Chicago and then joined the Harvey forces.

He is to be buried at the edge of the canyon rim and beside him are to be placed the remains of his wife, who passed away last Christmas in Los Angeles. Her body, which was buried in Calvary Cemetery, is to be exhumed.

Mr. Brandt leaves no relatives as far as has been ascertained yesterday. He was known for his great love of his Airedale, "Razzle Dazzle." So greatly did this dog miss his master when he came to Los Angeles at the time of the illness and death of Mrs. Brandt that it became necessary to send the animal here in order to prevent it from starving to death.

"The dog will die," said a local representative of Fred Harvey last night. "He again refuses to eat."

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Dec. 14.—Fire at Sydney, N. S. W., caused damage of $5,000,000 today, according to a cable to the Vancouver Province tonight. Among the buildings destroyed, according to the message, was the Pastoral Finance Association's wool stores, opposite the circular quay, with the loss of 30,000 bales of wool.

The cable referred to the blaze as the most spectacular in the history of Sydney.

It added "the wool stores adjoined the admiralty house, the Sydney residence of the Attorney-General. This building was saved after prodigious efforts by firemen and bluejackets."

WARNS BURCH CASE JURY OF ANONYMOUS LETTERS.

Judge Receives Unsigned Notes; Witness Says Accused Pair Watched Kennedy Home.

Jurors in the Arthur Burch murder trial were solemnly warned late yesterday by Judge Reeve to turn over to him all anonymous letters they have received or may get through the mails, in order that the court may refer the communications to the Federal authorities for thorough investigation.

While making this request of the jury Judge Reeve stated that he had received several letters concerning the Burch case and that he thought it likely the jurors also might have been bothered in a similar manner.

In this connection it was recalled that J. D. Kennedy, father of J. Belton Kennedy, the murdered man, at the opening of the trial, was taken to the Federal postoffice inspectors by an attache of the District Attorney's office. It is generally understood that Mr. Kennedy had received threatening communications through the mail, although persons connected with the incident made no comment.

Both defense and prosecution counsel told Judge Reeve they had been getting from five to ten anonymous letters daily about the case and expressed the hope that Judge Reeve may be able to stop the practice.

The unusual statement of the court to the jurors was followed by an especially earnest admonition for the jurors not to discuss the case or to permit anyone else to discuss the case in their presence. After court adjourned, Judge Reeve asserted there was no significance in the statement other than that the admonition had been repeated on so many occasions he wished again to emphasize it as not being merely perfunctory.

SPY ON HOUSE?

John Taliberto, house-boy, who has been in the Kennedy employ for ten years, told a startlingly new story of incidents on August 5, the day on which Mr. Kennedy was murdered at his cottage in Beverly Glen.

Arthur Burch and Madalynne Obenchain, both of whom are accused of the murder, were watching the Kennedy house on Francis avenue between noon and 1 p.m. on August 5, Mr. Taliberto said. They walked by the house, stopped a minute, looked toward the driveway, turned around and walked back, he declared.

Had he seen Mrs. Obenchain before? Oh, yes; on several occasions when she was with Mr. Kennedy. Burch was dressed in a gray suit, a straw hat and wore glasses. No, not like those he had on in the courtroom, but larger ones that looked like celluloid-rimmed glasses, he said.

It was perhaps two hours later—about 3 p.m., the witness believed — when Belton Kennedy came home. He took his small revolver from a music cabinet where he usually kept it. Taking the shells from the chambers, he tried the trigger action a few times, looked closely at the weapon, reloaded it and took it with him. But he did not take with him the keys to his Beverly Glen cabin, where the murder occurred, Taliberto stated.

IDENTIFIES BURCH.

On cross-examination he said he saw Burch only for a short time while the latter was pausing in front of the Kennedy house. The witness was in the rear of the house, looking from a screen porch. He had not seen Burch again until his attention was directed toward the defendant by Chief Defense Counsel Paul W. Schenck, he said. It was then the witness identified Burch as being the man.

A tiny thorn was shown to the jury just before adjournment. This was the one hundred and forty-first exhibit of the prosecution and Mr. Taliberto was the State's fiftieth witness. Deputy Sheriff Charles Sprankling told of seeing the thorn extracted from Burch's knee after Burch was brought to the County Jail. Another prisoner of the jail, J. J. Finley, took out the thorn, Mr. Sprankling said. It came from "the left-hand knee."

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes, who conducted yesterday's examination in the absence of Dist.-Atty. Woolwine who is said to be suffering from an attack of indigestion, is expected to contend that the thorn pierced Burch's knee while he was kneeling in Beverly Glen aiming a shotgun at Mr. Kennedy.

CASHES DRAFT.

Fred W. Cowlin, assistant cashier of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, told of cashing a draft for $100 for Burch on the morning of August 6. It was soon after this that Burch left Los Angeles en route for his home in Evanston.

The draft was drawn on the bank account of Dora M. Burch, the defendant's mother. It was on the same day that Mrs. Obenchain received an anonymous letter containing $85 in money. The handwriting of the address has been classified by Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, as being that of Burch.

Two cellmates of Burch at Las Vegas, Nev., where the defendant was taken off the train while en route home, were called by Mr. Keyes to testify against Burch. Howard Borts and Thomas Savage are the "surprise" witnesses and they have been kept for a month at a downtown hotel by the State.

Borts said Burch was brought to the jail in Las Vegas between 10 and 11 p.m. on August 6 and that Sheriff Gay asked him, "Have

CITY CONTRACT CALLED ILLEGAL.

Attorney Carter Questions Salt Lake Road Pact.

Holds Bridge and Highway in Long Beach Limits.

Says Draw Would Primarily Benefit Railway.

The contract between the City of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad (now the Union Pacific) is illegal in so far as it applies to the building of a drawbridge over Long Beach channel to Terminal Island and a highway leading to the bridge. Such is the opinion of Henry E. Carter, attorney and formerly State Senator, retained by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce to determine the validity of the contract. By it the city, at a cost of $1,200,000, agreed to construct the bridge and highway to be used by the railroad company and to maintain the road for thirty years, after which the Salt Lake would share one-fourth of the cost of maintenance.

The bridge and highway would be constructed within the limits of the city of Long Beach, Mr. Carter's brief sets forth, and "the whole tenor of the contract shows that the construction of this bridge is primarily for the use and benefit of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad." In reference to the vehicle roadway Mr. Carter says that while "it is true the public have the right of usage, such right is as much for the public outside the city as for the citizens of Los Angeles."

CITES COURT DECISIONS.

Mr. Carter cites court decisions and law to show that Los Angeles has no right to construct and maintain a roadway and drawbridge on land and across navigable water outside of its territorial limits and within the territorial limits of another municipality, and has no right to grant a permit or franchise for use of a drawbridge for a period of thirty years. He says Section 35 of Article 1 of the Charter "expressly provides that none of the said powers (administrative powers) shall ever be exercised over any territory or waters within the limits of any other municipal corporation."

"The people of Wilmington and San Pedro are against the contract," Mr. Carter explained yesterday. "They believe the problem should be met by use of a ferry or a tube to Terminal Island from some point within the city limits. I understand that the railroad company would be agreeable to such a solution."

Mr. Carter's brief does not deal with the validity of that part of the contract concerning the widening of the channel. This, he thinks, is separable from the contract.

STEPHENS UNPERTURBED.

City Attorney Stephens said last night that the legality of the contract had been determined before it was made, and that the city is certain it cannot be made void on legal grounds. Mr. Stephens said the part of the charter referred to by Mr. Carter relates to administrative powers outside the city. In the case of the bridge to Terminal Island, one end of which would rest in the Long Beach limits, he says the city of Los Angeles is acting as a corporation and that the traffic and the property would come under the regulations of Long Beach as a municipality. He further asserted the city was not granting a right for the drawbridge, but was merely a party to an agreement to build and maintain a drawbridge.

REGRETS .. AIM .. WAS .. POOR?

Charge Woman With Attempting to Murder Her Husband.

Mrs. Pearl F. Garth (left) and a Friend.

TESTIMONY that Mrs. Pearl F. Garth had made threats against the life of her husband and had expressed regret that she had not "got him" was given from the stand yesterday in Judge Avery's court, where the woman is on trial, charged with attempting to murder her husband, Robert L. Garth, a wealthy realty man of Long Beach.

Mr. Garth, who was on the stand during the morning, told of a similar incident some years ago. This testimony was ruled out by the court as being too remote. He then attempted to tell of an incident, when Mrs. Garth attempted to break a water pitcher on his head.

Following the testimony of the husband, Harry B. McIntyre, who was talking with Garth at the time of the shooting, was called. He told of the circumstances surrounding the firing of the shots.

J. B. Dunn, a patrolman of Long Beach, told the jury that after he arrested Mrs. Garth she expressed her regret that she had not killed Mr. Garth. The trial will be resumed today.

GETS WIRE WIFE DIED IN FLAMES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Dec. 14.—"Wire at my expense full particulars; coming at once," telegraphed J. T. Swain, husband of Katie Swain, who was burned to death shortly after midnight Monday, when her shop and the Hinman feed store were destroyed by a fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin. The telegram came this afternoon, after Arthur Houseman, an intimate friend of the family, had been trying for two days to communicate with the husband, who is in the East.

There have been no new clews developed, but the theory of suicide has been definitely abandoned, as authorities state that it would have been impossible for the woman to set fire to the feed barn and then return to her store, tie her wrists and fire her own store. Also they state that she would have chosen an easier death had she taken her own life.

Jack Campbell of Ontario was questioned closely, and immediately released Tuesday morning as it was found that his action had been above suspicion. Mr. Campbell was quizzed because he is said to have been seen in the neighborhood about an hour before the fire was discovered.

A Coroner's jury late this afternoon returned a verdict that Mrs. Swain "came to her death from burns received in a fire of incendiary origin caused by parties unknown to the jury." The testimony of only a few witnesses was heard. No attempt was made to bring out new facts regarding the mystery.

HAMMERS IN SKULL OF WOMAN

Fiend Leaves Gags Near Victim; Boy Finds Mother Dying in Pool of Blood.

Douglas Meyers, 13 years old, returned from school yesterday evening and found his mother, Mrs. Balindi Meyers, lying in a pool of blood on the floor of their home in the rear of 1407 East Ninth street. A hammer lay by her head. She is dying at the Receiving Hospital. The skull was shattered.

The assailant and his motive are unknown. Mrs. Meyers wore a heavy gold cross and chain about her neck. The cross and chain are missing and it is believed the cash register in the grocery store Mrs. Meyers and her husband, George Meyers, own at the address where they live, was rifled.

Mrs. Meyers lay on the floor of the bedroom, the room farthest removed from the street. There were evidences of a struggle and gags were found lying by the woman's head. There were only a few cents in the cash drawer. She had $15 clenched in her hand.

The family is Syrian. The husband conducts another grocery in the neighborhood, at 955 Naomi street, while his wife runs the store in front of their home.

Their son ran to the store conducted by his father, who called the police. Mrs. Meyers is 35 years old.

INCREASE IN TELEPHONE RATES HERE AUTHORIZED.

Schedule Set by State Commission Nearly Doubles Present Charge Made by Southern Company.

The Railroad Commission yesterday authorized the Southern California Telephone Company of Los Angeles to increase its rates on the first of the year. The new schedule will about double the present one, under which the company has been operating for five years because of its contract. The commission granted about half of the rates the company asked.

The new rates, it was announced last night, are far from satisfactory to the company.

The unlimited service rates effective January 1 will be as follows:

Residential — Individual line, $3.75; two-party line, $3; four-party line, $2.25; ten-party line (suburban,) $3. For the one-party line the present rate is $2.50. The company asked an increase to $4.25.

Business—Individual line, $9; two-party line, $7; ten-party line (suburban,) $3.50. Coin box service, 5 cents a call, 20 cents a day guaranteed. For the individual line the present rate is $6.25. The company asked an increase to $12.

OTHER INCREASES.

The increase in the cost of special equipment and extra connections will be in proportion. First both-way trunk lines in private branch exchanges will cost $10, and additional ones $8.25 under the new rates.

The commission insists on improvement in the service, especially to meet the demands for new connections. The commission, however, declared its appreciation for the difficulties under which the company is operating and predicted that the service will be improved.

The commission's announcement came a few hours after City Attorney Stephens had sent a protest to the Railroad Commission against the failure of the telephone company to send out its monthly bills and, he had been informed, its refusal to accept payments for current bills. This indicated to Mr. Stephens that the company officials "are hoping to have an order made increasing their rates and that such an order may be made effective beginning December 1."

GROWTH CONSIDERED.

The commission declared the "unprecedented growth" of the city was taken into consideration in rendering the decision. The commission's report spoke of the "growth in building activity and population and in expansion of all sorts of business enterprises" as creating "an equally unprecedented demand for telephones."

"We see no indication justifying a belief that this growth will be retarded or come to a pause in the next number of years," the report declares. "On the contrary in our judgment the indications are that this remarkable development will continue and the conditions which have been designated as abnormal in this proceeding may for some considerable time to come prove to be the normal conditions of Los Angeles."

The primary rate area is ordered to include a district in the southern part of the city bounded by Florence, Mountain View, Manchester and Central avenues. The Palms-Culver district and a small neck of territory along Verdugo road, west of Tropico, are excluded from the Los Angeles area.

STATEMENT ISSUED.

A statement issued yesterday by the commission, said:

"In arriving at the new rate schedule, the commission allowed a rate base of $22,800,000 on an estimate of 170,300 subscribers by June 1, 1922. The company has submitted various estimates of value, which when brought down to date ranged from $24,000,000 to in excess of $55,000,000.

"The company's claims of $1,432,000 depreciation allowance under operating expense account was reduced to $780,000, while the annual charge paid as license revenue to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company was cut from $217,000 to $120,000. The latter figure was the amount reached both by the city and the commission. While the Southern company is under contract to pay the larger sum, the decision provides that whatever is paid above $120,000 must come out of net income.

"The commission did not require the company to make any change either in accounting or rate of depreciation, but in its order did provide that only $780,000 would be allowed in the estimate of operating account for rate fixing purposes. Any excess amount set up by the company cannot be charged to the rate payers, but must come out of what would be a fair return to the company."

The report adds:

"With an estimated revenue of $8,300,000 and total estimated expense of $7,094,000, there remains

From the fighting front of the Arthur Burch murder trial came the "flash" last night that an armistice has been signed.

Thus ended one of the most turbulent of the many tempestuous days of the long-winded trial. It was a day filled with challenges and acceptances to duels of fisticuffs. The armed force of the Sheriff's office once had been called to quell a young riot in the very shadow of the Hall of Justice, where the defendant was relegated to a position of secondary importance by the more vigorous entertainment provided.

TRAIL ALLIGATORS TO LAIR.

Fearless Hunters Find Cave in Benedict Canyon in Which Reptiles Reside When Not Climbing Trees or Lying in Wait to Devour Birds and Honey.

BY OTIS M. WILES.

The savage and vagrant alligators of Benedict Canyon, children, shall be the subject of today's lesson in zoology.

There are other alligators—the A. sinensis in the Yang-tse-kiang, the genus Caiman in South America, the C. sclerops or spectacled alligator of Mexico and the jacare-assu of the Amazon—but our researches today concern only the Alligator Benedictine Canyonus, or whatever the derned things that are running rampant in Benedict Canyon might be called.

The history of the Benedict Canyon alligators emanated from Mrs. Louis Besenty, who as a witness in the trial of Arthur C. Burch has already demonstrated an apparent supernatural insight into things that are unusual. There are wild, man-eating alligators in the canyon. Not only Mrs. Besenty and her small son, Tom Besenty, of Hawkshaw fame, testify to the reptiles' presence, but likewise the terrified residents of the canyon declare the alligators have been seen.

An agreement to take over the building when completed has been signed by representatives of the Kress Company.

The new business block will be located on the southeast corner of Pacific avenue and Sixth street, San Pedro, a site now occupied by the Standard Oil Company.

The plans for the building will be drawn up under the direction of the Kress Company's architects.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Be Warned in Time.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

A young man is in love with a pretty and attractive girl who keeps him on the anxious seat.

If he is a minute late in keeping an engagement she goes into a state of frozen silence that sends his heart into his boots. If they have a discussion and differ on any point, he has to back down and apologize all over the place, even if he was in the right, in order to placate her and get things on a cheerful footing once more. If he fails to show her any attention that she thinks is due her, she sulks and has to be propitiated by offerings of flowers and candy and having her adorer grovel before her.

Often the poor young swain doesn't even know how he has offended his divinity, and her moods keep him so bewildered that he appeals to me for help in solving the problem of how to avoid wounding the sensibilities of one whose feelings are spread all over the place.

I know no reliable recipe for coping successfully with the temper of a temperamental lady, but I can give the young man one piece of advice that will be money in his pocket and peace in his life, if he takes it. And that is to make his getaway from the girl while the going is good, and before he lets himself in for paying alimony to her.

For of all wives under the sun, none is so hard to endure as the selfish, egotistic, unreasonable woman, who is always going into a tantrum every time anything displeases her, and before whose outbreaks of temper the boldest man cringes in terror.

The one absolute necessity for a successful marriage is for both the husband and wife to be willing to give and take, and to make excuses for each other's faults. No happy home has in it a woman who is she-who-must-be-obeyed, and who makes of her husband a bond slave to do her bidding.

What a man wants in a wife is a pal, a companion, a friend, somebody who will understand, and sympathize, and make allowances for his shortcomings and for the particular circumstances in which he is situated at the time. He doesn't want a wife who is a merciless judge, who holds him to the strict letter of the law, and so when he finds a girl who refuses to understand why he had to break an engagement with her on account of business, why he could not be at her back and call; why he had ot pay some attention to some other woman, he does well to refrain from marrying her, no matter how good looking she is, or how she fires his fancy for the moment.

For a man does not stay long in love with that sort of a wife. The women who holds her husband's affections to the end is the good-fellow woman who is pleasant to live with, and who makes a cheerful home. No man looks forward to returning of an evening to a home where a grouchy, sullen wife is waiting to haul him over the coals about everything he has done, and forgotten to do.

Furthermore, any man who is afraid of his sweetheart, may be very sure that he will live in abject terror of his wife, for the girl who does not conceal her temper before marriage, will not hesitate to give it full rein after marriage. When she is husband hunting, a woman puts best foot foremost, and it is a safe bet to estimate her faults at about ten times their apparent face value.

We speak of marriage as a gamble, a lottery, a leap in the dark. It is that only because we shut our eyes to the danger signals that every man and woman unconsciously hold out, and that we might see in time to have ourselves if we were not purblind fools.

Any man in his senses, for instance, must know that if he marries a girl with whom he always has to agree to save a row, he will be henpecked out of his life.

The man who marries the girl who is suspicious and jealous, would never even dare to take his own mother out to lunch after he is married.

The man who marries the girl who runs her own family, and whose mother and father are afraid of her, will never be anything but an upper servant in his own house.

The man who marries a girl who dresses beyond her means will toil all of his days to pay her bills, and never be more than a jump ahead of the Sheriff.

The man who marries a sloppy, untidy, shiftless girl will have to eat meals that would kill an ostrich, and live in a house that is like a pig sty.

The man who marries a nervous, neurotic girl will pass an exciting existence between hysterics and scenes.

Whereas, on the other hand, the man who marries a good-natured, sensible, reasonable, thrifty girl may count on getting a wife whose price is above rubies, and who will be a real helpmate to him.

There are plenty of both kinds of girls, and if a man gets the wrong sort it is his own fault because he picks her out. She's his choice.

If a man wants to be happy, though married, let him watch out for the danger signal, and when a girl flashes the red light of a high temper, or unreasonableness, or extravagance, or laziness, and thriftlessness before him to beat it back to safety.

LETTER TO "THE TIMES."

Keep it Sequoia.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of the Times:] The editorial note, "Fit and Proper," in issue of December 3, I think, concerning a renaming of Sequoia National Park, will, I am sure, call forth the opposition the same proposal did some years ago in California. Petitions were sent to Congress and letters written from the West, as well as our own particular State against such meddling with the Indian nomenclature of the past, especially in the rich romance heritage of the Coast of the Pacific. The writer has in possession a letter from Gen. Sherwood — Congressman Sherwood—from the Toledo district, for many terms up to the election of 1920 in which he assures the club women interested, "the measure will not come before the present Congress, if ever again. Plant trees and name them for political and war heroes, if you will, but in the name of everything grand, noble, artistic and appealing, keep desecrating hands from the 'big trees' that were growing when the Tyramids of the Nile were being built, and that were preserved for us by the Aborigines of the soil as objects of veneration."

Whoever wrote the editorial note suggesting that the changing of the name of the Sequoia National Park to "The Roosevelt" as being "Fit and Proper," wrote, I am persuaded, with scant consideration of the subject.

The argument is general; specifically, Roosevelt is a war and political hero to a minority of citizens. It isn't maligning the dead to speak truthfully of a public man, the memorializing of whom is a question for the people of the whole country to discuss. Individuals, groups, States, may build monuments, dedicate parks and mountains to their heroes if so they elect, but there is nothing fair, just nor "fitting" for Representatives of States thousands of miles away to decide for California how her marvels of great nature's bestowing shall be parceled out by the far-aways and indifferent.

It was President Roosevelt who threatened San Francisco with the militia because of her refusal to seat Japanese "schoolboys" (young men) with white children in her public schools. In the same communication he expressed the hope to "see citizenship for the Japanese made as easy in the United States as for other aliens." Roosevelt scored the State roundly in his address at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition for her advocacy of peace (while yet it seemed possible to hold the country for peace and neutrality.) His contempt was scathing. Why should California in this signal way permit him to be honored above all others?

Let the people of Roosevelt's State rechristen Oyster Bay for him: name park woods in the Catskills or the Adirondacks, or Central Park in his native city, in honor of his memory, but please leave our Sequoia park as it stands—in story, song, tradition and history.

Opposes Sterilization.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the news in one issue of last week, in the discussion of birth control, there was some approval given of the sterilization of the insane. To this penalty, because of their condition, I wish to object.

(1.) The above class of dependents being confined mostly as they are in State institutions do not disturb society and are not guilty of offending it in a manner that would make sterilization a good penalty. They are innocent mostly. In fact each State hospital is full of people who though called insane and supposed to be irresponsible in society, have lived such moral lives in such places that to sterilize them would be a gross and unjust act.

(2.) Insanity and kindred diseases are due to a lack of the functionings of various parts of the body and the sterilization of one of the parts of the body would conribution further to the diseases. The efforts should be to cure and to restore all the parts of the body to normality, so that they working, together as a whole might bring normality to the mind and body.

(3.) Born in the world as are the insane, feeble-minded, and epileptic, they are entitled to all the parts of their bodies and to their complete functionings, and to deprive them of one of them seems to me to be inspired by a thieving and jealous spirit.

(4.) To enact a law for the sterilization of the insane smacks very much of the matter of making eunuchs in the days of old Egypt and modern Turkey. I hope that Los Angeles society will not league itself with the paganism and foolishness of a Mohammedan Turkey by wishing for license to destroy one part of the human body I hope further that a little Christianity and good sense will show soon how the desire to sterilize is a contribution to paganism, which once pervaded Europe and is so decried today.

(5.) Insanity can sometimes be cured with proper care. To hate the insane to the extent of sterilizing them is to show a low degree of ability in the matter of curing them.

HERBERT CURTIS SMITH.

Self-Gratification.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The manner in which a certain correspondent deliberately flays the local ministers and church is enough to get any man's goat.

Presumably, some one likes his hooch and in all probability knows just where to get it so why run down the church? And besides, prohibition may eventually prove a failure.

The writer is not a churchgoer but is fully aware of what is taking place therein and that the church is quite abreast with any other organization, newspapers included, as far as is concerned the elevating of existing criminalistic for that is oversweeping the city.

With a jazz-crazed public that are losing all interest in God, it is to be expected that a minister does a bit of side stepping or even indulge in an occasional pulpit polka in an earnest endeavor to ascertain just what his people really demand. However, a poor preacher is better than none.

Owing to the fact that Marshal Foch himself is a religious man, it was of course, out of pure sympathetic foresight on the part of the ministerial union, their duty to denounce any attempt to expose or exemplify a sample case of American Sunday rowdyism before the eyes of the great hero. Much better would it have pleased the general to have led him to believe that we were all in church. Of course, Los Angeles desired, like other cities, to show off regardless of whether Foch appreciated it or not.

On the other hand Foch represents a country and people who have no intention of reducing armaments and in all prohibitities will not be persuaded to disarm. Americans are for peace, nevertheless, they turn out in all glory to greet Foch. The same crowd turned out to greet Carpentier and the same crowd would greet anyone were he sufficiently advertised. The marshal realized this and, in fact, has admitted a part of it and acted accordingly by showing special attention to a little child (something real.) Every man who witnessed the parade did so to satisfy his own curiosity and thereby please himself and not to please Marshal Foch.

CHARLES C. KELLY.

Local History.

EL MONTE, Dec. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Why is it that Californiahs are so ignorant of their own wonderful and romantic history? Why is it that any frenzied story that deals with olden times is received and accepted by the public as gospel truth.

For instance in a Los Angeles daily newspaper there has been running a series of articles under the heading, "The Romance of Los Angeles."

One would fancy that anyone attempting to write history would know enough to, first of all acquaint themselves with the economic conditions of the time—that they would first of all discover how the California of their time differs in its physical aspect from California of the days of the Dons.

Yet, in this alleged "Romance of California" we have references to pepper trees in the landscape, and only last week the eucalyptus trees figures in one of the historical sketches. At the time written about—before the American occupation, both varieties of trees were unknown in California. California was treeless except for oaks, willows, and cottonwoods and sycamores. Neither the pepper or the eucalyptus tree are native trees. The pepper is an importation from Peru and the eucalyptus from Australia, and the planting of the latter began to provide windbreaks for the orange groves in the early seventies. For instance, a certain officer in Stockton's army in describing the country between Montebello and Boyle Heights as it appeared when he marched over it in 1847, as a level, arid and treeless plain. The native Californians cared very little for trees and extensive tree planting did not begin till well after the American occupation.

Another ridiculous and misleading statement made recently in these articles was that "the mission Indians were despoiled of their lands, by the Californians, sometimes by trading for a bottle of whisky."

Nothing could be more absurd than this. There was no attempt made to take their lands away from the Indians until after the American occupation, when these Indian lands came under the homestead law, and, because the Indians had no title, they were located under that law. On this historical fact the story of Ramona is based.

Why should anyone want to deprive Indians of their little pieces of land, when, in those days land had no value. The first assessment in Los Angeles county made by Antonio Coronel, for instance, values all the lands along the Arroyo Seco, on the Los Angeles side as being worth 12½ cents per acre, and the land on the opposite side of the arroyo, now cumbered with millionaires' homes as being of "no value." So much for real estate values in 1850.

It was the firm belief of the native Californian that California would never be of any very great value, except for stock raising, which was practically the only industry with which they were acquainted.

Just why a great metropolitan paper, and the editor thereof, can be so easily bunkoed, into believing that these yarns are history is a mystery.

Milk is the rouge of Nature. It brings that beautiful flush of health to the cheek—the beauty that all admire.

Few people drink enough Fresh Milk. Many girls could drink one quart of Milk a day and help to put the roses in their cheeks.

Fresh Milk is not a cosmetic nor a patent medicine—it is the Natural Food for You. Drink it with your meals. Eat foods of which Fresh Milk is a part. The coloring that comes into your cheeks from internal health will not rub off.

A Home Is No Longer Complete Without Frigidaire

No More Ice

Frigidaire, the complete home refrigerator, cools itself. It requires no ice. It removes the uncertainty of an outside ice supply. It puts a stop to the dirt and mess that the ice man brings into your immaculate kitchen.

Frigidaire maintains an atmosphere in the food compartment at least 10 degrees colder than is possible with ice.

It freezes ice cubes for table use. It enables you to serve dainty frozen creams, ices and desserts.

Frigidaire is dependable. It is a product of The General Motors Corporation. It will probably cost you less to operate than you now pay for ice.

Let us send you a booklet which tells the story of Frigidaire. A request will bring it by mail. Or, you can see Frigidaire in operation at our store.

HIS CHRISTMAS PLANS GO AWRY.

Suspect is Held on Three Extortion Charges.

Money Demanded in Letters to Hollywood Men.

Threat of Exposure is Made by the Writer.

Instead of having his Christmas dinner in New York, Leo H. Randle, a milk deliverer in Hollywood, will eat it in the County Jail, it was indicated yesterday at his hearing in Justice Hanby's court. He was held to answer on three charges of extortion.

Testimony showed that Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Burton, 3514 London street; Mr. and Mrs. C. Billoni, 458 Madison street; and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Harrott, 3444 Plata street, received letters demanding payment of $75 before a certain time on threat of exposure for what the writer asserted was the making of liquor. It is charged Randle wrote the letters.

"You people do not know me," one letter says, "but I know you and I know that you are making whisky. Now I want to go East next week and I need $75. I am going to ask you to mail a cashier's check to Mr. A. A. Jones, general delivery, Hollywood, and I want that check to be there by Wednesday evening. If it is not, I will turn you over to the Federal officers for making booze.

"I have the proof on you, but if I get the check, I am going to leave town and will not bother you. But I mean what I say, so I am going to expect the check. Don't hesitate, for I want to eat Christmas dinner in New York."

The texts of letters were similar. The court fixed bail at $2500. Randle was committed to the County Jail to await trial. He will be there for Christmas, unless he furnishes bail.

WATCHMEN LAX AS FIRE FIGHTERS.

PLAN MEETINGS TO INSTRUCT THEM HOW TO ACT IN EMERGENCIES.

Business concerns of Los Angeles are urged to have their watchmen attend a meeting to be held today at 1 p.m. in Normal Hill Center Auditorium. At the meeting a thorough exposition of the best fire prevention methods will be given. Fire Chief Scott, Chief of Police Jones, Sheriff Traeger and other city department heads will discuss the subject in relation to lessening the fire hazard throughout the city.

The meeting was suggested by Chief Scott after fire inspectors reported that only about one in five private watchmen understand their duties in respect to prompt action in dealing with fires. Chief Scott will explain the workings of sprinkler systems and other preventive measures to which recourse may be had when fires are in an incipient stage.

The meeting is expected to be the first of similar gatherings. Watchmen will also be asked to visit fire stations at frequent intervals to acquire further information from the professional fire fighters and ask questions regarding contingencies that may arise.

"With thoroughly instructed watchmen on duty the fire hazard is reduced 50 per cent," said a fire inspector yesterday. "The plan of instructing the men on the ground what to do in an emergency ought to have the approval and active assistance of business men generally."

Councilmen Give Criswell Purse to Help Replace Stolen Hose.

Clerk Carroll passed the hat yesterday at the City Council after President Criswell had told of a burglar who robbed the Criswell home last Friday and took the president's ten pairs of socks. The collection yielded 11 cents. The fund was given President Criswell to be applied to the cost of new socks. Councilman Sparks remarked that while President Criswell was known in the campaign last June as "Cusser" Criswell new socks must be purchased or Mr. Criswell would, like the late Jerry Simpson of Kansas, be known as "Sockless" Criswell.

President Criswell denied the burglar got two gold watches. Mr. Criswell declared that one of the stolen watches had worn down to the plate, and the other watch would not run. It was the loss of the socks that hurt.

HELD AS ATTACKER.

Man Accused by Girl Nabbed in Vacant Lot.

Charged with having attempted to attack Miss Merle Loyd, 18 years of age, who stated that she lives in the 300 block on West Third street, Carl Connelly, 34 years of age, a salesman, was arrested early yesterday morning by Patrolmen Tyler and Hammett.

Connelly was arrested when Miss Loyd's screams attracted the officers to a vacant lot near Third street and Arden Boulevard early yesterday morning. They discovered the young woman on the ground with most of her clothing torn off and Connelly standing over her.

At Central Police Station the young woman told the police that she had gone for an automobile ride with Connelly and that he had attempted to mistreat her when they reached the spot where the officers found them.

JAILED PAIR CONFESS TO AUTO THEFT

Detectives Seek to Link Suspects to Slaying of Two Patrolmen.

After obtaining a partial confession from Frank G. Stump, alias Frank Harland, and Robert De Rolf, who were arrested in a rooming-house near Seventh and Flower streets Tuesday and charged with the theft of an automobile, Detectives Erven, Hickok and Raymond of the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California yesterday began an attempt to connect the prisoners with the murder of Patrolmen William L. Brett and Harry Ciester.

Stump, who was booked under the name of Harland, told the police he was convicted of burglary last April and was released under five years' probation. He stated that with De Rolf he stole an automobile in this city and drove it to San Francisco and back again. The two denied having stolen the jewelry and furs found in their rooms and stated that they had never used the three revolvers found concealed in their apartments.

The Automobile Club detectives declared yesterday that they could place the two prisoners in Boyle Heights the night of the double murder and may be able to connect them with the shooting. Efforts will be made today to identify them as burglars who have been operating in the Boyle Heights district for the past month.

FUNDS FOR POOR ASKED BY SANTAS.

Twenty-five Seek Money to Aid Salvation Army in Christmas Campaign.

St. Nicholas, alias Santa Claus, is not only leading a dual life, but he appeared in twenty-five different places in Los Angeles yesterday at the same time. In every case he was soliciting funds for the Salvation Army, which yesterday started its Christmas campaign for the benefit of the poor of Los Angeles.

In addition to the St. Nicks, 300 other enthusiastic workers, all of them women, were on the streets soliciting pennies, this work being under the direction of Mrs. Edna B. Jones, with headquarters in the red room of the Angelus Hotel.

Twenty-five kettles were set up on the street corners in the downtown section and all day long coins ranging from a penny to $1 went clinking into these receptacles.

"So far the response to our appeal has been most generous," said Brig. C. R. Boyd last night, "and it appears as if the fortunate ones of the city are going to see to it that their less fortunate brothers and sisters get a real dinner on Christmas Day."

This special campaign, in charge of the women, will end Saturday, although the Santa Claus drive will be continued until nearly Christmas.

War's Disabled May be Denied Yuletide Cheer.

Disabled and invalided ex-service men now in local hospitals will be denied the Christmas cheer that has hitherto come to them through the Red Cross unless the public comes to their aid. This was made clear through a statement issued yesterday by the Los Angeles chapter of the Red Cross, in which donations of candy, fruit, neckties, handkerchiefs, socks, cigarettes and similiar Christmas gifts or the money with which to purchase them, are asked. Such donations should be sent to the Red Cross, room 300, Coulter Building, 218 South Broadway. The statement reads:

"Since the signing of the armistice, the Los Angeles Chapter of the Red Cross has, at Christmas time of each year, attempted to cheer those unfortunate men who are in hospitals or sanatoriums in and about the City of Los Angeles.

"Annually the chapter has furnished these men with Christmas boxes containing cigarettes, candy, fruit, neckties, handkerchiefs, socks and other remembrances. Most of these men are hundreds, even thousands of miles from their folks. Their surroundings in the Yuletide season are depressing and hard for them to endure.

"This year the Red Cross will be unable to extend this relief to the men in the hospitals, because of the fact that this year's roll call has not raised sufficient money to properly take care of the routine relief that must be given to the men in general.

"The chapter, therefore, requests the public to send their donations of money, fruit, candy, etc., to room 300, Coulter Building, 218 South Broadway, so that we may immediately prepare a little cheer to lighten a situation that is pitiful in the extreme."

KILLED IN CRASH.

Los Angeles Musician Dies in Massachusetts Wreck.

News of the death in Barrington, Mass., last Saturday, of Miss Anita Forest, well known in Los Angeles musical circles, was received here yesterday by friends of the Forest family, among them being Mrs. M. A. Munro, 3928 Michigan avenue. Miss Forest, who was returning to her home at Fall River, Mass., from a musical recital, which she had given at Providence, R. I., when she was instantly killed in a collision of the automobile in which she rode with a Providence-bound train. Three of Miss Forest's sisters were badly injured in the wreck. Miss Forest, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Forest of Fall River, visited Los Angeles a year ago, and had made many friends here, especially among people of the French colony.

SOMETHING JUST AS GOOD.

It doth appear that more than one-third of the drug stores in Brooklyn are owned by men who were formerly saloon-keepers. When a man once forms the habit of ministering to the ailments of his fellow-sufferers he cannot easily abandon it.

BIG GAME HUNTERS.

Nineteen men were killed and fifty-two wounded in the deer-hunting season in the Adirondacks in New York. There is more class in being shot for a deer in New York than there is in being plugged for a jack rabbit in Arizona, but it hurts about the same.

TREATING AND TREATIES.

Hungary has ratified the peace treaty with the United States. The treaty of Washington has been signed by the four powers. The Irish treaty has been agreed to. Treating is no longer the national sport in this country, but the Christmas spirit is reflected in the mass of treaty-making now going on.

THE EYES HAVE IT.

Bishop Nicholson of the Methodist Church wants to know whether we are going to raise our daughters as Peggy Joyces or Frances Willards. As Peggy has a couple of million dollars' worth of diamonds in Paris it is likely that the Peggys would make quite a showing if we left it to a vote of the girls themselves.

OUT ON PAROLE.

Another knock on the parole system. A convict who had been sentenced to San Quentin for twenty-five years for murder was given freedom on parole. Now he has been burglarizing postoffices and homes and otherwise behaving in a scandalous way. Even a course in a penitentiary will not make a good man out of a bad one.

SEAL OF THE LIPS.

When a girl says she is collecting lip-prints nowadays it doesn't mean anything. She is just surrendering to a fad that is popular with the flappers. The lips of the victim are moistened with rouge and then impressed upon a card which is duly signed and lettered and filed away with the rest of the collection. They are trying to demonstrate that there is character and individuality in the lines of the lips. The study might at least become fascinating.

THE PEACE PROGRAM.

If we are not to talk war any more the graduates of West Point and Annapolis will have no commands awaiting them. It would be sad if some of our embryo admirals had to shout their orders from the hurricane deck of a five-and-ten-cent store or our young captains had to lead their men on surveying expeditions to open new subdivisions. But the training will not all have been in vain. Discipline and patriotism make a good foundation for any American.

A PRINCE THERE IS.

The Prince of Wales appears to be also making something of a hit in India. He participates in the pastimes and affairs of the people and proves a good mixer in a country where mixing is difficult and dangerous. The Prince is a good rider and won two first and two seconds in a single day's racing. It wasn't all courtesy, either, as the young man had to ride on his merits in most events. The tour of India was considered with much apprehension, but the results are likely to strengthen the empire.

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY.

Herbert Hoover's first report as Secretary of Commerce shows a saving of something like $4,000,000 from the estimates of the cost of his department. This would be in accordance with a program of economy and efficiency, but Secretary Hoover is not anxious to make a record for economy alone. He desires a reorganization of his department as an agency for the extension of American trade and industry. Our exports are falling at this moment and Secretary Hoover knows that this situation can be improved. He wants to eliminate some of the barnacles of the service and concentrate his forces on definite projects for national good. He prefers to be efficient rather than economical, but finds that they go hand in hand. Being efficient in the service of the government is being economical. The average American would like to see Herbert Hoover given a free hand. It might disrupt the politicians a bit, but it would do the country a lot of good.

BEHIND THE THRONE.

Prince Rene of Bourbon Parma, who is a brother of Empress Zita, says that the exile of Emperor Charles and Zita was brought about by an American conspiracy. American capitalists have taken over a lot of royal and ducal properties in Austria, but could not be assured of their future while a monarch was at the door. So Charles was flattered and made to believe that he had only to show himself in order to command the support of his people. Of course, it was a fiasco. Charles was seized by representatives of the government in power and his exile to Madeira decreed by the Great Council. Prince Rene declares that all this was figured in advance by the American speculators. Now he is going to get even with the speculators by coming to America and embarking in the bond business. He is going to sell 'em securities. If he can hand a block of Arkansas oil stock to these Wall street sharks he figures to play even for the wrong done his house.

OUR NEW INFANT PLUTOCRACY.

A palpitating world breathlessly hears that a precocious small boy of 6 years, whom the film industry has chosen to make a "star," will receive $2,500,000 for working four hours a day for six months in the pictures. This is proclaimed as his share of $15,000,000 which the public will pay to see his infantile antics on the screen.

This sum would pay the Presidents of the United States their combined salaries for more than 30 years. It would support 25,000 families for a year at $1000 a year. It would pay the salaries of all the college and university presidents in the country for nearly three years.

But we are told that one ordinary little boy with a gift for play-acting before the camera is to receive this amount for 156 hours of that play-acting. It is estimated that something like 25,000,000 people will pay to see this child's performances. Performances in which a little boy 6 years old gets in and out of various kinds of mischief, slightly more concentrated than similar small boys of his age manage to crowd into their ordinary daily lives—where somehow it isn't half so entertaining and attractive.

This small boy is already described to us as a "millionaire." And after this $2,500,000 contract he may confidently count upon others, if there isn't a slump in the public's attraction to infantile diablery. And as these pictures come under the comprehensive heading of "clean" pictures, notwithstanding their tendency to exploit mischievous small boys as "so cute," the producers will enjoy a clear conscience.

At the same time, we hear lugubrious tales of a slump in the motion-picture industry. Most of the large studios are partly closed. Many thousands of people are said to be facing grievous unemployment. We are, in fact, led to believe the industry is in a bad way. Although the public appears to be as film-faithful as ever and new theaters are going up in every city, each more luxurious than the last; although prices have not gone down and although "censorship" has not increased to any measurable degree, we are exhorted to aid and abet in the protection and encouragement of this industry in every way, implored to do nothing that will hamper it artistically, morally or financially.

Under the circumstances one can't help wondering what is the matter with the film industry? Could it possibly be extravagance and wastefulness in production, in incredible and disproportionate salaries to the "stars," for instance? Can it be that small boys 6 years old, with a facility for grimaces, for wearing caps cutely on the back of their heads, for swaggering through five reels in precocious mischief, are not exactly worth the price of thirty years of United States Presidents?

And this small boy is but one of several competing for our adulation? Several others are offered for our delectation, with the confounding information that they receive dizzy salaries, which few who witness their performance could ever hope to earn in ten years of productive industry. The film industry seems bent upon producing a coterie of infant millionaires—baby plutocrats, made in Hollywood. Strictly, of course, in the provision of "what the public wants." And we are asked to believe, vide the press agent, that they are delightful, unspoiled children, quite unmarred by their wealth and success. Innocent, attractive little millionaires who can live in stylish mansions, own two or three motor cars, indulge their every whim and fancy—nothing like the wicked capitalistic millionaires whose wealth has accrued to them through mighty commercial enterprises, whose enterprise builds up nations, whose sagacity gives employment to hundreds of thousands—by which, incidentally, most of those 25,000,00 fans who will see those pictures made under the $2,500,000 contract, are enabled to do so, in addition to all the other pictures they will view and support, all containing lavishly paid stars and boastfully extravagant settings.

Of course, it makes a good deal of difference who the dazzling millionaire is and how he made his millions. If he is a 6-year-old with a profitable grin and cute little ways he is a subject for public adulation and the richer he is the more we are expected to like him. But if he is a grown man whose perspicacity, foresight, courage and efficiency have built up a great public utility he is at best an object of suspicion and the pet butt of the yellow newspapers.

The film industry, however, cannot be wholly blamed for exploiting these precocious youngsters, even if the salaries paid them seem out of all proportion to their or anybody else's worth. For the public obviously has a fatuous weakness for this sort of entertainment. But whether it will amount to $15,000,000 worth of weakness, as estimated by the producers for this particular contract, remains to be seen. There will be another mighty wail in movieland if it doesn't. But it is just possible that even a fatuous public will lose its devotion for small-boy precocity after one or two pictures—and this contract calls for five or six of them—and it is admittedly hard to find a variety of original stories calling for the same sort of infantile antics and the naughtiness which is so attractive on the screen and so irritating in real life.

That would seem to be one of the things that the film industry has not learned—i.e., variety is the spice of life. One successful film is followed by a dozen imitations—and the public fancy is short-lived. Not only the subjects, but the very titles and subtitles, are imitated over and over again ad nauseam. But, unlike a good soap or a good shoe-blacking, one form of entertainment cannot become a household commodity in perpetuity, no matter how strong the advertising or how expensive the production. And the present slump in the film industry may be blamed quite as much on the star system, with its wearisome exploitation of a single personality in particular kinds of parts, as upon its extravagance and wastefulness in production.

The success of this particular small boy can be safely counted upon to inspire the exploitation of small boys galore—a frantic competition in the affections of the public for small boys who, indulging those same antics in every-day life, would be regarded as neighborhood nuisances. It's bound to pall after a time—and then perhaps we shall have another wail about starving picture stars—small boys who should have become millionaires, but somehow missed it.

And strictly from the point of view of the precocious infants, is it really advisable to create a coterie of overrich youngsters, who found wealth so easy of attainment in four hours a day for six months? They may possibly be unspoiled at this writing, even as the press agents so enthusiastically assert—but we may not find them quite so innocent and unspoiled a few years hence in a trade in which grown men and women lose their heads and so frequently emerge as public scandals. Yet this particular small boy's rewards will certainly inspire parents everywhere to exploit their precocious children in the films—where naughtiness is so profitable.

"Here's Your Hat, What's Your Hurry?"

CADS AND CADDIES.

Having effectually ruined the ancient sport of horse racing, having killed boxing in nearly every State in the Union, having left an ugly scar on the reputation of baseball, the professional gamblers have turned their attention to golf.

In an indignant article printed in The Times "Chick" Evans tells how the sporting gentry followed him over the course during his recent match with Jesse Guilford, making remarks intended to confuse and rattle him to the damage of his playing. The gambler who was most active in this badgering won $7000 on the match by reason of Evans's defeat.

While it is a great pity that this, the finest of all amateur sports, should be undermined by crooks, it must be confessed that the jingle of high stake money is not a sound absolutely unfamiliar to most big golf courses.

Until now golf has been free of the polluting influence of these twenty-on-the-red hyenas who foul everything they touch. Nevertheless, there has always been betting, and for high stakes, on golf.

The men to whom the old game means most are probably horrified and justly resentful of this mercenary invasion of the links But before they can proceed with very good grace to begin any great hue and cry against gambling they would do well to put strictly in force the house rules against wagers among themselves.

STILL IN EXISTENCE.

When the jitney busses were running wild in Los Angeles a few years ago union organizers got hold of many of the drivers and herded them into an organization. They painted a great future and freely prophesied that within a comparatively short period the jitney Jehus would be controlling traffic in this city. Some of them went so far as to declare that it wouldn't be long before the rails of the street car companies would be torn up and the yellow and red coaches put in the museum along with the saber-toothed tiger and other curiosities. But the busses, many of them dingy and dirty and some driven by devil-may-care drivers who were suspected of being linked with hold up men and other scoundrels, soon became such a nuisance that the people of Los Angeles voted them off the streets. The trolley companies continue to exist. But, according to their applications to the State Railroad Commission, the concerns still find it extremely difficult to make both ends meet; in fact, one of them says that the ends never have got together—the outgo has always exceeded the income. This company has its strongest competition in the interurban bus lines. It would appear that, in regard to these, the trolley company must make up its mind that they will always be rivals, or until airplanes come into general use. Even then the gasoline car will continue to win traffic from the electric coach because it can travel along routes which are not steel-bound. The State Railroad Commission has, however, adopted a commendable policy in refusing to allow an unlimited increase of motor car competition. The electric lines have performed a service of inestimable value to Southern California in the past and they are deserving of proper protection.

THE BIG TOWN.

It is said that the building operations in the City of New York for the year will reach $350,000,000. It will be seen that Los Angeles still has quite a mark to shoot at. However, New York claims to have nearly ten times the population of this city. The building permits here for the year will reach $80,000,000. If New York would show ten times as much it would be a still greater wonder.

CRIME WAVES.

In spite of 200 new policemen the crime wave will doubtless continue to surge; it is unfair to expect too much of the police force.

In the circumstances they do extraordinarily well. With the growth of enormous cities and with the advantage that the general use of automobiles gives to criminals the police problem has become one of stupendous proportions.

The cause of crime waves is something that has nothing to do with the strength of a police force. As a general thing criminals are young boys of adventurous dispositions who cannot endure, for various reasons, the hard, pounding monotony of industrial life.

Modern industrial conditions call for a brand of heroism that is lacking in a dangerously large proportion of the population. It takes real moral courage and a high degree of imagination to find interest and continued pleasure in an occupation that does not vary. Any boy can tackle a new job with interest and enthusiasm and "pep" for a week; but it takes a boy with real stuff in him to come to work every day for five years and feel the same enthusiasm on the morning of the 1225th day.

With the continued intensification of industry the business of the average man's life tends to grow more and more monotonous. Hence more crime.

The experience of most policemen and sociologists is that the typical criminal is a boy who got tired of his job and wanted a thrill. Once started on the wrong road to travel he finds it hard to turn back.

Crime waves increase in direct ratio to industrial conditions.

There will always be criminals as long as there are boys who are unequal to the industrial struggle, either from lack of character or lack of brains—or both.

Wars are always followed by a rise in crime for the reason that boys have found industrial life too tame and too hard after the army. They can't endure the wearing monotony. And they lack the imagination to see the wonderfully interesting things that lie behind all monotonous jobs. As a matter of fact, there are never two days alike, no matter how apparently dull the occupation. But there are many men who lack the brains to see that this is so. And so we have criminals.

It is a matter of experience that, with better industrial conditions, crime waves die down of themselves.

When in the midst of such a feverish and abnormal condition all that can be done is to increase the police force and sit tight and grin and bear it until normalcy arrives.

HENRY THE GIANT JUNK MAN.

The appearance of Henry Ford in Washington in the role of the Giant Junk Man gives a new twist to the biblical phrase about the transformation of swords into plowshares. It is "fleets into flivvers" now. If the other nations will agree to the Hughes program Henry will back his wagon up to Uncle Sam's door and take away the scrap heap.

Armor plate which yearned to match its strength with shells will find itself in axles that bear peaceful folk to picnics. Steel which hoped to vibrate to the lethal music of the fighting tops will find itself in a four-inch cylinder, subject to the caprices of a smutty spark plug. Metal which longed to feel the tap of an admiral's heel will be beaten into thin plates for hoods. Tinkle, tinkle!

It would be more dramatic to take the condemned ships out to sea and drop them into the caves of Neptune. But the world has had plenty of theatricals these last seven years. Henry Ford is not dramatic when it comes to shop management. If he says he can take a battleship down and make money out of the metal he means it. And if he can make something useful out of something wasteful and pay money to the government for the privilege, so much the better for the national bank roll.—[New York Herald.

SOCIETY BEASTS.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Elinor Glyn has another article in the January Cosmopolitan entitled "You Americans Are Making Beasts of Yourselves."

It is a very nasty article. And it purports to depict American "society," the very best people, the social elect of us, and it claims that our standards are low and thoroughly rotten.

And Madame Glyn claims to know them thoroughly—and to have suffered unbelievable experiences in their ranks. She says she is talking about "society leaders" and presumably not the fast Hollywood fraternity with whom she spent so much of her time. And she finds them drunken and immoral, and that even those who are not drunken and immoral themselves amiably tolerate and condone the drunkenness and immorality of those that are. She tells luscious stories of drunken men and women at smart parties, instance after instance, and declares she could add to them indefinitely. She says ours is the only country that does not consider public drunkenness as an everlasting disgrace, which regards it as a subject of amusement. And she thinks it is "worse than wicked—it is vulgar."

All of which fits in very appropriately with the Sunday supplements of the other Hearst publications, which devote a section every week to the scandals and degradation of society people. Nevertheless, we can't help feeling that Madame Glyn has been unfortunate in her associates, that her longer sojourn in Hollywood has furnished most of her examples and that perhaps she has mistaken the fast smart set in America, which is extant likewise in every country, for "society."

And it is well to remember that the sort of book for which Madame Glyn is famous, notwithstanding the fact that her heroes and heroines specialize in other vices than drunkenness, is liable to attract a particular class of persons within her radius. She asserts, of course, that the vulgar misinterpret her loftier emotional passages into baseness and a degradation never intended by her—but the fact remains that they can be and are so interpreted by the dubious-minded and that such people are apt to be among her most ardent admirers. And that even the cultured and refined are apt to make the same misinterpretation, but in their case their admiration is missing.

Although Madame Glyn's heroes and heroines are not recorded as drunkards in those loftily emotional novels of hers, some of the things they do could be better excused if perpetrated under the influence of drink. In fact, in her picture, "The Great Moment," even Elinor stoops to borrow this expedient for her fair young heroine, who becomes virtuously drunk at the hands of her protecting hero—strictly for snake-bite—on which basis all the rest of the story hinges. If that fine dominating specimen of masculinity, one of nature's aristocrats, had not had a handy bottle of whisky and plied it so disastrously, although being such a fine fellow, he must have known the general and usual effect of an overdose of the fiery nectar—there wouldn't have been any "great moment."

One may concede that a good deal that Madame Glyn says is true—of some sets of society. But, even so, we are left with the feeling that Glyn isn't the person to criticise it. Whether she approves it or no, her own reputation is that of a writer of daring books in which certain kinds of immorality, purporting, to be sure, to be the quintessential essence of the loftier "grande passion," are presented for the delectation and sympathetic approval of her readers, many of whom, most of whom, can scarcely be expected to have the same exquisite sybaritic emotional discriminations of the "cultured elect" for whom alone she would have us believe she writes. She affects to despise the "vulgar," yet, poor lady, it is among the vulgar that her profitable sales are chiefly effected. The public libraries, for some occult reason, have not risen to a proper understanding of Elinor's nobler motives and ungraciously bar her works from their shelves. But the sort of people who buy and read Elinor are not necessarily devotees of the public libraries. On the other hand, most of the fast sets of whom Elinor writes so disgustedly are among her faithful readers.

It is safe to conjecture that most of the unpleasantly vulgar people, in whose society she found the inspiration for her diatribe, had read her very faithfully—just the fact that she was an honored guest among them would assure that. When I myself was to meet her I hastened to inform myself on her writings. All of us did. And I am evidently not among the properly refined, cultured elect, for I felt as if I was moving in very aristocratic but alarmingly unmoral circles while reading them. Yet we can only presume that the kind of society people Elinor writes about are the kind she approves of—and they do everything BUT get drunk.

I, too, have been to such parties as Madame Glyn describes. But I never for a moment imagined myself in "society." At best they were the "fringe." They are the sets that support such places as Vernon used to be before prohibition—and every country everywhere has its Vernons and such sets. In making her odious comparisons Madame Glyn finds us the only people in the world who tolerate drunkenness, "a man who was seen drunk at two or three parties would never be asked out again," she tells us—in other countries. Which goes far to convince us that Madame Glyn moved in respectable, upper-middle-class society in England and certainly never visited the notorious "night clubs" of the smart set in London, so expensive and so radiantly improper, in which quite a number of "prominent" people became involved. But they weren't England's "society" people any more than ours are, excepting just once in a way—even as the refined Elinor must have found herself in strange places in this country. Now if only our own respectable, upper-middle-class society had taken Elinor under their wing in this country, how different her opinion might have been of us. But they, dear souls, feared Elinor, even as Elinor fears the sort of people who evidently did welcome her.

Of course, if Madame Glyn has set out to reform dubious smart sets we can only say more power to her. It is merely a question of nomenclature. She and we seem to be discussing a different stratum. That's all. Or can it be that Elinor has misinterpreted "society" even as "society" has misinterpreted Elinor?

EDITORIAL OPINION.

It is still the practice to assume that in disputes over railroad wages and labor conditions the controversy is between the employers and railroad owners. This is misleading. The collision of interests is between railway workers and railway patrons. For a long time now railway owners have received only restricted earnings. It follows that increased operating costs fall on the public and, conversely, that it is benefited by lowered operating costs.—[New York Tribune.

It is fear of war that will compel peace. War today overhangs civilization like the Sword of Damocles, suspended by a hair. And if world war occurs again it threatens destruction to all. PEN POINTS

By the Editor

Why doesn't Congress do something about bobbed hair and short skirts?

This is one of the long months of all the alleged years. We have the holidays and the tax paying time—one merry round of pleasure.

It is now claimed by some naturalists that when a man kisses a young woman's hand he is merely imitating the ape. Why should the ape be thus scandalized?

Prince Tokugawa, at the head of the Japanese delegation to the arms parley, is the last of the Tokugawa guns. It promises to be a cold winter for the Gun Smiths.

The United States Interior Secretary is hunting for a specimen of the rare "coney" rabbit for the purpose of classification. They have abandoned all hope of finding a real calm chewder.

The arrest of Charles W. Nash, the fleeing American financier, as he landed in France made interesting reading to Attorney Daugherty. Map furnished on application at the business office.

The Postoffice Department will run at a loss the past year, but the service has been improved so that is worth money. Profit was never intended that the postoffice should be a money maker.

Examinations are to be held in Los Angeles on the local police force. Among the things in which applicants must be adept is marksmanship. That is our idea of about the last thing a copper should be required to do.

Politics is functioning. Representative Arants announces that he will make the race for United States Senator from Tennessee to succeed Key Pittman, Democrat. Is anybody called Samuel mentioned in Holy Writ?

A Massachusetts paper says "short skirts should be ten inches from the ground 'that they may not get wet by snow in an ordinary winter.'" By that rule how far from the ground should the skirts of Los Angeles women be?

The attention of Secretary Hughes and other members of the arms parley is called to the fact that the meeting of the Supreme Court of the Southwest broke up in a fight. Why not have a pugilistic exhibition among the delegates?

It used to be said that there would be a penalty of hell to pay with the German reparations the business. But the new variety are better than that. The Nuremberg Witch has been supplanted by the Flapper as the bane of the children of Israel.

Another "cure for cancer" is announced. It is a herb tea which medical research has directed for more than a century. Some day a cure will be discovered. In the meantime the toll of death is going on and Cancer is killing more people than tuberculosis.

Things always come out right after all. Just when the people beginning to lament the lack of prayers in this city and declare that something ought to be done about it the committee of the Y. M. C. A. Association announces a prayer section. Another crop of prayers ought to fill a long felt want.

Gandhi, the Indian Nationalist prophet, is making all kinds of trouble for the English government in India. He refuses to countenance violence. His aim is to educate the people to refrain from using violence against the British government. His policy is the opposite of obstruction. The British government fears him as it would fear no living individual.

Under the provisions of the building bill to be brought before congress and to which there is general agreement the United States will debt due the United States from foreign governments is to be funded into obligations maturing not earlier than June 15, 1947, nor later than June 15, 1962, with interest at not less than 4½ per cent. There is no hint that the principal or interest will be canceled. The time is ripe to give the foreign nations opportunity to set their financial houses in order.

A PETITION TO UNCLE SAM.

The sorrowing nations of Europe
Appeal to you, Uncle Sam,
Afflicted, baffled, crushed and broke,
As a friend you have proved to be.

And the world's debt you've served.

This task, so unselfishly performed

And our wish, we know,
yours to command,
Is this confidence to heed.
God give you the power of peace, Uncle Sam,

FIRE UNDER CONTROL

Three Flames Are Subdued After Fight at Sawtelle.

Fire which was reported to be burning furiously in Dry Canyon, back of the Veterans' Home in Sawtelle, was under control last night, according to a report to County Forester Eric Wall. The report stated that fire breaks had been built, and that an unexpected wind sprang up the fire will die down.

Max Stanley, a motion picture actor, was sentenced yesterday to 180 days in jail by Justice of Peace Sherman for starting a fire in Holly Canyon, near Verdugo Pass. The sentence was suspended.

In Glendale, Jack La Rue, motion picture actor, was sentenced to 180 days in jail by Justice Miller for starting a brush fire near Cahuenga Pass. Lala was clearing some land when the fire had gained considerable headway in a stiff breeze. Deputy Fire Warden Hamilton discovered foresters discovered that the fire was based on violations of the county emergency ordinance prohibiting burning brush between January 15.

PURSE IS STOLEN IN CROWDED STREET

Pickpockets operating in the downtown street car late yesterday afternoon took from W. T. Rawleigh, of the Lankershim Hotel a purse containing $250 and some other articles. Mr. Black reported to the police that he was crowded by a number of men while boarding a car at Fifth street and Broadway and missed his purse a short time afterward.

COLORADO RIVER PROJECT ON AN ASSURED BASIS.

Obstacles Cleared Away, Director Davis Says in Talk Here; Other States Now Solidly in Line.

BY C. F. HAYDEN.

At last they are getting down to business on the Colorado River project. For long years men have talked hazily, if enthusiastically, of the tremendous benefits to accrue in a dim and undefined future when the mighty stream would be harnessed and put to work. Volumes of conversation and no way to underwrite it! Now high officials of the Federal government and representative men of the Southwest are talking very definitely and concretely about starting the work and putting it through.

Director Davis of the United States Reclamation Service thrilled a large audience at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday when he presented staggering figures on what the tamed river will do and said these figures are not guesswork, but cold facts obtained and verified by thorough engineering investigation. He stirred his hearers again when he said that at last he can see the way clear to surmount the obstacles that have stood in the way. Representatives of Colorado and Wyoming, States that have been skeptical concerning the solution of interstate problems, were frankly and enthusiastically outspoken yesterday in their belief that the Southwest can now get behind the project and consummate it for the benefit of the people of this day and generation.

AT EPOCHAL STAGE.

Recognizing the potency of Colorado River development in building a great industrial empire here, the events of the past few days may well be regarded as epochal. The Secretary of the Interior, the Hon. Albert F. Fall, has been here and declared that he is behind the project with the idea and purpose of putting it through. Yesterday's Chamber of Commerce meeting sounded a keynote of new understanding between the States.

Mr. Davis referred to the Colorado River as the largest and most important in the semiarid region of the United States. He said that its waters can irrigate more than 10,000,000 acres of land and generate millions of horsepower. Then he added enough, he said, to make it is feasible to irrigate the entire basin and at the same time utilize the stream efficiently to generate power.

NEW VIEWPOINT.

A new and interesting viewpoint was presented by Mr. Davis toward the close of his talk. He has been interested in the project for more than twenty years, and says that a reservoir to control the waters and be large enough so that it will fill up with silt would be a project of titanic proportions. He believed if there could be a market for power and for irrigation to be sufficient to justify such undertaking. Now Los Angeles and other communities of the State, he said, have grown and developed tremendously. Now the project is here, he said, and the project, great though it is, is feasible. It has always been feasible as an engineering project. It is now feasible from an economic and commercial viewpoint.

Mr. Davis declared that the waters of the river, flowing through seven States and two countries, should be apportioned equitably and such equitable apportionment be consummated for all time. He believes the formation of the Colorado River Interstate Commission by Act of Congress and the legislature of seven States will lead to such an agreement between States. He says a great storage dam and reservoir in the lower basin can be built without prejudicing the right of the upper States. The margin of waste over all needs, he said, is sufficient to make an agreement satisfactory to every State.

Mr. Davis announced that borings for bedrock will soon be started by his department in Black Canyon and explained that Black Canyon is merely a continuation downstream of Boulder Canyon.

EQUITABLE BASIS PLEASES.

L. Ward Bannister of Denver, in one of the most eloquent addresses ever heard here, spoke feelingly of the encouragement he had received by the declarations at Secretary Fall's hearing that the Colorado River project will be handled on the basis of an equitable division of benefits. That, he said, is what Colorado wants.

His fears had been aroused, he said, by the reports that the City of Los Angeles proposed to build a dam at Boulder Canyon and develop its powers. He feared Los Angeles wanted it all. He expressed his pleasure and relief to find such is not really the case.

Mr. Bannister spoke of the visit to the Southwest of Secretary Fall and Director Davis as an epochal event. He painted an inspiring word picture of the great future of the Southwest and of the Pacific Coast. He foresees great industrial development, vast commerce and increased wealth and population as the result of the power to be derived from the Colorado River.

GREATEST OF PROJECTS.

Frank C. Emerson, State Engineer of Wyoming spoke of the Colorado project, as the greatest engineering project ever conceived. The States interested need a better understanding, he said, and there is a solid foundation for such an understanding and agreement in the fact there is an abundant water supply from the river, enough for all.

Capt. Henry J. Zeigenier, commander of the Battleship California, was present at the luncheon with staff officers of the California. He said the California is the last work in battleship construction, the most powerful in existence. He spoke of the increasing number of men and the need for extension of athletic facilities ashore. President Weaver assured him of the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce in this respect. Capt. Zeigenier announced that the California will be made the flagship of the Pacific Fleet next Tuesday.

Christmas carols were sung in chorus under the direction of Miss Antoinette Savel, in charge of the industrial music department.

Bandits Escape but Deputies Arrest Youths.

Four deputy sheriffs, who went to Inglewood yesterday morning to chase four bandits who held up a poolhall there, failed to get the bandits, but later arrested Materna and Diskin Brothers, who were accused of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

The deputies had hurried to Inglewood when a report was heard of a gun fight. Marshal [illegible] had with the bandits. Mr. Reynolds was shot in the head but not seriously injured. He got five holes in the bandit's automobile and wounded one bandit.

The car was later recovered by the Inglewood police. It had been stolen from H. D. Dowan, 346 West Forty-seventh street.

The two youths were arraigned before Justice Hanby, who fixed bail at $1500 each. They failed to furnish bail and were lodged in the County Jail.

FIRE UNDER CONTROL.

Flames Are Subdued after Fight at Sawtelle.

Fire which was reported at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning to be burning furiously in the lumber yard of the Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle, was under control at an early hour, according to word received at the County Forester Flintham. The report stated that fire breaks had been built and that, unless a sudden wind springs up, the blaze will die down.

Jack Lain, a motion-picture actor, was sentenced yesterday to serve ten days in jail by Justice Powell of Hermosa for starting a brush fire in Bailey Canyon, near Calabasas Park. The sentence was suspended.

Lain, a stanch defender, was sentenced to fifteen days in jail by Justice Miller for starting a brush fire near Sunland. The fire, starting some land and causing considerable damage, was fanned by a stiff breeze when Lain was discovered by Forest Rangers and was fined on the charge of violating the city ordinance governing burning brush before January 11.

Wife Won't Wait Until Husband Settles Down.

Although Roy P. Dell announced that when he had chased around enough he would in all probability settle down with his wife, he will not be given that opportunity, for yesterday Edna E. Dell sued him for divorce, charging cruelty.

According to the complaint, which was prepared by Attorney William H. Irons, Mr. Dell stayed away from home for a month and then came back. After his return, however, he made a practice of staying away evenings, the complaint recites. One morning he was chided by his wife for his lack of interest in his home and he replied, the complaint states, that "when I have gone the limit and had enough chasing around, maybe I will come back to you and settle down." He left and has not been seen since.

Just before his departure, according to the complaint, he announced that the woman he was going with was "going to give me a nice present for Christmas" and after that he would have nothing to do with her.

CONFESSED SLAYER'S STORY FOUND FALSE.

PRISONER'S TALE DISPROVED BY INVESTIGATION, SAY OFFICERS.

George Christman's tale of the murder of Blanche Dorothy Falkingham in New York is now undergoing the acid test, it was stated yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Wright and Strong, who are investigating the case.

Christman, alias George St. Jean, is now in the County Jail, having pleaded guilty, with his co-defendant, W. M. Carlson, to driving an automobile not his own. His hearing on probation is set for the 22nd inst., before Judge Houser.

In telling of the supposed slaying of the Falkingham woman in New York, the young man informed the officers that he had obtained a lavalliere, a diamond ring and $63 from her, and that he pawned them in Uncle Sam's Loan Office on Eighth avenue, near Fourteenth street. The deputies wired to the New York police to check up on this statement, but received the reply that Blanche Falkingham was in Los Angeles at the time she was said to have been murdered. She is now said to be in Oregon.

The deputies have declined to listen to Christman's accounts further, saying nothing he has told so far has been borne out by investigation.

POCKET IS STOLEN IN CROWDED STREET CAR.

Passengers operating on a crowded street car late yesterday afternoon near the Alexandria Hotel a purse, containing $100 and some papers, was reported to the police by three women. THE GUMPS—THAT'S ANOTHER STORY

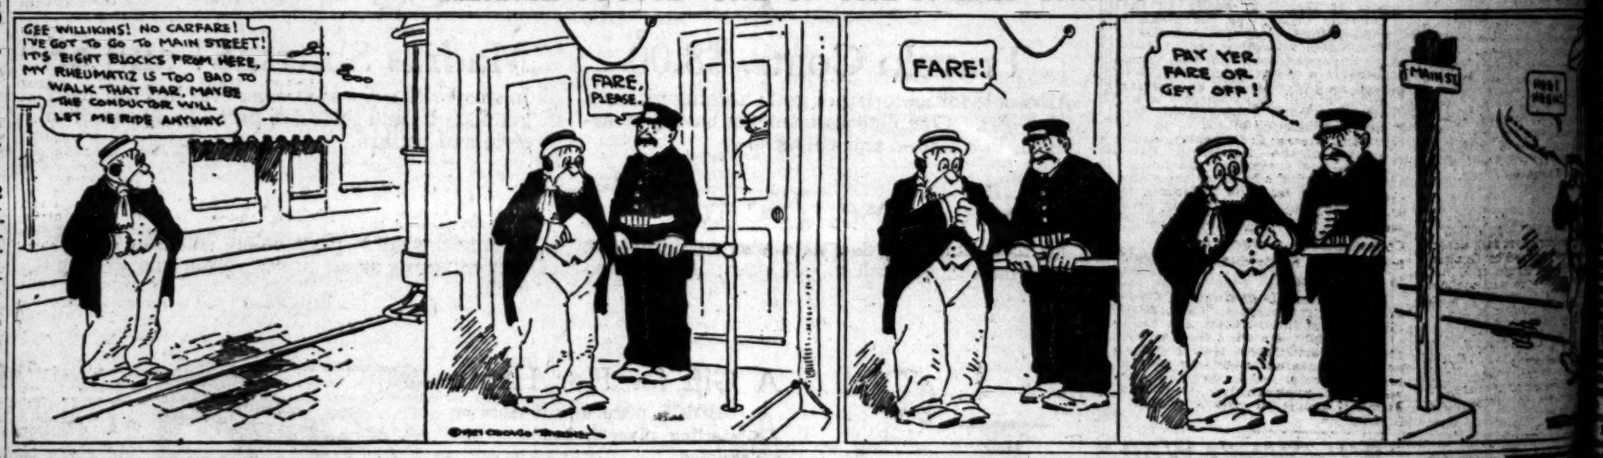
KERNEL COOTIE—ONE ON THE STREET CAR COMPANY



DARK CAVE ENDS REPTILE QUEST.

yonus. On the way to the wilds of Benedict Canyon, Mrs. Besenty told the following story of the origin of the queer and ferocious creatures:

Over four years ago the Besenty family lived on a small ranch in Benedict Canyon, near Beverly Glen. A friend gave two baby alligators to the boys, Tom and Louis. A short time later the family moved into the now famous Beverly Glen. Not wishing to take the infant alligators with them, the reptiles were tossed into a ditch.

For over four years the alligators were forgotten, crowded out of the minds of the Besenty family by more recent occurrences of note, principally the murder of Bolton Kennedy near their doorstep and the trial of Burch suspected of the killing.

SEEN BY MEXICANS.

Recently a group of Mexicans penetrated into the wilderness of Benedict Canyon, to clear away brush for a new trail over the hills. Shortly after their job was begun, the Mexican laborers, shrieking and scurrying down the hillsides, fled madly from the scene. Whizzing down the mountain road they shouted in one word their reason for their hasty departure—

"Alligators!"

They had walked into the midst of a flock of alligators basking in the sunshine on the hill slopes. The trail was never finished. The intrepid huntsmen yesterday warily approached the alligators' habitat, provisioned with huge chunks of raw meat. Mrs. Besenty remained in the background and pointed up the side of the hill.

A small gully was located, leading into a narrow, dark and dank tunnel, boarded on the sides and top, which penetrated the hill. The tunnel is said to be several hundred feet long and is partially filled with stagnant water.

NOW FIVE ALLIGATORS.

In that tunnel the alligators—the two baby reptiles of four years ago have increased to five of great proportions—lurk. The largest is reported to be six feet in length and the smallest about three.

While patiently awaiting the appearance of the alligators, Mrs. Besenty and her sons and two of her sons' companions who later appeared, added to their knowledge of the critters. They live on birds. These birds were seized and devoured through their own carelessness, by mistaking the alligator's back for a log and perching thereon. A snap of the jaws, a flurry of feathers and the bird vanishes.

Scattered on the hillsides and near the tunnel's mouth were found clusters of crumpled birds' feathers, the remains of other alligator feasts. The reptiles, canyon rumor states also are fond of honey, for a few feet from their lair are many bee hives. But the cabin formerly occupied by the beekeeper is deserted, the beekeeper having been driven from the canyon by the rampant alligators.

EVEN CLIMB TREES.

Nor are the alligators content with passing all their time in the dark and dank tunnel. They roam the hills, climb the steep hills with the ease of mountain goats, bask in the sunshine on the hilltops. The man with the cowboy hat, the checkered shirt and the long hair—who joined the fearless party later—even declared he had been informed the Alligator Benedictine Canyonus climb trees.

As the tunnel is narrow and long and dark and partially filled with water, and for other reasons not necessary to explain, no one ventured beyond its entrance. Raw meat was tossed into the tunnel. A mystical splashing in the dark, then silence. Bait was placed at the opening to the tunnel. Then scouting parties ventured up the hillsides, for zoology relates how alligators make huge nests of leaves and twigs and lay their eggs in them, basking in the sunshine while the eggs hatch, but the cackling of setting alligators was not audible. Anyhow, the bait had vanished when the huntsmen returned.

But alligators are wary and suspicious and so were the intrepid huntsmen, so a meeting of the twain did not occur.

PLAN CARNIVAL BALL TO BENEFIT ORPHANS.

A carnival ball in benefit of orphans in local institutions will be given tomorrow beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Carl F. Horn's hall, 936 West Seventh street. The committee is composed of Mr. Horn, Briant S. Young of the Hollycraft Picture Corporation and John H. Pelletier of the Morals Efficiency Association. They announce ahe gross proceeds will go to charity. It is proposed to give each orphan a sum of money he may use as he likes, the remainder to go to the institutions. Motion-picture stars will appear and many of the orphans will be present.

CITY TELEPHONE RATES DOUBLED.

a net return of $1,206,000. This is equal to approximately 6 per cent on the rate base allowed. We consider such a return reasonable and entirely fair to the company in view of all the circumstances in this case."

The apportionment of toll revenues and expenses between the Southern company and the Pacific Company was reversed for decision in the pending State-wide telephone rate case.

Referring to the interrelation of these companies, the decision points out that all the outstanding stock of the Southern Company is owned by the Pacific Company, which in turn is controlled by the American Company through majority stock ownership.

DISAPPOINTS COMPANY.

"The decision will be very disappointing to the officials and employees of the company," N. R. Powley, commercial superintendent, said last night. "We have kept faith for five years, operating under the old rates in a period of war in which every public utility and manufacturer raised prices to meet costs. We did not ask for one penny more than it was necessary to have. In this period we have been losing an average of $300,000 a year. The 6 per cent the commission allows us will not be enough to borrow money on, and the value fixed is low by at least $5,000,000.

"It seems that the allowance of 6 per cent is inconsistent with other instances where the commission has allowed public utility corporations 8 per cent. By what process of reasoning does the commission allow us only 6 per cent on its own figures when we cannot borrow money for 6 per cent, and when our earnings will not be anything like 6 per cent?

RATES NOW LOW.

"In making its requests the company weighed every penny and asked for just enough to place it in a tenable position. Los Angeles has been among the cities having the lowest rates in the country, and with the new rates allowed it still will be. The Los Angeles exchange is not only one of the largest in the country, but the rapid and extensive growth of the city has made the general operating costs much greater than in a city where the territory per capita was not so extensive."

Mr. Powley explained that the five-year contract terminated November 4, and that the company expected the new rates would be made effective for December. He said the December bills under the old rate would be dispatched at once.

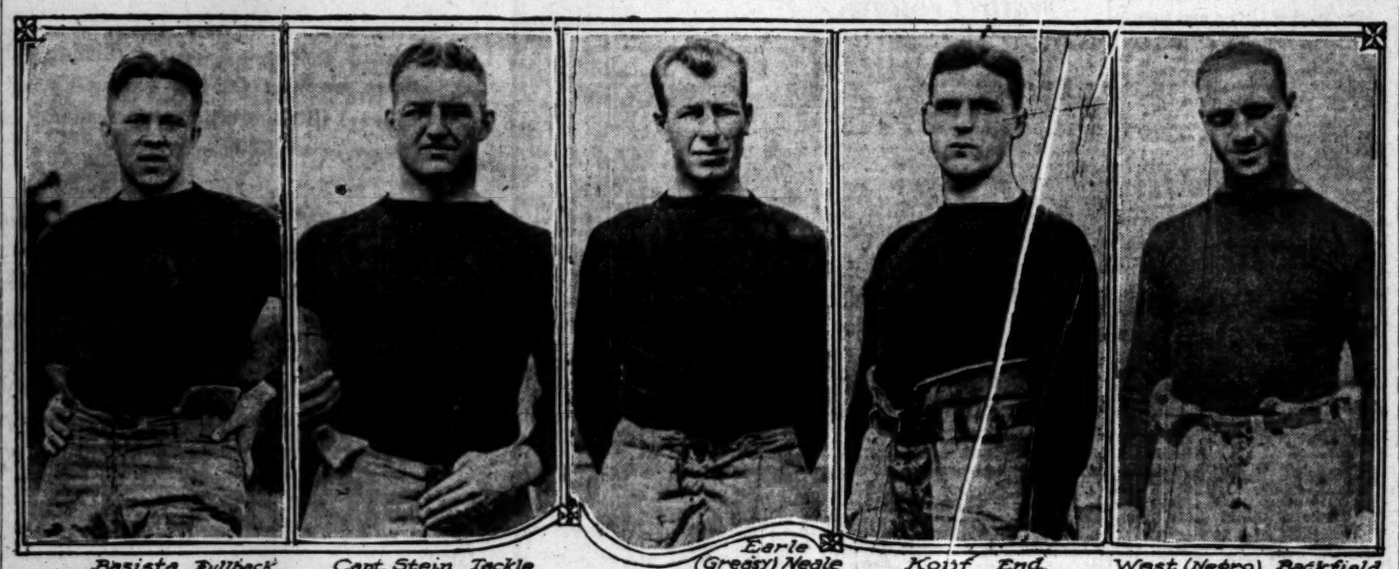
Not Worried Over the Fact California Will be Favorite.



Basista Fullback — Capt. Stein Tackle — Earle (Greasy) Neale Head Coach — Kopf End — West (Negro) Backfield Sub Fullback

Coach Greasy Neale and Four of His Sturdy W. and J. Gridiron Athletes.

The Presidents admit they will be outweighed but not outfought in the January 2 classic at Pasadena. Capt. Stein, who calls signals from his position at tackle; West, Kopf and Basista are said to be four of the scrappiest players in the Washington and Jefferson crowd. Kopf is a brother of the Cincinnati Red baseball player and is an end. West is a colored whiz. This is Neale's first year as coach at W. and J., and already the football sharps of the East have rated him in the front rank.

All Set for Legion Bouts at Hollywood

Young Brown has a rather rough evening staring him in the face when he meets Joe Coffey in the wind-up of the seven bout all-star boxfest to be staged tomorrow night at the American Legion Hollywood arena. Coffey completed his training program yesterday afternoon and his trainer declared that Joe was never before in better form. Coffey lost by a shade to Brown in their first battle and is anxious to even matters.

If Alex McDonald can step through four rounds with Georgie Thompson in the semi-wind-up tomorrow night as he did in the short bout with Teddy Silva at Vernon last Tuesday night the fans can look for a real scrap. Alex was going great guns until Silva halted the bout by striking McDonald low.

The other five bouts on the program for tomorrow night follow: Young Carmen vs. Joe Brown; Kid George vs. Teddy Silva; Sailor Cooney vs. Mike O'Leary; Spec Rameis vs. Johnny McManus and Sailor Ashmore vs. George Sherman.

ANDY SMITH IS HANDED FINE LINE OF PRAISE.

Eastern Football Expert Tells of the Pitfalls Encountered by Bear Tutor at Berkeley.

BY ROBERT W. (TINY) MAXWELL.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—Andrew L. Smith has gone away. Andrew was in the East for two weeks. Andrew L. Smith sometimes is called Andy, and once played fullback for the University of Pennsylvania. He was one of the very best in his day and brought much glory to the Red and Blue. Now he is just as good a football coach as a player, and that is handing out a tremendous boost. He has absolute, to say nothing of complete, charge of the University of California football team, than which there is none better on the Coast. Some say it is the best in the United States, which is taking in a lot of territory.

Andy was sleeping, according to Pacific Coast time, which is three hours earlier than our, when we disturbed him in his St. James suite in Philadelphia. He had been busy paying the expenses of the local Western Union office, having sent and received bales of messages from the other end of the continent. He had just completed arrangements for the game between his team and Washington, and Jefferson, on New Year's Day, in Pasadena, and was taking a well-earned and highly deserved rest.

"I'm going away," he said by way of opening the conversation. "I have been in this section of the country to see some of the leading terms in action, and I saw Cornell and the Navy. They were great teams, but not so good as the ones we have on the Pacific Coast. We play just as good football, and if I were inclined to boasting I would say we were slightly better. However, I don't boast, so won't say it.

"We will play Washington and Jefferson on New Year's Day, and from what I have learned, Greasy Neale has a great team. I am glad of that because we want to meet the best in the East, if possible. The tougher they come the better we like it.

"Washington and Jefferson's record places them in the front rank of the eastern colleges. Their victory over Detroit last Saturday boosts them more than that. Therefore, I believe we made a wise selection."

FACED A TOUGH PROPOSITION.

Andy admits he has a great football team this year, but will not open up and tell how he did it. He believes in letting results speak for themselves, which is rather unusual these days. The California coach desires no bouquets or brass band accompaniments. The record made by his team is enough.

However, much credit is due the lanky Penn athlete. He went out to California in 1916 and faced the toughest proposition that ever confronted a football coach. He virtually was a pioneer, for the game was new and his men had to be taught from the ground up.

In 1905 it was decided to eliminate the American game because of its roughness and substitute English rugby. They played rugby out there until 1915, all of the high school boys played it, and

SALE OF STATZ TO THE CUBS DIFFICULT TO HAVE CHECKED; LAD HIMSELF DECIDES ISSUE.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The sale of Arnold (Twin Six) Statz to the Chicago Cubs was regrettable in some respects, but largely unavoidable.

This was apparent to those who had talked with the player within the past week. Refusal to give him a chance to advance into the majors would have meant a dissatisfied player, or a player of unusual promise out of baseball entirely. Had Statz been held and consented to play, it probably would not have been the same old "Twin Six," but a player without fire and minus ambition, if not actually a soured and sulky athlete.

His loss to Los Angeles is to be regretted, while he individually is to be congratulated. Going into the majors with a rush is a period in the life of the near-castoff of less than a year ago."

ANGELS' LOSS.

President Patrick and Manager Killefer made every effort to retain this player, and William Wrigley, Jr., was willing that he should remain. Statz probably was of more value to the Los Angeles club than to the Cubs, as it will take more than one player of the caliber of "Twin Six" to make Chicago a contender.

So it was Statz himself who really decided the issue. Three days ago the writer talked with him and his attitude came as something of a surprise, as it was generally believed he would willingly remain here for another year of seasoning.

Instead of the usually smiling Statz, I found one decidedly sober and serious, and it was plain to be seen that here was an athlete about to become as sore as a boil.

WANTED UP.

In short, Statz felt he had earned a chance on big time, and bitterly resented any hindrance to legitimate advancement.

"Will you be satisfied to play here another year?" I asked, expecting a cheerful reply in the affirmative.

"I want to get back into the majors and the sooner the better," he replied rather shortly and with decided decision. "The money is there, the jumps are shorter, they live better in every way, there's the punch and the excitement of great crowds, you yourself know the difference between the majors and minors."

This attitude is not surprising. In fact, for a player who has had a whirl in the majors, however short, to be relegated to the minors is little less than a tragedy.

"But if you aren't sent to the majors and satisfactory terms are

BIG TURNOUT AT LINCOLN.

Basketball prospects at Lincoln High are nothing to cause much glee among the Railsplitters' rooters, only one veteran — Pete Thompson—being left from last season's squad. But what Lincoln may lack in experience is more than made up in numbers, about eight men being out for every place on the team, and Rabbit Mallett is confident of putting out a team that will keep his fellow coaches in the City League considerably worried.

Casaba work at the Railsplitters' institution is being held in the gymnasium, recently completed, and except for the fact that the floor is as smooth as glass, Mallett is perfectly satisfied with the new arrangements.

Basketball seems to have taken the football men by storm, half a dozen athletes who sparkled on the gridiron earlier in the year having taken up the indoor sport. Besides Pete Thompson, captain and guard, Renny, Dyer and Long are doing their best to land the remaining guard position, while Jimmy McCue is out for a forward job. Kelvey is jumping center at present, and Gulick and Cissnan are showing up well as forwards. Karz, Viterman, Cunningham and Frank Pierce stand out among the rest of the squad for their class, and may land places on the team before long.

Mallett's men will average around 150 pounds, which is slightly heavier than most prep teams. On January 13 Lincoln's season will open with a game with Long Beach's casaba tossers, last year's Southern California champions, at Long Beach.

VARNELL TO REFEREE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—George Varnell, sporting editor of the Spokane Chronicle and one of the best-known football officials on the Pacific Coast, probably will referee the game at Pasadena between California and Washington and Jefferson, according to reports received from the south. Varnell handled the New Year's Day game of a year ago in which California defeated Ohio State.

Champs Leave for Tilt With Bakersfield.

Spud Morrison and his Santa Ana pigskin satellites, holders of the Southern California prep football championship, leave this morning for Bakersfield, where they will mix with the Oil Drillers Saturday in the semifinal contest for the State title. The resulting winners will play Berkeley High at Berkeley next week for the prep honors of California.

The athletes will arrive in Bakersfield this afternoon and indulge in some light practice. About eighteen men are making the trip.

JOHNNY BUFF ENDS TRAINING FOR BOUT.

MILWAUKEE Dec. 14.—Johnny Buff, champion bantamweight boxer, who meets Pal Moore in a ten-round no-decision bout here tomorrow night, weighed 114 pounds today when he finished his training.

TIJUANA RESULTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 14.—Long prices again were a feature of the Tijuana track today. Garden City won the opening event. Other horses which won at good odds were Stanley C., in the fifth race, and Duc De Guise, in the third.

The complete list of nominations for the Coffroth handicap, the $20,000 feature of the racing season, was announced today. This handicap, which will be run on March 19, and calls for a mile and a quarter, closed with thirty-eight thoroughbreds made eligible through declarations of their owners. The results:

First race, five and one-half furlongs: Garden City, won; Pinecrest, second; Pizaro, third. Time, 1:09.

Second race, one and one-sixteenth miles: Clover Junia, won; De Hars, second; Dora, third. Time, 1:51.

Third race, five furlongs: Duc De Guise, won; Jack Ledin, second; Harry Morn, third. Time, 1:02 1-5.

Fourth race, one and one-sixteenth miles: Chick Barley, won; Inlwood, second; Aundy K., third. Time, 1:50 2-5.

Fifth race, five furlongs: Stanley H., won; Duly Fashion, second; McMurphy, third. Time, 1:02 2-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Gen. Agramonte, won; Thez T., second; Cofield, third. Time, 1:14.

Seventh race, six furlongs: Furbelow, won; Orchid King, second; Chow, third. Time, 1:14 4-5.

Wildcats Get Mighty Busy in Workouts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Dec. 14.—Ten minutes after acceptance last night of an offer from San Deigo to meet the football team of Centre College in the California city December 26, the University of Arizona football squad was in uniform and running signals on the football field.

The players have had a ten-day rest since the close of the regular season and Coach J. F. McHale said that another ten days will put the team in better condition than it was at the close of the season.

Arizona, champion of the Southwest, has eight men on the mythical all-southwestern eleven and the other three men were chosen for the second team of the imaginary organization.

Coach McHale plans to take thirty men with him to San Diego. When the team will start has not been decided.

"Curley" LaShelle, University of Arizona's varsity left tackle, will not be in the game against Centre December 26, at San Diego, according to announcement today by Coach J. F. McHale. LaShelle is out of the game with a broken leg. With this exception, the coach said, the team is in excellent condition for the intersectional clash.

Bill Essick is Back from His Eastern Visit.

Bill Essick, back from the minor-league meeting in Buffalo, is planning his club for the next season. These plans consist of disposing of some players and the acquisition of others. Clarence Brooks, who played independent ball in Idaho last season, is still the property of the Tigers and available for the coming season. However, with Hannah and Murphy on the job, Essick may have no place for Brooks.

Stumpy Edington and Scotty Alcock, utility men, probably will be sold or traded. With Ray French reverting to the Yankees and Rollie Zelder through with the Tigers, Essick has two infield problems to solve, while he will endeavor to strengthen at first base. He expects to receive two infielders from the Yankees and would like to arrange a deal for Fred Meilwitz of the Sacramento club.

TOURNAMENT "POOL" SECRETS ARE BARED.

Professional Golf Gamblers Casting Longing Eyes at This Element of Ancient Game.

BY "CHICK" EVANS.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Charles "Chick" Evans, holder of seventeen major championships, has written an astonishing series of articles on gambling in golf championships that will startle every player of the royal and ancient game. The stories furnish an amazing expose of what happened at St. Louis during the national championships this fall. This is the third of the series, published exclusively by The Times in Los Angeles.—Ed.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—What is the pool connected with golf championship tournaments and how does it operate? Perhaps all amateur golfers, myself included, have looked upon this element of the tournaments with an attitude altogether too innocent. It has always been an innocent proposition, so to speak, participated in by members of the club where tournaments have been held, but when it gets to the point when a man interested in a pool to the extent of thousands of dollars goes out behind a player, as a part of the gallery, deliberately to disrupt a player's game, it is time for officials to abolish the pool.

NO QUIBBLER.

I am not a quibbler over small wagers on golf matches. I do not hold that any such innocent practice as players putting a premium of a quarter, a half-dollar or a dollar on each hole, will ever harm the sport of golf in the least. And certainly there is no way on earth to prevent members of a tournament club from expressing their enthusiasm for one or more championship golfers in wagers among themselves—and surely no harm can result from such sportsmanship.

The point I make, however, is that in the "pool" the stakes become large enough to attract professional gamblers, men who have a single interest in golf, and that interest a disastrous one. Wherever money wagers begin to mount into thousands, the professional gambler is sure to look in on the prospects, and the prospects in this case are almost certain to be to his liking because the fortunes of the players can so easily be disrupted on the course whenever it might suit professional gamblers to disrupt them.

The tournament "pool" originated, as I understand it, by groups of men, who were members of the club having the tournament, chipping in $10 or $50 or $100 each —whatever the ante may have been—after which the names of the probable championship winners were carded and mixed together in a hat. Each of the pool players would then be given a name of one of the players, the name being drawn blindly from the hat. From then on the players would be "had" by the different club members participating in the pool. The pool would be won by the club member who happened to "have" that particular player in the pool.

INNOCENT ONE.

Thus I say the practice of the

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON (Pa.) Dec. 14.—Washington and Jefferson College gridiron athletes, whose record to date is the finest ever achieved by an eleven of the school, are again the under dogs in their coming clash on January 2, with the University of California, at the Tournament of Roses, at Pasadena, Cal. Critically, do not concede them a chance to wrest victory from Andy Smith's powerful Bears.

The position is not a new one for Greasy Neale and his band of fighting gridironers. Syracuse expected to wrest victory from the Presidents. Pitt felt confident of breaking their winning string, and the University of Detroit had the same belief.

WILL DO BEST.

"We will do our best," said Capt. Russell Stein, who, without doubt, is on of the greatest tacklers and leaders of the year. "If that is not good enough we will lose. The players know that California has one of the greatest elevens in the history of football, and are

EVERY driver knows, only too well, that there are times when the storage battery in his car is required to stand up and respond to the demands of unusual and terrific strain. Those emergencies test, to the utmost, the stamina and vigor of a battery.

A storage battery, like a wrestler or an athlete, must have reserve power that can be brought into use in an emergency. Without capacity for meeting the demands of unusual and terrific strains, a storage battery soon breaks down. It is that extra capacity, above what is required for every day use, that makes the difference between an ordinary battery and one that comes through 100%.

Columbia storage batteries are vigorous and husky. They have the additional capacity and power that conquers every emergency and unusual demand.

Jenkisson to Hook Up With Sailor Williams.

Ten Set-tos Are to Regale Fight Fans Tonight.

Charlie Jenkisson will step forth in the Los Angeles Athletic Club arena this evening for the first time since he broke his hand in a bout with an Olympic Club boxer about six months ago. The Mercury star will have as his opponent Sailor Williams of the U.S.S. Mississippi. These boys will appear in the main event of a boxing card which will comprise ten bouts, inclusive.

William Zukle and Harvey Parry have also been given a prominent place on the bill, which was arranged by George Blake. They will fight the semi-windup and a hard fought tussle is anticipated. Opinion is somewhat divided, but Zukle is being granted the edge due to his string of knockouts.

FULL OF PEP.

Another great battle is looked for when Manuel Martinez and Julius Jesnick start flopping their mitts about the L.A.A.C. ring. Considerable pep will mark this affair as both boys step a fast pace and do not know what it is to stall. Kenneth Moffatt and Russel Reardon have been rematched, which augurs well for a slugging fray.

Ralph Smith and Sailor DeHeck, two hard hitting heavyweights, will also perform. Smith is a veritable giant and despite his size has become quite adept with the gloves though he has been boxing but a short time. Sailors always give a good account of themselves and a lively battle is expected when Smith and DeHeck start mixing.

BUSY EVENING.

Johnny Brannigan will spend a busy evening while he is engaging Sailor Sharp. Brannigan's work is well known hereabouts, while Sharp has a good reputation as a ring expert. Carl Paparone will take on Harold Heide of the Southern Branch of U.C., while another student from the same institution, namely, Phillip Haddox, will be opposed by Ad Allegrini.

Soldier Hoaglund, lightweight champion of Fort McArthur, will trade wallops with Roy Wilkerson, while Joe Reyna and Joe Citrin will box the curtain raiser. Ernie Clark will referee. The bouts are open to the public.

PITT MAY PLAY HARVARD.

Crimson Invites Smoky City to Meet Squad October 28 if Bears Are Unable to Accept.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 14.—Harvard will invite the University of Pittsburg to meet the Crimson football team here October 28 next year if the University of California is unable to accept that date. Announcement to this effect was made today by Maj. F. W. Moore, graduate manager of Harvard athletics.

Maj. Moore's statement followed his receipt of a telegram from Graduate Manager Nichols of the University of California asking:

"Will exchange games be possible, Harvard at Berkeley, Oct. 21 or 28, 1922; California at Cambridge in 1923, date to be arranged later."

RETURN TRIP.

Harvard's answer to this proposal will be, Maj. Moore said, that no exchange of games with California is contemplated. The invitation to California, he said, was extended after overtures from California alumni based on the statement that the Bears' trip to Cambridge would be in the nature of a return for Harvard's visit to California, when the Crimson defeated University of Oregon at Pasadena on New Year's Day, 1920. Another trip by the Crimson across the country within the next few years was out of the question, the Harvard graduate athletic head said.

The October 28 date next fall will be held for California until its final word is received. This will be delayed several days, Mr. Nichols indicated, because of the absence of the president and the football coach of the university.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 14.—University of Pittsburg will be glad to accept the Harvard invitation for a football game with the Crimson on October 28 if the University of California is unable to play in the East on that date, said Carl Davis, graduate manager of athletics, today.

SMITH HANDED LINE OF PRAISE.

it was the big fall sport on the Coast. Six years ago California and Stanford had a disagreement over the freshman rule. Stanford did not want to adopt it, so athletic relations were severed. This forced California to seek other opponents, and the University of Washington was selected. Washington played the American game, and it was necessary to take it up. That was the return of the American game on the Coast.

In 1918, when California and Stanford were members of the S.A.T.C., and under government control, a challenge was issued by the commandant of California to Stanford for a game of American football. It was accepted, and since then the best of feeling has existed between the colleges, the game has been taken up by all of the prep schools and football is flourishing.

But Smith had a tough time of it. The boys who came from the high schools knew nothing about the game. They had to be taught everything from the beginning. Here in the East a prep school boy has had at least four years of football before entering college, knows something of the rudiments and the fundamentals, and the coach does not have to spend much time on preliminary work.

Therefore, when one looks at the record made by Smith's team this year, and realizes what a huge undertaking it was, one cannot help but hand out a few blurbs of praise to the California coach.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Dec. 14.—Georges Carpentier has grown a moustache, a correspondent of the Auto informs the world after interviewing the French pugilist prior to his departure for England to meet Cook, the Australian fighter, January 12. A photograph accompanying the article confirms this statement, and also shows Georges to be somewhat thin and drawn, but cheerful, after his recent illness, which halted his training for some time. His weight, which dropped to 160 pounds at one time, was 171 the day the correspondent saw him.

THE ALL-AMERICAN TEAM.

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year;
The All-American football team
On paper will soon appear;
The names on it will thunder down
The corridors of fame,
But after it is organized
They'll never play the game.

The members of this gallant tribe,
With letters on their chests,
Will swell with pride until they burst
The buttons off their vests.
They'll view the line-up in the press
With pleasure unconcealed,
And after they have made the team
They'll never take the field.

Their names will be in every mouth
Whose football doth abound;
From East to West, from North to South
And all the country 'round.
With such applause and loud huzzahs
We'll make the welkin ring;
But as they never play a game,
It doesn't mean a thing.

Practically every sport scribe is or has already picked the great all-American team. Here's our selection:

MYTHICAL ALL-STAR ELEVEN.

Center—Jack Spratt.
Right Tackle — Simple Simon.
Right End — Vox Populi.
Quarterback — Santa Claus.
Right Halfback—Jack Frost.
Fullback—Jack the Giant Killer.
Field Judge — Dame Rumor, School of Scandal. Umpire—Nick Carter, Barber College. Head Linesman—Old King Cole, School of Mines. Referee — Diamond Dust. Water Carriers—Jack and Jill.

PREP NAGS FOR HANDICAP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TIJUANA (Mex.) Dec. 14.—The leading stables assembled at the Tijuana racetrack are bending efforts now to "prepping" their first-string runners for the renewal of the Sacramento handicap at one mile. The running of this fixture, coming as the second one of the meeting, is set for Sunday and like the Oakland Claiming Purse of last Sunday, it promises to draw another big gathering. A list of the stables directly interested in the Sacramento and the horses eligible for this handicap follows:

J. M. Cooper—Sheba; Bisbee Stable—Glenwell; William Gibson—Royce Reels; C. B. Irwin—Rifle, Lady in Black, Regreso, Motor Cop, Flags; A. Jones and Brother—Ike Harvey; M. McDowell—Southern Gentleman; North and Rowe, Coffield; F. R. Irwin—Woodie Montgomery and Orchid King; J. D. Heard—Breeze, Wedding Prince, and Olympiad; N. S. Vail—Gath; G. W. Atkinson—Tailor Maid; H. MOSCOW (Idaho) Dec. 14.—The University of Idaho, recently admitted to the Pacific Coast Conference and an active runner-up for football honors in the Northwest Conference for a number of years, according to Graduate Manager Fred Graf, is making arrangements for a game with Southern California. Tentative plans call for a game at Pasadena, Nov. 28, 1922.

Idaho's first basketball game with the University of California is scheduled to be played here January 25.

Wilde Elected Commodore of L.A. Boat Club.

The Los Angeles Motorboat Club held an election of officers last night, with the following results: Otto G. Wilde, commodore; G. Benton Wilson, vice-commodore; Ben R. Meyer, rear commodore; Dustin Farnum, James W. Jump, G. E. Murphy and George H. Rector, members of the board of directors. The board of directors will meet later to elect a secretary and treasurer.

Since the Nordlinger trophy, which was raced for ten years, has been permanently won by Dustin Farnum it was voted that the club put up a new trophy, to be contested for as the Pacific Coast championship.

The race probably will be of a fifty-mile duration and will be held in September of each year. Details of this race will be worked out later.

SALE OF STATZ TO THE CUBS.

offered you here will you return next season?" I asked.

"Er, well, I hardly know, but I guess yes," he answered, but there was no enthusiasm in that yes.

FOR THE PUBLIC.

"It is not to hinder your advancement that they are trying to hold you, but on account of the public which patronizes the game here," I explained.

"First time I ever heard of the fans being considered in a deal of this sort," shot back Statz.

I remarked that Patrick is a new element in baseball, and some new wrinkles might be expected from him.

Those familiar with the temper of baseball athletes can easily read the mood of Statz from this conversation, and the difficulty of dealing with him satisfactorily under these conditions.

HE FELT IT.

While "Twin Six" Statz didn't say so in so many words, it was plain he felt that but for the absence of the draft he would have been certain of an immediate trial in the majors. Right now a hard drive is being made by the most powerful interests in baseball to have the draft restored, and the chief argument of these is that absence of the draft acts as a barrier to advancement. Had Statz been held against his will the case undoubtedly would have been seized as high explosive ammunition with which to further bombard the minors.

Personally, we regard the argument as rather specious, as minor league clubs almost without exception sell their stars when they can get their price. As far as we can recall, Statz is the only player ever sought by the majors between seasons, where a serious effort was made to hold him.

IN THE MARKET.

A peculiar story came out of Chicago following New York's purchase of Heinie Groh from Cincinnati. McGraw was accused of the crime of buying high-class ball players. Incidentally, Chicago was in the market for the same player. Unless our memory has slipped a cog, Mr. Wrigley, soon after buying the Cubs, slipped Fred Mitchell something like $200,000 for the purchase of new material, giving him carte blanche. Mitchell immediately peeled off $60,000 for Alexander and Killefer. McGraw paid $175,000 for Groh. Heinie was worth that to New York, but it is doubtful whether he would be worth half or a third of that to Chicago. He was the one man needed by the Giants to practically assure another pennant and world championship.

CARD FIVE GETTING READY.

Capt. Davies Returns From East to Take Place Under Coach Van Gent; Candidates Increase.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 14.—Capt. Jimmy Davies of the Cardinal basketball five arrived from the East today to take his place under Coach Gene Van Gent in developing the Stanford five for the 1922 conference season. Van Gent started practice two weeks ago with a squad of sixty-one candidates, which soon increased to seventy-five. He cut the squad to fifty the first of this week and expects to further reduce it to twenty-five for work beginning January 3.

With only Capt. Davies and Dick Richmond, forwards, as veterans among his tryoutees, Van Gent has singled out new material for the remaining places. Jannsen of San Francisco, end on the freshman football team this year, whose classification as a "froh" ends with Christmas vacation, is being groomed for the center position. He is a big husky lad with much prep-school experience on the court to his credit, and was also center of last year's freshman basket team. He seems to stand without a dangerous opponent for the honor of tipping the sphere.

LOOK THE BEST.

At guards Anderson who has been on the squad for two years without actually playing on the varsity, and Harry Austin, guard of two years ago, look the best on the floor.

Phil Neer, who teamed with Davies as tennis partner in eastern tournaments last summer, looks to be his nearest candidate for a berth at forward. "Lefty" Rogers will also make a strong try.

About seventy candidates for the freshman court five swarm the gymnasium every afternoon under Coach Duffey Seay. With so many untried and unknown men Seay has been able to do but little more than look them over and let them scrimmage against each other.

CUT IT DOWN.

He will cut the squad down to about twenty-five members before Christmas holidays.

Neither Van Gent nor Seay intends to work their men hard before the first of January, when the new spring floor in the recently-erected basketball pavilion will be ready for use. Basketball coaches have been troubled at Stanford in the past by the injury to legs and ankles of the candidates because of too much work on the heavy floor of Encina gymnasium which has a cement foundation.

Foothillers' Casaba Team is Likely to Startle the City League.

TITLE HOPES AT HOLLYWOOD.

Pirates Rosy for Casaba Championship.

Five Veterans Trying Out for the Team.

Practice Season With Jefferson Squad January 13.

With seven lettered veterans on the floor, and a wealth of new material, rarin' to get the hang of things from Coach Munsey, Hollywood High's basketball hopes are brighter than they have been in a dozen years. The Footballers ran after the title they won in Pasadena last season by a large margin, and judging by appearances, they are likely to give the rest of the surrounding prep teams an awful run for their money.

Hollywood had small trouble in winning most of the City games last year, and only Poly's whirlwind five could stop the number. The fact that Coach Munsey was so near the top with that his present stock of veterans and basketeers are quite set on flicking the casaba around.

BOTHERS HIM.

Coach Dorsey is worrying over his lessons at present, and will be ineligible until he comes to school. However, he is working out with the squad, and will probably be permitted to take part in the line-up when the season opens, January 13.

Dorsey and Nason are pretty good at tacking down the guard position, while Archer and Beck are Munsey's best bets for forward. Rich is performing at center for the first time, and will probably play that position again this year. All of these men were members of last year's team.

In addition to these men, Hollywood has Maher and Douglas, both of whom won their letters last year, and Parker, Allen, Armstrong, O'Brien, Walsh, Adams and Fisher, who will make the first team hump considerably to keep their places.

Nason is out of the game at present with a sprained ankle, but is expected to be on hand when Santa Ana City team meets Jefferson in the opening game of the season.

Instead of letting his men get fat during the Christmas holidays, Coach Munsey is to have practice twice a week, expecting to have his athletes in first-class condition when the City League action commences.

W. AND J. ARE "UNDER DOGS."

preparing for what they regard as their hardest contest."

Neale changed his tactics today. Yesterday he worked his Red and Black warriors on a gridiron covered with ice and snow, but he called off the practice scheduled for this afternoon. A warmer temperature caused the snow to melt, and College Field was a veritable lake, the grounds being covered by about two inches of water. A long blackboard drill tonight took the place of the outdoor drill.

TO JOIN SQUAD.

Neale, one of the Red and Black's most dependable linemen, who was hurt in the Detroit struggle, will join the squad in the practice tomorrow. While not serious, Neale's injury was such that he was excused from the daily grinds the other members of the squad have been subjected to for several days. With Neale announced O.K., there is not the slightest doubt that the entire W. and J. Varsity will be ready for the kick-off in the big game on the Pacific Coast. Coaches Neale and Kellison are likewise certain to depend upon the same players that have practiced, carried the colors of the college into every one of the ten victories toored to date.

Resumption of the training table for the members of the football squad has already caused a noticeable improvement in the physical condition of the squad in preparation for their departure December 24.

One of the most rousing send-offs ever given a W. and J. eleven is certain and the one on the return will be equally stirring. A movement is now under way to have the college give a banquet in honor of the squad when they arrive home from the Coast. It is aimed to make it one of the largest affairs of the kind ever held in Washington.

Election of a captain for the 1922 eleven at W. and J. will be postponed until the players return from California, which will be on January 13.

With plans definitely settled for the long journey, Graduate Manager R. M. Murphy is hard at work arranging his schedule for 1922. He confirms the announcement of the game with Carnegie Tech and it is likewise considered certain that Pitt, West Virginia and Bethany will be on the card again the coming year.

IN FEW DAYS.

While not prepared to issue a definite statement at this time, Manager Murphy states that he would likely have the complete schedule for next season ready to be made public within a few days. The four contests scheduled are all with natural rivals of the Presidents and the games have been fixtures for a long period of years. W. and J. has played Pitt and West Virginia more than a score of times since football was firmly established in this section thirty years ago.

PLAYFELLOW CASE WILL GO TO JURY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Playfellow, the 3-year-old full brother of Man o' War, for which Harry F. Sinclair paid James S. Johnson $100,000, wore a bit to prevent wind-sucking for three weeks before the sale, George Pappen, assistant trainer in the Johnson stable, testified in State Supreme Court today. Mr. Sinclair is suing to recover the $100,000 on the plea that the wind-sucking habits of Playfellow were concealed for the purpose of making the sale.

The case will go to the jury tomorrow.

DRAFT MAY BE BROUGHT BACK.

Leagues in Their Sessions Favor Measure.

Ebbetts's Boycott Move Met With Coldness.

Minor Body Would Accept a Restricted Plan.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Seeking removal of the "stone wall" they declared minor leagues had placed around star players by asking prohibitive prices for them, officials of the National and American leagues, in their respective meetings today, proposed an amendment to the national baseball agreement that would reinstitute the draft.

Resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote in both leagues and submitted to baseball's advisory council for consideration tomorrow, during the joint meeting of the majors. The resolution in the National was offered by Garry Hermann of the Cincinnati club, as a substitute for the suggestion by C. H. Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club that the majors refuse to purchase players from any league not subscribing to the draft.

WAS TOO HARSH.

Mr. Ebbetts's suggestion, it was said, did not meet with the approval of Commissioner Landis, who saw in it creation of a condition of outlawry in the minors and dissension in the majors.

The advisory council is expected to settle the matter tomorrow.

The National League carried out President Heydler's request for giving protection to umpires by providing for appointment of "vigilance cops" to arrest throwers of pop bottles and authorizing construction in several parks of special exits for "umpires only."

The American League adopted a resolution urging the advisory council to consider substitution of a seven-game world's series for the nine-game series.

The New York Yankees announced they had purchased R. Tecarr, left-handed pitcher, from the Jersey City club of the International League. The purchase price was said to be $5000.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Al Tearney, president of the Western and Three-I leagues, declared today that if proper restrictions were placed around the draft it would be accepted by the minor leagues.

CHICAGO SEEKS STANFORD MEET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 14.—An offer from the University of Chicago to come here for a track meet with Stanford March 28 or 29 was received last night by Graduate Manager William Fletcher. He replied stating financial arrangements under which Stanford would be willing to accept.

He made the statement in answer to the proposal by Charles Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club, that the majors break away from the minors.

"Ebbetts put this proposition before the national League magnates simply as a means of scaring the small magnates who have refused to recognize the rights of the majors to raid the minor ranks," Mr. Tearney said.

What Tearney wants, according to his statement, is a draft that will, among other things, prevent a big-league club from drafting a player and then disposing of him to a league of lesser classification than he was taken from and at a price in excess of the draft figure. "Without such restrictions a player cannot advance," Mr. Tearney said.

Nevada. This in addition to the tentative date with the Middle Western university aforementioned.

The game with the Oregon Aggies is only tentative, but Coach Rutherford is very anxious to seal it. In fact, so anxious to schedule the Trojans next year was he that he routed Coach Hendshson of U.S.C. out of bed in Seattle at 5 o'clock in the morning to talk turkey. This happened after the conference had adjourned in Portland. This is the story brought back by Ralph LaPorte, faculty member, who was in Portland for the conference gabfest.

Henderson is still in Seattle, and probably won't be back until next week, Bruce said yesterday.

Bruce is going East in a few days to visit his folks in Amhurst, O., and contemplates as a side trip a jog to Havana, Cuba, where men drown their sorrows. During his absence Gwynn I. Wilson will be entrusted with the affairs of state.

TO STAGE FIGHTS ON SATURDAYS

Change Day of Chief Petty Officers' Weekly Smoker to Oblige Gobs.

Because of inability of sailors in the Pacific Fleet to secure shore leave on Wednesday nights and because of mid-week gunnery practice, the weekly boxing cards promoted by the chief petty officers of the fleet at Point Firmin will be held at the Point Firmin arena Saturday nights hereafter. The card scheduled for last night, will be put on Saturday night instead, inaugurating the new schedule.

Henry Lee, director of the Chief Petty Officers' Club, announced yesterday that the big card, scheduled for next Wednesday night, at which time champions from each of the ships in the fleet were to fight for the Desmond trophy, has been postponed until January, the date to be announced later.

There will be no change Saturday night in the card originally planned for last night, and Tom Sharkey, one-time heavyweight scrapper, will be matched with Frankie Fields for a three-round exhibition go. The card is replete with matches between Pacific Fleet boxers who have shown real stuff in past bouts at the arena.

TOURNEY POOL SECRET BARED.

pool has been an innocent one, since it would be folly for anyone to assume that any one of the club members would do anything, under any circumstance whatever, to interfere in any way for or against the players named in the pool. All these men are sportsmen who are interested primarily in sport, not in gambling. The wager element of the pool merely gives the tournament an added zest; the amounts won or lost are of no consequence to them, and, therefore, could have no bearing on the play of the tournament. That has been my view toward the pool.

But golf tournaments now draw huge galleries, veritable armies, and among these people there are sure to be some men with a sinister interest in the game, men whose fingers will twitch from emotions other than pure enthusiasm over fine shots. These are the men—in plain words, professional gamblers—who must be kept out of golf. Their influence will be ruinous.

Professional gamblers would like nothing better than a chance to mix in the pool at the golf tournament. They would like nothing better than a pool of their own making. And the next step in the pool, if it isn't watched right now with the utmost carefulness, will be the general establishment of "pools" among professional gamblers.

AT SIX TO ONE.

In fact, I heard at St. Louis this year that I was for sale in some pool at six to one. That is, there evidently was some one, somewhere around the course, who was willing to take on bets on that basis. On other players the odds varied. Just where this money was, who the men were who were concerned in it, I do not know, for my whole interest was centered in the playing of thirty-six holes of golf each day.

But such remarks created a general undertone of gambling, and the insult offered to me on the course only added to it. I think other players at St. Louis were aware of these things. The atmosphere in this respect was different from anything I have encountered at previous tournaments.

As I said previously, I do not object in the least to the sportsman's innocent wager on a golf match, but let us never see the day when Judge Landis will have to straighten out our sport.

MURPHYS TO PLAY COX-HAAS BABIES.

The underdog will be tackling the champion next Sunday when the Gene Murphy ball club battles the league-leading Cox-Haas club at Tournament Park, Pasadena.

Three games in a row have been lost by the Murphys in class AA of the Managers' Association, and the team is out to do a real brawl the coming Sabbath. Manager Milt Unger is building up the team for the occasion and is now on the look out for a big league hurler.

"I won't carry throat germs to those at home"

All day long—in the office or shop, in the cars, the crowded stores—you have been breathing in germs of sore throat, tonsilitis, influenza. In the warm crevices of throat and mouth they multiply rapidly.

The folks at home may be less able than you to resist these armies of ill-health and the home-coming kiss may bear the dread germs of disease.

A pleasant—almost candy-like—Formamint dissolved in the mouth now and then during the day makes the mouth fluids antiseptic, keeps germ-growth within bounds, and forms a strong defence against disease.

If the throat is already sore, the frequent use of Formamint keeps the membranes bathed in this splendid antiseptic, allays inflammation, prevents new infection and gives the tissues a chance to heal.

Children are glad to use them and should do so freely, as crowded school-rooms are fruitful fields for the spread of throat infection.

Recommended by throat specialists physicians, dentists and druggists.

FLASHES.

THREE NEW STARS.

ROBERTSON-COLE PREPARES TO FEATURE THEM.

By Grace Kingsley.

The enterprising firm of Robertson-Cole aren't letting any grass grow under their feet when it comes to gathering in the good stars. Three popular young screen players are soon to affix their signatures to contracts, if present negotiations do not miscarry, it became known yesterday.

A girl who was brought right up in pictures, and whose popularity has grown day by day is Marjorie Daw. A popular young player who has come lately to the fore is Pat O'Malley. These two are to be co-starred by Robertson-Cole according to present plans.

Miss Daw first came into prominence as a child actress when she scored a big hit in William de Mille's "The Warrens of Virginia." Since then, while still very young, she has appeared as leading woman with Douglas Fairbanks, and lately in Marshall Neilan's productions.

O'Malley is a brilliant young Irishman who has scored in every picture in which he has appeared.

Another young leading man of note, whom Robertson-Cole will probably starr is Robert Gordon, who has played principal roles in a dozen pictures, his success being made especially since he came out of service in the World War.

A picture in which Gordon made a signal success was J. Stuart Blackton's "Missing." Gordon is considered one of the best bets in filmland, and several firms have been after him of late.

Fortune Telling.

All the fond mama-stars in picturedom are looking forward to Christmas either with pleasant or sad expectations, depending on whether they're going to be able to spend the day with their babies or not.

Jane Novak, star of Chester Bennett Productions, is smiling happily these days. She's going to have a vacation between pictures, and so will spend Christmas with her little girl, Virginia, for whom she is preparing a tree, aided by her sister, Eva Novak, who also will enjoy Christmas at home.

But Gloria Swanson may not be so fortunate. She expects to be away up in Truckee during the holidays. However, if you won't tell the Lasky people, I'll tell you something. She whispered friends yesterday that she meant to spend a part of the day at least with her baby, even if she had to come down by airplane. That is, of course, in case the company making Elinor Glyn's "Beyond the Rocks" does not finish those snow scenes before Christmas.

Irene Rich, who is playing a leading role in a Mayer production, is hoping day by day that the company won't be called away on location until after Christmas, as she has ordered a tree from Santa Claus for her two little girls.

Allan Dwan's Plans.

If all goes well Allan Dwan is to go to Europe to make a picture for the government, according to word just received from New York, where Dwan is now stopping. Negotiations to this end are under way.

In case present plans so through, the production will be the greatest which Dwan has ever undertaken. While it is not known just what members of his company and technical staff he will take with him, it is rumored that Mary Thurman, who previously appeared in so many of his pictures, will play the lead.

Conny Talmadge Travels.

Constance Talmadge and her company, making "The Divorcee," left yesterday for Catalina. This is Miss Talmadge's first trip to the island, and she's looking forward to a lively swim, even if it is cold.

Stork Headed for Green's.

The stork is hovering over the home of Director Al Green and his wife. Mrs. Green is known professionally as Vivian Reid, and was formerly a Selig star.

Theda Bara in Films.

Theda Bara, former picture star, and the world's champ vamp, who has lately been appearing with huge success in vaudeville throughout the East, following a stage appearance in "The Blue Flame," is once more to return to the film drama.

The star has been away from the screen for a year and a half. Her husband-director, Charles Brabin, is planning for his wife to go to France to make a picture directed by himself, according to word just received from New York, where the pair now are. But Miss Bara states that after a few more pictures, she intends to go back on the stage—however, she says, with a play different in type from "The Blue Flame."

Constance Binney Tells It.

It remained for Constance Binney to get in the last word in unique fashion, according to her own story. The Realart star took a trip in an airship the other day.

"I flew over the house of a person I don't like," said Miss Binney, "and when right overhead, I leaned out of the flying machine and told that person what I thought of her!"

Katherine's New Leading Man.

In "Domestic Relations," her latest photoplay, which Chet Withey is now directing at the Preferred Pictures studio, Katherine MacDonald is supported by William P. Carleton.

Carleton is well known as a leading man, having played leads for the past three years. He is perhaps best known for his interpretation of the leading masculine role in "The Inside of the Cup."

Others appearing in support of Miss MacDonald are Barbara Le Marr, Frank Leigh, Frank D. Ormston, and others.

Jackie Coogan Writes Life.

Jackie Coogan is preparing to write the story of his life. That may not sound very thrilling, but you don't know Jackie's imagination.

Realart's Plans.

Emphasizing Realart's recent policy of searching out original stories especially suitable for the types of the five girls starred by the organization, Elmer Harris, supervising director, announces the purchase of several new scripts for early release.

"They're all grown up dramas," explained Mr. Harris yesterday.

Where Song, Dance and Mirth Invite.

On Vaudeville Programs.

Kitty Gordon, headliner next week at Orpheum, and Wynne Gallie, appearing in Ferris Hartman's amusing revue this week at Pantages.

"We're taking the young ladies out of the blue-sash plays."

Heading the list is an original by Mr. Harris himself, the story to be an early Mary Miles Minter vehicle. Other screen successes by Mr. Harris include "The March Hare," "The Speed Girl," "Ducks and Drakes," and others.

Wells Hastings, title editor for Realart and author of several successful Dorothy Gish photoplays, has written an original for Constance Binney, while Leigh Wyant, who played Beauty in "Experience," is the author of a new Bebe Daniels vehicle.

Richard Dix Wins.

There's one proud man on the Goldwyn lot, and that's Richard Dix. The reason is that he recently annexed the President's Cup in the California Country Club golf tournament, winning by a score of 68 for eighteen holes. As Mr. Dix has only been playing golf for six months, he naturally feels rather set up.

Jack Donovan Tells It.

So many curious persons have written to Jack Donovan, juvenile in Lois Weber's "What Do Men Want," at the California, asking what it really is that the eternal masculine craves, that he is thinking of having printed in place of Christmas cards a set of answers to the question.

"Men want," says our Lois Weber protege:

"Not to have to doll up like a Sparrow collar ad when called on to play a juvenile role.

"To pass up a few afternoon tea parties and get out now and then for a cross-country hike or a romp with their pet pup.

"To be able to get gangway through the crowd of loafers that hang around the busiest corner of any city watching the women shoppers get on the cars.

"To be able to sit out a dance or two now and then and have a chat over a pipeful of curve-cut with some of their cronies in the smoking-room.

"To be able to follow their hobby, be it architecture or atavism, without being made fun of.

"To get on a pair of overalls and tinker with the old bus, and not be reprimanded on returning to the house oily and dirty."

WILL CHRISTEN NEW STAGE WITH DANCE.

Employees of the Lasky studio will celebrate the completion of the huge new glass stage, which has just been finished with a big family dance to be staged on Saturday evening.

Approximately 1000 production workers are expected to be present. This list includes employees from every branch of studio activity. Stars, directors, cameramen, carpenters, painters, artists, scenario writers, laborers, seamstresses, property men, electricians, accountants, laboratory workers and press agents will be there.

One of the special events of the evening will be the contest dancing for the Fred Kley trophy—the silver loving cup presented by Studio Manager Kley. General Manager Charles F. Eyton will be master of ceremonies.

Among the players and directors who will be present, it is announced, are Betty Compson, Agnes Ayres, Wallace Reid, Rudolph Valentino, Theodore Roberts, William D. Taylor, Sam Wood, James Cruze, Philip Rosen, Paul Powell and Dorothy Dalton. Elinor Glyn will also be present. Location work will carry one or two production units out of the city, thereby preventing greater attendance.

STRICTLY LEGAL.

Can you imagine wide-open gambling on a horse race right here in Los Angeles? It is true; every night a small fortune is lost and won before the eyes of hundreds of our best citizens, and so far not a single arrest has been made. This goes on at the Majestic Theater, where Willie Collier's latest comedy success, "The Hottentot," is drawing capacity houses for its second week. Of course, it is stage money that changes hands, but it's all very realistic, nevertheless.

LOIE BRIDGE IS BACK.

After an absence of nearly three months, due to a nervous breakdown from overwork, Loie Bridge is herself again, and will be back on the Burbank stage next week in the new Hi-Jinks extravaganza, "The Man in Black." Miss Bridge, before coming to this Coast with the Hi-Jinks organization, was featured in eastern vaudeville circuits, and during her stay at the Burbank Theater won popularity for her clever characterization of the "young-old woman" in company with Al Bridge as the "young-old man."

RADIOS.

CAN MANY LAUGHS.

NO SLUMP ALONG PIE AND PUDDLE LANE.

By Edwin Schallert.

Comedy has its ups and downs, but now is apparently once again skimming more or less gracefully along its pie-d path toward new goals of uproariousness. So 'twould seem to anybody who happens to wander around the lanes of laughter in industrious or otherwise filmdom.

At Mack Sennett's these days the air is filled with Spanish accents, and the wardrobe well stocked with sombreros. The reason being that Mabel Normand is busy on "Suzanna," which is scheduled to follow "Molly-O." This, however, is in the nature of a feature production.

More true to the traditional type of comedy is the Ben Turpin and Phyllis Haver picture which has just been started, and the Billy Evans and Mildred June film which has just been finished. The Turpin-Haver comedy is the first of the series to be made by these stars, while the Bevan-June comedy is the third of their series.

At Fox studio there are seven or eight comedy companies on the active list. Clyde Cook, Chester Conklin, Al St. John and others of the stars are busy in these. Christie is keeping up an active schedule, while Universal also has the cameras grinding steadily in the cause of mirth.

This doesn't include either the independent stars, like Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd and the like, who are all moving along in their productions, as is Larry Semon at Vitagraph.

Earle Plans Another.

While the film of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam is the center of a legal scrap, it appears that Ferdinand Earle is not neglecting his future activities in pictures, but is going right ahead with plans for a new feature.

"The story will not be of the medieval oriental type, as 'The Rubaiyat,'" said Mr. Earle. "It will be what you might call an art nouveau production. Yes, I intend to utilize paintings as settings as in 'The Rubaiyat,' but to an even greater extent."

"Theodora" Billed.

"Theodora," the Italian spectacle film, which has had a remarkable success in the East, is to be brought to Los Angeles for its initial showing here Christmas Day at the California Theater. It is considered one of the most gorgeous of romantic productions yet seen on the silver sheet.

Karger to Film Special.

Maxwell Karger is to be retained by the Metro studios, following the closing down of activities there. A contract has been made with the director to film a special production immediately following the reopening of the studios. This picture will not be released on the regular Metro program, and will have a group of well-known players as one of its prime attractions.

Hughes To Go East.

Immediately upon completion of his picture "Remembrance," which he is now cutting and titling, Rupert Hughes will make a trip to New York. He is expected to return early in the New Year to resume his work in the films.

Jack Wilson Absent.

Kitty Gordon will not be accompanied by Jack Wilson on appearing here next week at the Orpheum. Instead Melvin Stokes, a former Angeleno, is at the head of her troupe. He was formerly in the Ferris Hartman Company here.

Film Fans Shop.

The need for better screen entertainment appears to be the ruling thought in the mind of J. D. Williams, general manager of the Associated First National Pictures, who is visiting here. Mr. Williams yesterday gave out a statement regarding the need for such improvement, and also expressed himself as encouraged with the progress here.

"The trend of the times makes it not only necessary, but absolutely imperative, that the public be given better screen entertainment," he said. "The picture fans are today 'shopping' for their screen pleasure, just as the housewife 'shops' for the best buy in dress goods material. The organizations that will survive in the motion-picture business will be those which can offer the most alluring entertainment at the best figure.

"Owing to the fact that admission prices will have a downward trend during the coming months, it is necessary that these bigger pictures be made at a cost considerably less than has been the average for the past year. Unless a producer has a star or story of guaranteed box office value, he cannot afford to put huge sums of money into his pictures, for unless the picture is a sure-fire hit, the original cost will never be returned."

Mr. and Mrs. Williams will leave for New York tomorrow.

War Thrills On Screen at Benefit.

The realities of war, presented via a medium which eliminates all the terror and fear of death and devastation for the eyewitness, are gripping the attention of those who attend the benefit performances by the Federation of French War Veterans at the Walker Theater. The main feature of the program is the showing of authentic French war films taken on the battle front during the World War. The first presentation was given last night, and the performance will be repeated tonight.

The pictures revealed views from the locations now famous for their historic significance, among these Chateau Thierry. The dangerous region of the first-line trenches, the work done by French women to aid their country, the energy and fearlessness of the inhabitants of the war-torn districts, and some bits of actual engagements were flashed on the silver sheet.

The Community Service Band, under the direction of J. A. Wald, is furnishing music for the program.

CONTRALTO SOLOIST.

Mme. Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus is always welcomed by local music lovers, so by having secured the services of this distinguished contralto for his eighty-second concert next Sunday morning, Sid Grauman feels that he has guaranteed a program of rare interest. While the compositions to be presented on Sunday were not written by Spaniards, they all deal with Spanish subjects. Chabrier's "Rhapsodie Espagnole" and the "Capriccio Espagnole" of Rimsky-Korsakow are the opening and closing numbers, and selections from "Carmen" are promised. A novelty number will be an assemblage of Mexican airs made by Toledano, a Mexican composer of great local popularity.

ENGAGES TENOR.

Henri LaBonte, concert singer, has been engaged for Grauman's Rialto Theater to sing in conjunction with the presentation of the Paramount release, "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford." LaBonte's voice is a lyrical tenor of range and expressiveness. He has been singing in and around San Francisco following a concert tour of the Coast and Middle West. He will give songs of quality, but in a lighter and popular vein, his opening selections being the McCormick success, "I Hear You Calling Me," and Oley Speaks's vigorous "On the Road to Mandalay."

"LAST TRAIL" SOON.

"The Last Trail," one of Zane Grey's celebrated novels, adapted for the screen by the Fox Company, will open an engagement here at Miller's Theater Christmas Day. Mr. Miller claims that it has been produced in a superb manner and promises entertainment well worth while. The direction was in the hands of Emmett J. Flynn, who made "A Connecticut Yankee," and the leading roles are enacted by Maurice Flynn, Rosemary Theby, Eva Novak and Wallace Beery.

THE FEATHERY KIND.

Harry Garrity, who will appear beginning Sunday in "A Prince There Was," says he is willing to prove to anyone who doubts him the truth of the following incident: Upon biting into a hot-dog sandwich he encountered a feather in the sausage. "What kind of a dog do you call this?" he asked the waiter, indignantly. "Why, that's a bird-dog, sir," replied the waiter.

Unconscious Woman Found in the Street.

Believed to have been struck by an automobile or stricken with a fainting spell, a woman about 40 years of age, identified as Mrs. Clara P. Heinemann of 805 West Eighteenth street, was found lying unconscious in the street at Sixteenth and Georgia streets early last night by W. R. Simkins of 1322 South Flower street.

Mr. Simkins placed the elderly woman in his automobile and took her to the Receiving Hospital, where police surgeons found she was suffering from concussion of the brain, lacerations of the face, shock and fracture of the right thumb.

SEEK TO BLOCK CEMETERY PLAN.

Realty Brokers Circulate Hollywood Petition.

Proposed Improvements Are Away From Street.

Cemetery Chapel and Lodge Excite Opposition.

A petition to prevent the Hollywood Cemetery Association from carrying out certain improvements which form a part of its general development plans for the sixty-acre tract now owned by the association on Santa Monica Boulevard between Bronson street and Van Ness avenue, is being circulated in the Hollywood district by a group of realty brokers and business men, who for ten years have been engaged in trying to block improvement plans of the association.

The petition, if sufficient signatures are obtained, will be presented to the City Council, calling upon that body to amend the ordinance governing cemeteries so as to prevent the extension of the present burial area in Hollywood cemetery. The Santa Monica-Vine Realty Club, the organization which is attempting to prevent the further development of the cemetery, will also make an effort to obtain a permanent injunction to restrain the Hollywood Cemetery Association from building a crematory.

FIRST OVER CREMATORY.

The fight was precipitated by the filing last week of a permit to the association to build a crematory building, a concrete and stone structure 150 by 134 feet, "in the neighborhood of Gower street," according to the statement of officials of the project. As a matter of fact, the site for the building is located more than two blocks south of Santa Monica Boulevard. The building will be built and of handsome design and will in no sense of the word constitute a public nuisance, according to Harry W. Watson, president and secretary of the Hollywood Cemetery Association.

"The association contemplates a number of improvements in the cemetery, and these improvements, when carried out, will make the cemetery one of the most beautiful in the city. In addition to the crematory building, for which a permit has already been issued, the association is having plans prepared for a beautiful chapel and mausoleum, a new receiving vault, and a superintendent's lodge.

DEVELOPMENT REFUSED.

The Santa Monica-Vine Business Realty Association's efforts to block the improvements of the association attempted last week to get the indorsement of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, which organized, to their plans, the indorsement was withheld.

"A small group of business men of the city, mostly brokers, feel that the cemetery is detrimental to their interests," said Mr. Watson yesterday. "Several months ago they [illegible] to restrict the cemetery to its present limits, so that it could be used for residences through section on the west of the City Council, but the Council refused to rule against us in this respect.

"The property is now in a high state of cultivation, and we have planned closely to our original intent to improve and care for the property. The action being taken against us now is due to the short-sightedness of a few men who feel that their interests are being hurt by the presence of the cemetery in that neighborhood.

FIXED BY ZONE PLAN.

"The status of the cemetery has been permanently settled in the zoning plans for the city, and we feel that it would amount to confiscation to prevent us from doing what we are entitled to do. The demands have been made upon us which we have been unable to grant. We have been required to cut public streets through the property, and we were also asked to set aside about 200 feet of frontage on the Santa Monica Boulevard and the Gower-street business for business buildings. But the property has been platted as a cemetery, and as long as we comply with the laws under which we operate, I can see no reason why we should not be allowed to continue our development and improvement work."

The attempt to bring the development of Hollywood Cemetery into a zone is regarded with strong disfavor by many residents of Hollywood, who regard the ground as consecrated. The Santa Monica-Vine Business Realty Club hopes to gain between 4000 and 5000 signatures to its petition, but there are more than 60,000 people residing within the Hollywood district, and even if a total of 5000 signatures is secured, it will represent but a very small portion of the community.

Mrs. Abbie W. Dodd.

RITES FOR PIONEER.

Funeral of Mrs. Abbie W. Dodd to be Conducted Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Abbie W. Dodd, 82 years old, widow of the late Rev. Reuel Dodd, who died yesterday morning at the home of her son, Hubert R. Dodd, 1237 South Gramercy Place, will be conducted at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the chapel of the W. A. Brown undertaking establishment. Burial will be in Inglewood Cemetery, beside her late husband.

Mrs. Dodd was a pioneer of Colorado. She and her husband moved to Trinidad in 1878, before the railroad had reached that point, and they came to Southern California thirty-three years ago.

Born in Newburyport, Mass., Mrs. Dodd passed the early years of her life at Utica, O., where she became the wife of Mr. Dodd in 1859. They lived for a time at Bloomfield, Iowa, then at Macon City, Mo., and at Clinton, Mo., journeying west from there to Trinidad. They moved to Pacific Beach in 1888.

Mrs. Dodd was the mother of three children. Two, Augustine and Fannie, are dead. The husband died in 1916. The only other member of the family is the son, Hubert R. Dodd of this city.

Rev. Reuel Dodd, who was for many years a Presbyterian minister, served through the Civil War with the Squirrel Hunters from Utica, and with a volunteer infantry regiment. He was discharged in 1864 with the rank of sergeant.

ASSERTED HOLD-UP IS KILLED.

Marine Shot by Driver of Harbor Taxicab Who Says He Was Attacked.

Delbert M. Sweagle, marine on the dreadnaught Connecticut, was shot and killed early yesterday morning by Resto Michael, taxicab driver, when, Mr. Michael said, Sweagle and Samuel Galgo, a sailor on the same ship, attempted to rob the taxi driver and a companion as the four were driving from Los Angeles Harbor to Wilmington. Galgo was arrested by Sergt. Day of the harbor police and held for investigation.

Mr. Michael told the police that he had been engaged by the two men to drive them to Wilmington. The driver took A. Morales as a companion. Both declare the marine and sailor attacked them with rocks soon after leaving the business center. Mr. Michael stated he had been struck on the head with a rock and dazed. Rising in his seat he fired backward over his head. The bullet entered Sweagle's eye, killing him instantly.

Galgo jumped from the machine and fled. He was found later by the city police hiding in the hills near the city.

A naval court of inquiry was named yesterday to investigate Sweagle's death.

Skidding Auto Upsets; Youth Dies of Hurts.

Hurled through the windshield of an automobile when it overturned on the wet pavement in the 4800 block on West Pico street, Willard Howe, 15 years of age, of 927 South Windsor Boulevard, was so badly injured yesterday morning that he died in the Receiving Hospital two hours later. A man automobile, the police say.

Police detectives reported that young Willard was being taken to the Los Angeles High School by Mr. Crossman.

While the youth was being taken to the Receiving Hospital by the police, Mr. Crossman was picked up by a passing motorist and removed to his home. He was not seriously injured. The accident, according to the police, was unavoidable and no arrests were made.

Husband Threw Knife and Chair, Wife Charges.

A knife unsuccessfully wielded and a chair artfully but not accurately thrown are the two principal figures in a separate maintenance suit filed yesterday by Mrs. R. Glendinning of Long Beach against James E. Glendinning. According to the complaint, filed after missing with a knife, tried to strike his wife with a chair. Instead, the chair struck a door.

The complaint, which was prepared by Attorney R. H. Underhill of the Seattle city, states that Glendinning constantly accused his wife of being insane.

SON OF DETECTIVE LOSES DAMAGE SUIT.

Thomas F. Rice, Jr., son of the police detective, was denied judgment yesterday in a suit brought by him against Dr. Paul Fry, charging malpractice. A jury in Judge McCormick's court found for the doctor. Young Rice charged in his complaint that Fry performed a blood transfusion operation and left an infection. Dr. Fry set up the defense that Rice suffered from the infection before the operation. Dr. Farrier was represented by Attorney W. H. Jobes.

MAN ELECTROCUTED.

Worker Killed When He Grasps Live Wire on Pole.

Hugh T. Martin, 43 years of age, of 1021 West Fifty-fourth street, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon when he touched a high-tension wire while working on a pole at Slauson and Central avenues. The body was taken to the Receiving Hospital by Patrolmen Hodson and Hamilton of University Police Station.

Mr. Martin, a lineman for the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company, was sent to Slauson and Central avenues to repair some lines. He had just climbed to the top of the pole when he touched the wire carrying 2300 volts.

INDIANS LACK WOMEN'S CLUBS

Navajos Neglected, Asserts Ebell Lecturer.

Denied School Facilities and Playgrounds.

Parent-Teachers Societies Unknown There.

BY MYRA NYE.

Can it be possible that clubwoman's work is too intensive in Los Angeles and lacking outside of the cities? Such a question was suggested by William McGinnies, a member of the lecture staff of the Southwest Museum, who spoke before the West Ebell Club yesterday.

"Legends and Ceremonials of the Navajo Indian" was the subject of the address, but Mr. McGinnies gave the latest information concerning the 330,000 Indians scattered over the Southwestern States, with whom the speaker has had close contact for many years past.

"On the Indian reservation there is no such thing as organized and supervised recreation for children and there are no school facilities for 23,000 eligible and physically fit to go to school," he said. "There is no parent-teachers' association, playgrounds are unknown and Indian boys and girls know nothing of the gymnasium and swimming pool.

"There is no woman's club and nothing is being done to teach the Indian woman the care of babies and children. Hygiene is a sealed book to them. Three-fifths of all the children die before they are 5 years old, a contributing cause being lack of milk. The death rate of Indians is just twice that of white people and conditions are growing worse."

About 180,000 Indians are citizens and they are under bureau domination. "But," said Mr. McGinnies, "the quality of their citizenship would be so ridiculous were it not so tragic."

In spite of their handicaps Indians gave a larger percentage of volunteers for our Army in the World War than any other class of Americans; they bought $50,000,000 in Liberty Bonds and furnished 100,000 hospital garments, he stated.

DRAMA LEAGUE.

Speakers at the dinner tonight when the Drama League and the Council of Community Service unite in a dinner program at the Mary Louise Tea Room in the Brack Shops, represent various community interests.

Mrs. E. P. Werner, organizer of Los Angeles Community Service, says that the work started less than three years ago now demonstrates permanent values and has outgrown all its bounds. This phase of community work is an evolution from the War Camp Community Service and at no time in its history has there been such vital far-reaching results secured in Los Angeles. She will tell of the work of the last few months and outline the plans for the future.

The Los Angeles center of the Drama League is another organization whose work has surpassed all records so far this season. Mrs. W. W. Burton, president of the local organization, will tell of this work.

"The Drama" is the topic of Dr. Margaret Carhart, who is leader of the study section of the Pasadena Drama League, and Miss Marjorie Day, drama organizer of National Community Service, will speak of the pageant as a part of drama and Sidney Sprague, president of the Playcrafters will tell of play-making.

W. W. Pangburn, who has been sent by the national head of community service to make a survey of this work in the West as divisional secretary, says that in no city in the West has community service work progressed as in Los Angeles.

Mrs. L. R. Yankwich, chairman of community song, L. E. Behymer, Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood Bowl Association and L. H. Weir, head of the Playground Recreation Association of America, will make short talks.

"Service to the Community," an address by G. Bromley Oxnam, director of community work and one of the city's best known social workers, will conclude the program.

Matinee Musical Club.

Red and white are the club colors of the Matinee Musical Club. At the Christmas luncheon at the Jonathan Club Wednesday, there could have been no more beautiful motif to delight the eye, with the bonquets of poinsettias centering the table, and red and white in all the appointments.

Mrs. Spencer-Kelley, president, presided, and told of the serious theme of the after-lunch discussion. It was the "Devising of Ways and Means to Pay Musicians on Club Programs." Those who presented different angles of the subject were: Ora Monnette, president of the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, who spoke of the "Value of Art in Life;" George Foster Platt, organizer of the Little Theater of New York, who spoke of "Pay in Drama," and L. Behymer, who said there were only two clubs in Los Angeles where musicians should give their talent for programs, the Gamut and the Dominant.

Those who spoke on the subject from the newspaper angle were Florence Pierce Reed, Bruno Usher, Gilbert Brown and Myra Nye.

Today with the children of the Settlement School as their honor guests, the club will enjoy a program of songs and dances rendered by professional juveniles. Hugo Hamlin will present Phyllis Lane and other children in special acts. A reading by Edna Lucile Swindel and a violin solo by Ruth Wilson will conclude the program.

Philanthropy and Civics Club.

"When I sat beside Gen. Diaz as we rode past the City Hall the other day, I called his attention to some soldiers on the other side of the street. I was proud of the soldiers, and I was ashamed of the City Hall," said Mayor Cryer, luncheon speaker for the Philanthropy and Civics Club Tuesday.

"In our enthusiasm concerning harbor development and electric power, we have lost sight of something just as important to us," continued the Mayor. "In our municipal buildings we have facilities for about 50,000 population, and we number well toward twelve times that many."

To illustrate the growth the Mayor told of the friend of Admiral Eberle, who went by auto up to San Francisco.

"How long a trip was it since you left Los Angeles?" asked the Admiral.

"Six hours," was the reply, and at the exclamation of Admiral Eberle, who was in the northern city at that time, he added, "It took me two days to get out of the limits of Los Angeles and six hours since."

The afternoon was devoted to Christmas sewing for the poor of the city, and a small sensation was created when the president, Mrs. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith, announced that the card party and bazaar last Friday augmented the budget for philanthropy by $1268.50.

Next week Wesley Barry will tell the children how it feels at Christmas time to be a screen favorite.

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

CHRISTMAS RIBBON SKIP

The players form two lines, with partners opposite. Every second couple holds a green ribbon bridgewise between them and every other couple holds a red ribbon. Lively music accompanies the ribbon dance, which has three movements, A, B and C.

Movement A—All green couples face red couples. All greens and reds change places in four skipping steps. All reds pass under the green ribbons. All turn, still holding ribbons, and return to their places, with the greens passing under the red ribbons. Repeat the entire movement once.

Movement B—The ribbons are dropped by the girls and held aloft by the men with both hands. The first girl skips outside of her line, followed by all but the last girl; the men do the same, leaving the end man to hold the ribbon with his partner, the last girl. When partners meet each takes one end of the ribbon and all skip back under the ribbon arch held by the end couple. Repeat movement in reverse with first couple forming arch.

Movement C—All couples hold ribbon arches high. First couple skips under this arcade, then second couple, and so on until the end, all returning to places until the last couple has skipped through the reformed arches. Movements A, B and C are then repeated until all the couples have returned to their original positions.

GOOD TAX RECORD.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Dec. 14.—Largely because the greater part of its ta xreceipts come from the mining industry, Cochise county claims pre-eminence as the county of prompt tax payments. Of the 1921 tax roll of $2,623,881, already has been paid in the sum of $1,309,986. Only half the tax is due, and so the record is considered a remarkably one. The gross total of all delinquent taxes for the past ten years is $15,659.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

They Are Wearing:

Chin chokers of fur, these collars sometimes so high that it is necessary to turn them over to enable any movement of the dimpled chin. Frequently, armlets of fur to match are seen, these extending above the elbow. Such ultra accessories are for the few, however, rather than the many.

Crepe Georgette again, for top clothes. This fabric, long in eclipse, could not long remain obscured, owing to its appropriateness for many uses. Even fashion has her practical side. Complexion veils, which never long remain out of vogue for the reason that a thin film over the face tends to lend charm, even to the girl of fairest skin.

Are You a Shop-Earlier?

Have you done as you agreed? As you last year agreed with yourself that you would do "next time," I mean. Have you carefully made out your Christmas lists, in order to facilitate the joyous, arduous task of holiday gifting? And do in the day, early in the week, as you make it a point to shop early well as early in the season? To be sure, the latter "early" is already becoming late and "hurry" must be the watchword, even now.

Novel Basketry.

Some of the new baskets are more lovely than those of any season past. Made from smoothly polished reeds, and tinted in delicate pastel tones, some of the graceful shapes are decked with molded fruits, enfilmed with pastel coloring like the baskets. These would form most gracious gifts when filled with fruits, either real or waxly simulated. For the console table or the sideboard these objects lend a touch of brilliant, attractive color.

Can You Bare This?

At an evening party recently, the Aphrodite fad was quite noticeable, especially when—observed of all—one of the prettiest girls who frankly wears rolled down socks, sat cross-legged upon a couch, her short skirted gown holding a brief in favor of the Altogether Goddess. But "honi soit," something to that effect, only in Greek.

A Soon Choice of Gems.

If you are one of the fortunate men who can afford for the lady of your heart a real gem for Christmas, let me advise you to buy it early. Choosing a jewel is a work worthy the expenditure of ample time. To select such adornment for Her Ladyship, you should concentrate; expend upon the matter thought as well as money. First of all should come the decision as to the house wherefrom you will buy. It must be a house of reliability as well as one of ability. It should be a house making a specialty of gems and having employed the best of genius in this line. The firm name of certain jewelry establishments carries conviction. Those who have put into their reputation a lifetime of endeavor cannot afford to destroy such a structure, just for a single sale or even for many sales. Therefore, in buying jewels, above all other merchandise, reputation should be the guiding star. Then the jewel should be appropriate to the wearer who is to possess it. Some women do not "become" diamonds, but need the colored gems, sapphires, rubies. Always, however, are diamonds the appropriate settings or gravings for colored jewels, lending something of their own brilliance. They are, when thus utilized, like a mirror to a fair woman's loveliness.

The uefulness of the jewel also should be considered. Yes, for jewels are useful. For example, you would not give to a woman who does not frequent balls, a tiara, a full dress necklace or ormlets. Nor would you give pearls to one who has passed the pearl age. There are many articles more appropriate for her—more useful The wrist watch, which may be had in values both large and small, is welcome and therefore useful to any woman or any girl, not possessed of one.

Giving Time.

A strikingly good gift for the home-owner is a clock of sterling worth. The range of clocks is such as to make possible the gift of any proportions, from the tiny tinkler to place beside the bed to waken one with a chime at rising time, to the superb hall standard, the grandfather's clock to stand twenty years on the stair. I have sometimes wondered if those who invented clocks had any idea of the wonderful gift possibilities to be recorded in their favor, as time ticked on.

The Last Word.

Have you ever known a scholarly family who did not forever pore over the dictionary? The latest word, its definition, its pronunciation, its derivation; these are forever in dispute and no one save she or he who is backed up by the latest dictionary, can be certain of the "last word" when it comes to such disputes. Therefore, what could be a better gift than the latest dictionary?

Upon Fashion's Tablets.

An attractive street coat features the long waistline and circular skirt.

The long, wide sleeve is used on lace dresses with amazing effectiveness.

Brick colored velours with a black stripe make a charming sports frock.

A gorgeous affair is the new wide, fan-shaped brocade cloak which fits snugly on the shoulders and flares until it is very full at the hem.

Long, thin rolls of crepe are used in masses as trimming on frocks of crepe.

Long chains of pearls trim an evening gown of flame-colored chiffon velvet.

Removable collar and cuffs of fur can be worn on both suits and coat frocks.

A frock of black serge is trimmed with bands of black braid and long fringes.

Flame color is seen again and again at the waistline of the frock, whether it be carried out in the girdle, or in a large red flower.

The simple crepe frock may be worn either with a deeply fringed girdle, a lace tunic or a rolled girdle with pleated panels.

Beautiful brocades in bold flower patterns are used for handsome evening gowns. Many of these creations show the ragged hem.

A gown of black charmeuse is belted with gold lace and has a train of charmeuse and lace hanging from one shoulder.

Popular Blouse.

Blouses are taking on airs when they can masquerade as a dress with the aid of an underslip as this pussywillow canton crepe model is doing here. (Central News Photo Service.)

No. 22—Three Erased Marks Restored.

The palm of the left hand is shown empty, and the hand is placed beneath a table. Three marks are drawn on top of the table, with the end of a burned match, or three little clusters of cigarette ash may be used. The right hand wipes away the marks; the left is withdrawn and the marks are found transferred to the center of the left palm.

Three similar marks were previously made on three of the left fingernails. Thus the left palm was shown empty, but by merely clenching the fist beneath the table the marks were brought into the palm.

Asserted Fracture of Nose Fails To Win Damages.

Myrtle Edwards, who asserted that Frank R. Smith struck her on the nose and fractured it because she refused to stay out all night with him, lost her suit for $10,000 damages before Judge Parker yesterday. She declared the defendant struck her without provocation. She had no witnesses to the affray.

Mr. Smith did not deny that he had made advances to the plaintiff.

He said she slapped his face and he defended himself from her attack, but denied he struck her.

Long Beach Man Asks Court to Set Aside Two Marriages.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Dec. 14.—James T. Holley of this city married the same woman twice and now wants both marriages annulled. The twin complaints, filed through Attorney John H. Burke, recite that the couple were first married in Florence, Ariz., April 29, 1913. Shortly after the marriage, Holley says, he learned that he had not secured a final decree of divorce from a former wife until two days after the marriage. However, he continued to live with his wife and a daughter, Maxine, was born two years later. Following a series of domestic altercations, Holley says, on September 8, his wife forced him by threats to have a second marriage ceremony performed at Riverside. Holley now is seeking to have the legality of both matrimonial adventures with the same wife set aside by the court.

TRUCKMAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT.

Driver Suffers Terrible Injury — Sheriff Seeks Man's Slayer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 14.—George M. Bowers, oil truck driver for the Seaside Oil Company of Summerland, had his left arm torn off at the elbow here today. He had climbed under his truck to throw a belt from a wheel which operates a pump on the tank wagon and his sweater sleeve became caught in the cogs on the pump.

He could not extricate his arm and only after the arm had been torn completely off could he get from under the truck. He then stopped the motor, walked into a cafe and asked for aid. Later the amputated arm was found in the cogs.

During all the ordeal and up to the time Bowers went on the operating table at a local hospital he made no outcry and merely remarked to the police hurrying him to the hospital that his arm "sure hurt some." Surgeons say chances of recovery are good. He has a wife and seven children.

SHERIFF SEEKS SLAYER.

Sheriff James Ross is tonight looking for an unidentified negro, in connection with the finding last night of the body of a man secreted beneath a pile of brush near the State highway, thirty-five miles west of Santa Barbara, near Las Cruces. The man's skull had been beaten apparently with a rock found near by on which human hair was sticking. A purse containing a counter check of the First National Bank of Watertown, S. D., purporting to be drawn for $100 in favor of Harry Olson by John D. Rockefeller, was found near the body. The body was clad in olive drab shirt, bib overalls and heavy brogans. Las Cruces residents say the dead man was seen near there, walking along the State highway on Monday with a negro who carried a satchel slung across his shoulder.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Ralph Beardsley, 24 years old, is dead, and D. A. Phelps, grocer, is in jail here held in connection with his death. Phelps having driven his car into a machine in front of which Beardsley was standing, pinning Beardsley between that car and another parked just in front of it. He sustained internal injuries. The police claim they were eyewitnesses who will testify that Phelps was driving at a speed in excess of forty-five miles an hour.

Mrs. W. B. Croaker, who was standing in front of one of the parked cars at the time, had her shoulder broken in the accident. Phelps says he swerved suddenly in passing the two parked cars to avoid being struck by a machine approaching him which was crowding onto his right of way.

POMONA MAN FACES YOUNG GIRL ACCUSER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Dec. 14.—Basil Roseberry of Claremont, who is charged by Florence Wade of this city, with being the father of her 2 months' old baby, faced Judge White this morning in a preliminary hearing of the case.

The girl was the only witness examined today, Dep. Dist.-Atty. George Glover representing the State and C. W. Guerin and Harry H. Mason acting as counsel for the accused.

The girl is 17 years old and charges that Roseberry promised to marry her. Roseberry is married, and both he and his wife declare that the whole case is a frame-up. Further hearing was postponed until January 5.

That turkey dinner, Merritt Jones Hotel, Ocean Park, Sundays, is becoming very popular; $1.50 plate.—[Advertisement.

GUARDS FIGHT WITH YEGGMEN.

Citizen Police Wound Confessed Robber.

Burglars Attempted Blowing Safe at Bowles.

Third Offense in Carnival of Crime.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Dec. 14.—Aroused from sleep early this morning by the noise of the explosion incident to the blowing of the Rowell-Johnson Mercantile Company's safe at Bowles, a suburb of Fresno, A. P. Haberneicht and Mark Anderson, citizen guards at Bowles, engaged in a revolver duel with two yeggmen, both of whom were wounded.

Joe Patterson, one of the robbers, who was finally shot down in an attempt to escape, was captured and brought to an emergency hospital here for treatment for wounds in the forehead and both legs.

The other yegg, whom Patterson says is Frank Smith, was also wounded, but made his escape in a waiting automobile following an exchange of shots. The interior of the Johnson store was wrecked, but all the loot, including several hundred dollars in cash and a quantity of merchandise which the bandits removed from the store, was recovered.

Constable John Ford of Fowler, who was the first officer called to the scene of the robbery, at once organized a posse and started in pursuit of the escaped robber, who speeded away toward the south. Up to noon today no trace of the man had been reported here. Haberneicht and Anderson, a part of the citizen guard, which was recently organized at Bowles following two successive robberies, were aroused from sleep by the first of two blasts, and arming themselves with a revolver and a shotgun, proceeded toward the store.

As they approached a second blast was heard inside, and as they neared the door, one of the men who was posted outside as a guard fired on them, bua missed. Taking positions of advantage behind neighboring trees Haberneicht and Anderson opened fire on the robbers, who ran toward a waiting motor car, shooting as they ran.

Patterson was shot down with four wounds before he reached the car, but Smith, who was also wounded, was able to start the machine and escape.

Patterson, who admitted that he attempted to rob the store, claims Bakersfield as his home. Physicians say that he will recover, and he will later be turned over to local authorities.

BOOST MONROVIA.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, Dec. 14.—Ammunition for the heaviest drive ever made for a civic enterprise is being amassed here to be used beginning January 1 when the opening gun will be fired in the campaign to boost Monrovia's Chamber of Commerce from its present 125 membership to 750. The dues have been jumped from $5 to 15, and an elaborate, yet practical program worked out by a special committee for the coming year's labors.

Many of the city's most prominent business and professional men and women have been made members of a special reorganization committee that has been meeting almost nightly since its formation. Bids will be taken this week for the new Chamber of Commerce building, to be built at White Oak and Myrtle avenues.

New signs have been placed at the boulevard entrances of Monrovia, advising motorists that Monrovia, population 10,000, is a city of homes. The enthusiasm for making a live Chamber of Commerce has spread to the schools, where students are naming themselves subcommittees and putting their shoulder to the wheel.

Duarte and Arcadia, neighboring communities of Monrovia, are likewise busily engaged in enlarging their organizations. Duarte has just concluded a membership campaign that increased the total of members from eighty-five to 255. This gives the citrus community a percentage of forty for every man, woman and child, believed the largest ratio of Chamber of Commerce members in the State.

Arcadia has had a civic awakening and is now districting the city into various plots, which will be covered during the next month in a house-to-house membership campaign.

FAVOR PARKING LAW.

Club Indorses Ruling of City Council at Ontario.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Dec. 14.—Recent action of the City Council in prohibiting quadruple automobile parking in the business section of Euclid avenue, between Transit and E streets, by abolishing the parking of cars against the curb of the avenue's center parkway, was given hearty approval by the members of the Current Events Club today when they voted 49 to 4 in favor of the new ruling.

Members of the Ontario Business Men's Association in special session recently adopted a resolution protesting against the parking plan on the ground that it worked a hardship on the merchants and appointed a committee consisting of George A. McCrea, Oscar A. Arnold and B. W. Spencer, to appeal to the Council for a modification at its meeting next week.

The parking order was inaugurated by the Council chiefly as a safety measure and during the weeks that it has been in force the number of traffic accidents has been cut down to a surprising degree.

A big improvement in the appearance of the business district is also noted, it is said.

JURY ACCUSES BANKER.

Wealthy Rancher Must Face Trial Court at San Bernardino on Serious Charge.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 14.—An indictment against F. A. Lucas, president of the First National Bank of Cucamonga was returned late this afternoon by the grand jury, charging him with assault with intent to commit a statutory offense. Bail was fixed at $5000.

A case is already pending against Lucas on a similar charge in the justice court at Upland, the complaining witness, Mrs. Mary A. Pettinger, having refused to tell her story in that court when the case was called for hearing last week on the ground that her testimony would incriminate herself.

Mrs. Pettinger, aged 24, and handsome, was before the grand jury today nearly two hours and is reported to have told in detail the three-hour battle she is alleged to have waged with Lucas in his Cucamonga home the night of November 11, during the absence of his wife and children.

The young woman alleges that when she made her escape, though suffering intensely from injuries sustained in the alleged battle, she made her way to her own home a short distance away, where she appealed to her brother, who summoned aid, and she was taken to the Upland Hospital for treatment.

On Mrs. Pettinger's complaint Lucas was arrested and released on bail. Two days later Mrs. Pettinger signed an affidavit that her charges against Lucas were untrue, but Dist.-Atty. Duckworth refused to dismiss the case and asked the grand jury to investigate.

Mrs. Pettinger had been employed on the Lucas ranch with her two brothers.

Lucas is wealthy and besides being head of the Cucamonga bank is a member of the Lucas Ranching Company, which controls a large amount of acreage there.

SEEDLESS APPLES.

Riverside County Produces New Fruit Wonder.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 14.—Officials of the Department of Agriculture today expressed themselves much interested in the probability that Riverside, which gave to the world the Washington navel orange, may have the credit also of originating a seedless, coreless apple.

Cutting open apples this morning that were grown on stock which three years ago had been budded from a tree belonging to P. T. Evans and on which had been found a seedless apple, C. O. Carlson found that much of the fruit was without seeds and cores.

A. D. Shamel, who has been conducting experiments for the Department of Agriculture along the line of improving varieties through bud selection, says he will endeavor to find the limb of the tree from which the seedless fruit was taken and from it cut buds for the propagation of the new variety.

Use Dynamite to Extinguish Fire in Big Oil Well.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Dec. 14.—With fifteen mud and steam lines directed at the opening to prevent a possible recurrence of the fire, the towering blaze of gas in the well of Wilbur No. 1 of the Shell Company of California on Signal Hill was extinguished with a charge of 100 pounds of gelatin dynamite today.

The explosion was terrific, breaking windows in many homes on the hill and shaking the country for miles around, but it completely accomplished the task assigned to Ford Alexander, explosive expert of Taft, in charge of the work.

The fire had burned just thirty hours. The charge of dynamite, rolled in asbestos fireproof wrappings, was fastened to a cable running between temporary derricks erected to the east and west of the well. A cable was attached to guide the charge. At a signal, the men in charge of the guide cable tugged the dynamite along cable No. 1 and when it hung within seven feet of the flame a detonator exploded the charge. The explosion almost instantly snuffed out the blaze.

Mrs. W. B. Nicholson was seated in a chair in the bedroom of her home at Cherry avenue and Creston street, when the heavy detonation shook the earth. She was thrown from the chair by the force of the explosion, suffering a strained back.

found on the road near the Kennedy cottage, on the ground that nothing was produced to connect the defendant with these shells. The legal arguments on the admissibility of some of the evidence already in the records is expected to be opposed by Mr. Keyes.

MOTHER TO TESTIFY.

The dramatic climax of the prosecution's direct case against the defendant is expected to be staged when Mrs. Kennedy, the murdered man's mother, is called to the stand. She has been in very poor health. She appeared at the opening of the trial some weeks ago, wearing deep mourning, but has not been in the courtroom since that time.

If the prosecution closes its case before noon, and the motions of the defense attorneys are disposed of without lengthy argument, it is likely that an adjournment until tomorrow morning will be granted by Judge Reeve to permit Dist.-Atty. Woolwine, who has been ill, to be present in court when the defense begins to present its testimony. Mr. Woolwine's condition has been reported to be much better.

The introduction of the tiny object described by the prosecution as a thorn, said to have been removed from Burch's knee, is expected to lead to the hottest legal fireworks of the entire trial.

Firman detectives, working for the defense, have found three witnesses whose testimony will be offered to attack the State' sattempt to show that this object is a thorn and that it was removed from Burch's knee. The witnesses were served with subpoenaes by the Firman operators last night.

CAST DOUBT ON STORY OF POISON.

Doctor and Nurses Find No Symptoms of Bichloride, Woman Says She Took.

Expressing doubt that the young woman had taken a dose of poison, Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh last night announced that Violet Bogy Tritle, known here as Sylvia Fairbanks, who has been under observation at the Good Samaritan Hospital since she told friends she had swallowed bichloride tablets, probably will return to her apartment today.

According to physicians and nurses in attendance, the young woman has not shown the slightest symptom of mercurial poisoning since she was taken to the hospital after her startling statement. She told her physician that after giving a party at her apartment a week ago she took poison.

This statement was also made to friends who sought her out the following evening and had her removed to the hospital for observation. After making a careful examination Dr. Fishbaugh declared that he has found no symptoms other than those of tubercular peritonitis.

The young woman is said to be a daughter of Bernard F. Bogy, a nationally known St. Louis politician, who is rated as a millionaire.

According to dispatches received last night from Phoenix, Harry Tritle, one of the owners of the Phoenix Daily Gazette, obtained a divorce from the young woman there about a year ago. She had been married before, Phoenix advices state.

FINDS SISTER SOUGHT FORTY YEARS HERE.

AGED WOMAN CROSSED SEA AND CONTINENT TWICE IN QUESTS.

After an estrangement of forty years, Mrs. A. Morton of Liverpool, Eng., and her sister, Mrs. Ellen Brickley of Santa Monica, have become reconciled. The arrival here last Saturday of Mrs. Morton and the details of her hitherto unavailing quest of her sister, whom she had not seen since they parted four decades ago in England, were told in last Sunday's Times. The article was seen by Mrs. Brickley. A few days ago she called on her sister at the Clark, where Mrs. Morton has been stopping since her recent arrival from England.

Last October Mrs. Morton, who is 87 years of age, journeyed from Liverpool to San Francisco on the strength of a report that her sister was living there. The report proved unfounded and Mrs. Morton returned to England, only to hear her sister was living at Santa Monica. Mrs. Morton took the next steamer back to New York and from there came to Los Angeles.

"I am so happy that I have decided to spend the rest of my days in Los Angeles," said Mrs. Morton yesterday. "Five persons called me up Sunday morning before noon. The following day my sister called on me at the hotel. You cannot know what a wonderful thing has been accomplished by the publication of my little story."

Tears of joy and gratitude filled Mrs. Morton's eyes as she spoke.

Mrs. Morton and her sister became estranged over a slight family misunderstanding.

A Blessing—For Children

A Letter and a Reply

December 14, 1921.

MR. G. H. SHAW, Pres.
South California Milk Dealers Assn.,
Los Angeles, California.

My dear Mr. Shaw:—

In analyzing the various activities of our work at the closing of the year 1921, I feel impelled to write to you and your associates in the South California Milk Dealers Association a special letter of thanks for your splendid support of our milk distribution program during this year.

We have attained, as you know, to a distribution of Two Thousand Four Hundred (2400) quarts per week—or Ten Thousand Five Hundred (10,500) quarts per month. The high quality of this milk is evidenced by the fact that the children commence to gain in weight immediately upon receiving the milk.

This milk goes to weak, undernourished and tubercular children, administered principally under the guidance of Chief Nurse Agnes Talcott of the City Nursing Bureau of the Los Angeles Health Department and other similar agencies.

The splendid results obtained in the increased weight and general improvement of these children, so helped, is attested by the strongest kind of evidence on every hand.

For the whole-hearted support and co-operation which your Association has given us, as well as your generous contribution of actual money, time and effort, so freely given, we thank you most sincerely.

We further take occasion to express our thanks for the fine support of the Club Women of Los Angeles and all others who have so generously helped in this very important work. We are continually broadening the scope of this work and pledge ourselves through the coming year of 1922 to make the most and best effort of which we are capable for the carrying on of this milk distribution and to interest more organizations and individuals in this most worthy cause.

BRIGADIER C. R. BOYD,
Divisional Commander,
Salvation Army,
Los Angeles, California.

My Dear Brigadier Boyd:—

The Southern California Milk Dealers' Association is in receipt of your letter of even date thanking us for our support of and interest in the Milk Distribution program of the Salvation Army here in Los Angeles. We are naturally very gratified to have such a letter of appreciation from you, as head of your organization.

We are, of course, interested in the production, distribution and proper use of pure cow's milk. That, in fact, is our business. But we wish to assure you and the Salvation Army that far and away above any personal or financial interest which we may have in this arrangement with your organization, we do commend most highly the whole plan of effort on your part along this line.

Such support and interest as you have had from us during the past three years you may count upon so long as the work continues to be conducted by you and your organization in its present efficient manner.

4000 Miles of Waxed Paper

THAT is the amount required to wrap the output of HOLSUM Bread in a single year.

This enormous volume of paper—reaching from ocean to ocean—is a striking testimonial of HOLSUM'S popularity.

The reason for this popularity is found in the everyday goodness of the HOLSUM loaf. Women have come to depend on it. They are sure that it is the best bread that baking science knows how to produce. Its quality never varies.

HOLSUM is at your grocer's.
Don't say "Bread"—Say HOLSUM

Why do you inherit a taste for CRESCENT ICE CREAM?

Because your ancestors since the beginning of time have relished Ice Cream. Let us tell you a little of the history of ice cream.

Nubian slaves served the Roman Emperors with snow brought from the mountains of Northern Italy.

As early as 1583, the Turks stored snow, brought from great distances, under their homes.

About 1553, Villo Franko discovered that water could be frozen artificially. A crude sherbet then took the place of snow.

A French chef, De Mirco, served a frozen dessert to Charles I and was pensioned not to reveal his coveted secret.

In 1660 Conteaux froze lemonade in Paris and within fifteen years 250 people in Paris were making iced refreshments.

In 1750, Florin, an Italian, froze cream.

It was first served in the United States by Mrs. Alexander Hamilton at a banquet which George Washington attended.

The New York Post Boy in 1786 carried the first ice cream advertisement in this county, all of these before you have craved ice cream.

This was in the days before there was such perfection in the art of making ice cream—the skill that has made Crescent the biggest seller of ice cream in Southern California.

You have an ancestry of taste. We have an ancestry of experience.

JURORS WARNED IN BURCH CASE.

Anonymous Letters Received by Judge, Counsel.

Witness Says Accused Pair Watched Kennedy Home.

Cellmates of Suspect Tell Nevada Conversation.

you any idea what you are here for?"

"No, I haven't any idea what I'm being held for," Burch was quoted as replying.

Soon afterward, Burch was asserted to have said, "I was arrested for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy in Los Angeles."

"Did you kill Mr. Kennedy?" the witness said he asked.

"No," Burch retorted.

"Then you need not worry," Borts said he remarked.

"I'm not worrying," was Burch's asserted reply.

POINTS IN TESTIMONY.

Burch said he did not know Mr. Kennedy and later said the murdered man was supposed to be a wealthy broker, the witness continued. Other statements attributed to Burch included:

That the murder was in Beverly Glen or Beverly Hills; that he would not be surprised if he should marry Mrs. Obenchain in a few years; that Mr. Kennedy was killed with a shotgun or at least that was what Burch read in the morning newspapers before his arrest; and that Burch said he was at a "soft-drink joint" at 9 o'clock when the murder was committed.

The witness also asserted that Burch was restless and did not sleep much that night, and that he dispatched two telegrams the next morning.

Under cross-examination both he and his "buddy," Thomas Savage, admitted they had been kept here for a month with food, shelter and $3 a day for expense money provided them. Their transportation had been paid and they had bought some new clothes with the State's fees since being called, they said.

Other points brought out were:

That both were prisoners in the Las Vegas jail when Burch was there and that although they had been sentenced to sixty days they were released after serving only thirty days, their release taking place after Burch was removed to Los Angeles.

That Burch probably did not sleep because of the intense heat; both the witnesses stayed awake until at least an hour and one-half after Burch had gone to sleep and they stayed awake on account of the high temperature at night, sleeping in the day time.

The cross-examination of Savage substantiated the above points and in addition the following was testified to:

That Burch told of his past life while all three men talked virtually all night, until it became cooler.

That Burch did not mention reading of the murder in the newspapers.

That the witness' memory from the morning session to the afternoon period resulted in his forgetting some essentials of his early testimony.

STORY IN JAIL.

On direct examination Savage testified substantially as follows:

Savage and his "buddy" or partner, Howard Borts, were in the Las Vegas Jail when Burch was brought in by Sheriff Gay who had arrested Burch in connection with the Kennedy murder at the request of Los Angeles officials. It was between 10 and 11 p.m. when Burch was brought in.

Burch said to the Sheriff: "I don't know what I'm arrested for." The sheriff replied, "You're being held for murder."

Later Burch confided to his cellmates—Savage and Borts—that he was held for the murder of Belton Kennedy.

"I asked him if he knew Mr. Kennedy," Savage stated, "and Burch replied, 'No.'"

Burch then told the men that he had been visiting in Los Angeles and that he felt like lying down. "He was quite nervous," the witness said, "and it was almost 4 o'clock before he went to sleep."

"Burch said the murder was at Beverly Glen or Beverly Hills and that he knew Madalynne Obenchain and would not be surprised if he married her before a year or so," Savage continued.

"Burch said he was out driving the night of the murder but that he was at a soft drink place in Los Angeles when the murder occurred at 9 o'clock. He said he had rented an automobile under the name of Jones in Los Angeles."

Mr. Keyes asked: "Did you ask him whether or not he had killed Mr. Kennedy?"

"Yes, I asked him, 'Did you kill Mr. Kennedy' and Burch said, 'If I did, the —— —— —— got no more than he deserved.'"

Burch seemed worried, the witness was permitted to say over the objections of defense counsel. During the night he wrote a telegram, remarking it was to a lawyer in Los Angeles, a friend of Burch, staying at the Alexandria.

SEERESS TESTIFIES.

That Mrs. Obenchain attempted to use "occult" powers in getting Mr. Kennedy to marry her about two weeks before the murder was the burden of the testimony of Mrs. R. B. Withrow, a colored woman, who "keeps roomers and has the power of reading."

The witness, often rolling her eyes in sweeping glances around the room, said she lived at 1351 East Forty-Eighth Place and that Mrs. Obenchain and her friend, Mrs. Louise M. Wilson, came to that address about the middle of July to see what the future held in store for them.

Mrs. Obenchain asked at that time whether she would marry the man she was in love with, Mrs. Withrow said.

"I told her it looked favorable to me only he seemed to be afraid."

Four or five days later, Mrs. Obenchain returned, the witness testified.

"She just said she dropped in for a few minutes because she was feeling bad, lonesome, and was worried because she hadn't seen her sweetheart. She wanted to know if she would see him."

Four or five days later, Mrs. Obenchain telephoned to the colored seeress and said she would bring out her friend. This she did about 9 o'clock that night—probably two weeks before the murder—the witness said.

Mrs. Obenchain was quoted as asking the woman whether she would "talk favorably to my friend." This friend was called Belton, and was identified, Mrs. Withrow said, as Mr. Kennedy by his pictures later published in the newspapers.

URGES MARRIAGE.

"I told them I saw things that looked best if they were married. I said, 'The thing is he seems to be afraid of his parents.'

"Mrs. Obenchain asked, 'Is he true?'

"And Mr. Kennedy said, 'Haven't I always meant well in the past?' and I said, 'Yes.'

"'It looked best if you folks get married,' I said. 'Belton's parents will forgive you.'"

As this reference was made to the bitter objections made by Mr. Kennedy's parents to his marriage with Mrs. Obenchain, the father, J. D. Kennedy, tightened the muscles of his jaw, but continued to look straight at the witness who sat almost directly in front of his seat at the counsel table for the prosecution.

Mr. Schenck questioned the witness as to what kind of "power" she had, whether she gazed into a crystal ball, or a tea cup, read cards or the stars, etc. Mrs. Withrow replied, "I only look at a person and see clearly."

"Oh, you're a clairvoyant?" Mr. Schenck asked.

"Yes."

"Now you were not using your clairvoyant powers when you said the young people were in love with each other, were you? You could see that from common observation, couldn't you?"

"I didn't say they were in love with each other. Mrs. Obenchain said she loved him. But they didn't say anything to each other."

"But you did say, 'It looks like you love one another, didn't you?'"

"Yes, but they didn't say anything."

"They were silent?"

"Yes."

"That's all," said Mr. Schenck.

SCENES IN EVANSTON.

Mrs. J. R. Childs, an attractive woman from Evanston, the former home of Burch and Mrs. Obenchain, followed Mrs. Withrow on the stand. She became confused as to dates under cross-examination, changing several of her statements. The chief points of her testimony were:

That Mrs. Obenchain rented an apartment, directly across a hall from the witness, about the middle of June. Mrs. Childs first testified it was on May 1, 1920, but later admitted her error of six weeks in time.

On the first night Mrs. Obenchain was there, Burch visited her and Burch was there "several times each week until the middle of September." The witness later admitted she may not have seen him each week, in fact that Burch may have been away for a period of six weeks during that time.

PAIR TOGETHER.

On one occasion the witness saw Burch and Mrs. Obenchain drive up together in an automobile and Burch bring in some groceries. She also saw Ralph Obenchain, the divorced husband and faithful admirer of the accused woman, at Mrs. Obenchain's apartment.

"Mr. Obenchain and Burch used to trade nights with her did they?" asked Mr. Keyes.

This precipitated a heated clash in which Mr. Schenck assigned the asking of the question as misconduct and error on the part of the prosecution.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Childs admitted that a nurse, Selma Cullendar, was living constantly with Mrs. Obenchain at the time referred to by the witness. With this fact brought out, and after the witness had changed her testimony regarding the dates and occasions she saw Burch, Mr. Schenck excused her.

NEWS WRITERS MAKE NEWS.

Temperamental Reporters Inject Real Excitement Into Trial of Burch Murder Case.

several sprained knuckles, a couple of "pinches," a flash of gunplay, the unexpected upsetting of an elderly woman who was the customary "innocent bystander," and finally the overtures of peace.

An old-fashioned Irish picnic could have provided scarcely more thrills. 'Twas hinted that a medal as peacemaker is being prepared for Paul W. Schenck, who headed the Burch defense in intervals between clashes yesterday.

MATTER OF TEMPERAMENT.

It all was a matter of temperament. Some reporter developed startling characteristics sufficient to qualify him for a prima donna role. Someone had written something about some golf togs of his, it seems, calling him the bravest reporter of all for daring to appear in that outfit in court.

To begin with, the several newspaper men engaged in the entertainment that eclipsed the murder trial showed rank discrimination. They failed to invite anyone except reporters on afternoon newspapers—omitting invitations even to the Chicago newspaper men here for the trial.

The Burch trial had been lagging in interest for some of the "news hounds." Since the threatened fistic engagement between a couple of witnesses the other day, everything seemed tame beyond words.

TROUBLE STARTS.

They got their fill—and more—yesterday. Said one of the combatants of the day to another, "You're a snitch." Said the so-called snitch, "Take that" and he demonstrated.

Only two of the afternoon newspapers were represented by that time, so a Jack Dempsey-like representative of the third paper, sallied forth to do combat for his friend.

The stern arm of the law intervened. Deputy sheriffs separated the pugilists. Harmony seemed restored, but it was a false alarm and the impending storm only gathered force.

Another clash in the hall of the court. Another intervention. Then came the noon recess. A legally inclined and peace-loving comrade of one of the fighters sought to arrange a press arms parley.

AGREE TO FIGHT.

The result was an agreement not to disarm, but to fight on sight immediately after lunch.

Mr. Schenck approached the court after lunch with one of the three gladiators as a companion. From the railing near the entrance to the Sheriff's office sprang the challenger. Mr. Schenck was too quick. He tried to part the combatants.

Undersheriff Al Manning had been forewarned and he made provisions to be forearmed. One of his precautions—Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar—stepped into the breech, seizing one of the struggiers by the shoulders.

Bam! cracked a fist as another combatant stepped up behind Dewar.

"Damn!" yelled the deputy sheriff as he grabbed his sixteen-inch revolver from its holster.

"Don't!" cried a score of startled bystanders, and three other newspaper men grabbed his wrist to prevent gunplay.

SLUGGER RUSHED.

The wielder of the fist—afterwards declared to have been a noninterested "slugger" sent down to see "there was no two-timing"—was "rushed" by several other deputy sheriffs. He was sent back against the building, bowling over an elderly woman just coming from the Sheriff's office.

Out jumped other deputies and to the jail went the man who started the affair and into Undersheriff Biscailuz's office, the so-called "slugger."

Mr. Schenck extricated himself, after demonstrating he could hold two of the warriors at arm's length. Sufficient it is to say that court was late in getting started for the afternoon period.

Meanwhile, the county officials acter as rabitrators. They took statements and made a few themselves.

In filed the warring units, one by one. At recess during hte afternoon the pipe of peace was passed around and each took a puff. They were back to normalcy or something, they said.

THEN SOME MORE.

And then just to prove that all the fighting does not have to be waged outside the courtroom, Mr. Schenck objected and objected so much to every question asked by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Keyes that the cool-headed aide to Woolwine lost all patience.

He almost shouted that Mr. Schenck had put in every objection known to lawyers, laymen and physicians and that if he had left anything out the prosecution would stipulate it was there.

A fighting feeling hung over the courtroom and three times Mr. Schenck jumped to his feet and characterized as misconduct and error questions asked by Mr. Keyes.

The latter battled back—Judge Reeve was kept busy restoring peace.

Webb Informs Grand Jury It is "Closed Incident."

Says Body Has Ignored His Request on Kittle.

Investigators Don't Agree Everything's Ended.

So far as Atty.-Gen. Webb is concerned, charges relating to the conduct of the District-Attorney's office here are a closed incident, according to information received yesterday by the county grand jury.

In a letter read before the body, the Attorney-General states that the jury has not complied with his request regarding the taking of additional testimony from Hubert Kittle, aviator and former District Attorney's investigator, and that the affair is a "closed incident."

The jury, it is learned, wrote the Attorney-General asking that he have a deputy from his office question Mr. Kittle if he were subpoenaed.

Whether the jury is considering any other action could not be learned yesterday, but it was understood that the inquisitors do not consider everything ended, though the tenure of their office expires soon.

HALT ASKED ON PAVING PLANS.

Appeal to Council to Stop Lyon-Street Program.

Attorney Upholds Rights of Property Owners.

Delay Requested Pending Action on Terminal.

Asserting that the paving of Lyon street, in the Plaza terminal district adjacent to Macy street, is being attempted under a misuse and abuse of the act of 1911 and over the protests of the majority property owners, Attorney Gurney E. Newlin appeared before the City Council and asked that because of the principle involved, namely, the right of majority property owners to protest out proposed improvements where no public necessity for the work exists, the proceedings for the paving of Lyon street be abandoned.

The paving is being petitioned for by the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, which owns a minority frontage on the street.

The hearing on the paving of the street resolved itself into a discussion of the locating of the proposed union terminal at the Plaza, and Councilman Conaway, who spoke in favor of abandoning the Lyon-street proceedings as a matter of justice to the majority property owners, charged that Councilman Maillard had consistently opposed the Plaza station project.

On motion of Councilman Maillard, the hearing was continued until next Wednesday morning.

PROTEST FILED.

The protest filed by the Industrial Development and Land Company, majority property owner on Lyon street, against the proposed paving of the street, and which was represented by Attorney Newlin, stated:

"The grounds of our protest are that the city of Los Angeles and the State Railroad Commission, at the request of the principal semipublic organizations of the city, have had under consideration for a considerable length of time the advisability of erecting and maintaining a union terminal station in the vicinity of the Plaza, and if this scheme is consummated it will change the conditions which now exist in this vicinity.

"We further represent that the paving which now exists on said street, which is a form of macadam, is adequate until the entire scheme which is now being worked out by the State Railroad Commission is completed, and there is no reason whatever for paving this street at this time.

"The street proposed to be improved is 553.67 feet (one block) in length and dead ends against the Wilson Packing Company's property.

URGENT NECESSITY.

"The act of 1911, under which these proceedings were instituted, was, we represent, adopted to enable an improvement to be made over the objections of a majority of property owners only where there was an urgent public necessity therefore and the provisions of the Vrooman Act would not cover the case.

"In this instance there is no urgent public necessity and the Vrooman Act covers the situation, and the use of this act would be to force the owner of a majority of the property fronting on the proposed improvement, to bow to the will of the owner of the minority and would be an abuse of said act.

"We are informed that it is a rule of your honorable body not to consider a petition for improvement of any street until the same has been signed by a majority of frontage upon the street proposed to be improved, and, we, therefore, respectfully request that your honorable body sustain this protest and abandon the proceedings. We are handing you herewith a copy of the rule of your honorable body referred to."

ARMY ASKS VOLUNTEERS.

"If volunteer workers do not help us raise the money for the Salvation Army Christmas fund there will be many hungry mouths on Christmas Day."

This appeal for women workers to come to the rescue of the Salvation Army during the coming three days was made late yesterday by Mrs. E. B. Jones, director in charge of the women's division of the campaign, which opened headquarters yesterday in the red room, mezzanine floor of the Angelus Hotel.

"We must have workers," said Mrs. Jones. "If we don't get them we cannot collect the much-needed money for the Christmas fund."

Yesterday members of the Native Daughters, the Friday Morning Club, the Hollywood Women's Club and the Council of Jewish Women aided in the campaign. Miss Marian Gillis and Ruth Lehane of the Y.W.C.A. are organizing a squad of volunteer workers to canvass the streets tonight.

SPOKANE MAN HELD HERE AS FUGITIVE.

ABSCONDED WITH LARGE SUM IS MESSAGE FROM THE SHERIFF THERE.

Following a three weeks' search in this city, John A. Henning, aged 31 years, former Spokane business man, who is said to have absconded from that city with $20,000, was arrested last night as a fugitive from justice by Detective Sergeants Simpson and Stelzreide in a house at 651 West Sixtieth street.

According to telegraphic advices from Sheriff C. E. Long of Spokane to the local police authorities, Henning is charged with grand larceny. When placed in the City Jail he gave the detectives no information regarding the charges against him, merely remarking that he had formerly been engaged in a pool hall and restaurant business in Spokane, which had suffered bankruptcy. He has a wife and baby boy living at the address on West Sixtieth street.
